Labor, Industry Hear Truman Peace Plan Today

ATTLEE'S GOAL: 5 BILLIONS AND A-BOMB FACTS

Seeks to Appease Soviets on Atom

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4—Uncle Sam's atomic bomb and Uncle Sam's dollars are the object of the quest on which British Prime Minister Attlee is coming to Washington next week for conferences with President Truman. He hopes to return to London with the President's promise to make the bomb available to other nations and the promise of a 5 billion dollar American loan to Great Britain.

While Mr. Attlee said he was coming to discuss the atomic bomb question with Mr. Truman, it is learned from British sources that Britain's pending appeal for a 5 or 6 billion dollar gift or loan at nominal interest also will enter into the conferences unless it shall have been agreed to by the administration in the meantime.

Fear Russian Ire

According to British officials, the new Labor government in London is greatly exercised over Mr. Truman's statements that the United States is going to retain the secret of the manufacture of the bomb but will open negotiations with other nations to outlaw the use of the weapon and provide for international control of the development of atomic energy. The British government regards this a mistaken policy because it will offend the Russians, worsen relations between the western powers and the soviet union, and jeopardize the success of the allied nations organization at its very inception.

The Russians who were appeased with concessions at Tehran to keep them in the war, at Yalta to get them into the new league of nations, and at Potsdam to get them into the war against Japan, are now candidates for further appeasement with the secret of the atomic bomb. That is the burden of the propaganda campaign being waged in Britain and America by the communist press and the communist fellow travelers.

Wants Council Control

From London comes the information that Mr. Attlee will propose to Mr. Truman that the control of the atomic bomb be entrusted to the security council of the allied nations organization or rather to the five permanent members thereof—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and China. Manufacture of the bomb would be forbidden and the security council would establish a system of inspection of industrial operations in all countries to detect any infraction of the ban.

A similar suggestion was made last week by Dr. Vannever Bush, director of the federal office of scientific research and development. Opponents of this plan ask why any one imagines that Russia would not elude any such inspection as successfully as it conceals the operations of its vast forced labor prison camps behind its Chinese wall of secrecy and why Russia would keep an agreement not to manufacture the bomb any more faithfully than it has kept the Yalta agreements for joint allied control of the liberated countries of eastern Europe.

Cost Is Tremendous

The present cost of manufacturing the bomb is enough to give the richest country pause. The cost to the United States was 2 billion dollars. The undertaking could be financed, however, well within the gifts or loans being sought from the United States. Like Britain, Russia is a petitioner for American cash. Russian Dictator Stalin told an American congressional committee recently that he would like a loan of 6½ billions, which would be in addition to the 1 billion loan he is now negotiating with the United States Export-Import bank and the 400 million dollar credit ex-

U.S. Will Back Turk Rights, Ankara Hears

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 3 [Delayed]—(AP)—The United States government was reliably reported today to have assured Turkey that the United States would refuse to support any future action which might jeopardize Turkish independence or Turkish territory.

The assurances were said to have been given in a memorandum which United States Ambassador Edwin C. Wilson handed the Turkish government late yesterday, five days before expiration of Turkey's treaty of friendship and nonaggression with Russia.

Backs Turkish Policy

There was no official indication what the United States proposed specifically with regard to the future status of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles straits, the Turkish controled sea lane to the Black sea. Informed quarters said, however, the general tenor of the memorandum coincided closely with Turkish policy.

Turkish policy was indicated by President Ismet Inonu two days ago in his address to the opening session of the national assembly. He declared that Turkey had "no debts to pay to anybody, territorial or concerning Turkish rights, and we will live as men of honor and die as men of honor."

[Russia was reported to have proposed in June a new treaty closing the straits to all warships except Russian and Turkish.]

Officials Pleased

The United States memorandum, coming on the eve of the Russian-Turkish treaty's expiration, was said to have been received with great satisfaction by Turkish officials. Observers expressed belief that the memorandum followed an exchange of letters between President Truman and Generalissimo Stalin.

It was believed that the Turkish government already was familiar with British policy regarding Turkey. Official communications, however, were expected from both the British and the Russians before the treaty expires.

TRIBUTE IS PAID PADEREWSKI ON 85TH BIRTHDAY

An American's creed should be "America for Americans" just as Jan Ignace Paderewski's basic philosophy was "Poland for Poles," a large audience gathered to celebrate the 85th anniversary of the birth of the great statesman and musician was told yesterday. The speaker was Elliodor M. Libonati, chairman of the Illinois Legion's Americanism commission.

Libonati declared that while Paderewski, who died four years ago, was a citizen of the world because of his musical genius, he always remained loyal to the country of his birth. He pointed out that the famous pianist had taken time from his musical career to serve his country as premier and had defended her from alien interests and ideologies.

"Here in this country we are threatened by the same alien dangers," Libonati said, "and we must be as alive to combat them, as determined to exclude them, and as zealous to promote our own ideals of government as was this outstanding Polish patriot. Communism and other foreign doctrines menace us just as surely as they did Poland when Paderewski stepped between them and his people."

The meeting was held in the American-Polish Museum and Archives building which houses the Paderewski piano, decorations, furniture from his home and other personal relics.

LAND OF PERPETUAL DARKNESS

ARMY REVEALS NEW CAMERA WITH LIGHT SOURCE BUILT INTO IT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—The army has a camera with which it says the rankest amateur can make flawless still pictures, in color or black and white, of fast action at distances between 6 inches and 12 feet.

The secret of the camera is a built-in light source, a quartz vapor tube giving a flash of approximately 1/25,000th of a second with a brilliancy greater than sunlight.

The camera was developed by the army's pictorial service, for army surgeons, from an idea by Capt. Rollin W. King and Emanuel Berlant, a civilian expert. The light tube was designed and built by the General Electric company.

PRESCRIPTIONS HIT ALL-TIME HIGH THIS YEAR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 [Special]—Dr. George A. Moulton, president of the American Pharmaceutical association, ushered in National Pharmacy week today with a statement that pharmacists in the United States filled more prescriptions in the last year than in any previous year, despite the absence of more than 10,000 pharmacists in military service.

Commenting on the recent development of new drugs in pharmacy, Dr. Moulton said, "More are on the way," and predicted that in the next 10 years pharmacists and pharmaceutical manufacturers will develop more effective new drugs than at any time in history.

Yank, but Not Halsey, Rides Mikado's Nag

TOKYO, Nov. 5 [Monday]—(AP)—Emperor Hirohito's white horse, or rather one of his two white horses, has been ridden by an American.

Lt. Dick Ryan, who is staging an Armistice day rodeo in Tokyo, swung astride the imperial mount, Hatsu-shimo [First Frost], and for half an hour walked and galloped the pure white stallion in the arena of the Japanese Horse Racing association.

The newspaper Stars and Stripes said Ryan was the first foreigner to ride the horse. During the war Adm. Halsey expressed an ambition to ride the emperor's horse in Tokyo streets, but later it developed he didn't know how to ride.

First Frost is in the care of Seino Chuzo, manager of the racing association's stables and coach of the Japanese equestrian team in the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam.

American Horse Fake!

The horse served as a mount for the emperor, but is of such beautiful strain he is being used to sire future white horses for the imperial household.

When told that a man at Hanford, Cal., boasted of owning a horse that was full brother of the emperor's stallion, Chuzo said that was impossible. Spencer Kleinhammer of Hanford said his horse, Silver King, was a brother of Silver Tip, which was sold to the Japanese emperor several years ago.

Chuzo said there were only two brothers, First Frost and Hatsuyuki, or First Snow. Both are in Japan. He labeled the Hanford horse an "imposter."

Like Arabian Steed

The Jap said First Frost was born at the imperial ranch near Chiba, 20 miles northeast of Tokyo. First Snow is a gelding 9 years old, also born on the imperial ranch. First Snow has been used more often as the emperor's mount because it is more gentle than the stallion.

First Frost has many characteristics of an Arabian horse, Ryan said, with a "short, compact body, eyes wide apart, nostrils large, and a pround and regal bearing." He stands about 15 hands 1 inch high [5 feet 1 inch] and was "pretty playful, indicating he had not been ridden for some time."

Ryan said he would exhibit First Frost during the rodeo to be held at the Meiji shrine baseball grounds.

GERMAN GIRL WED IN FINERY DONATED BY YANK SOLDIERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 4—Hilda Grossen, 26, got a job with the American military government last week and forthwith posted banns to marry Erich Klabbe, 29, a convalescent wounded German soldier.

Hilda had dreamed of being wed in a long, white dress, but was ready to have the ceremony in a black worsted suit which comprises her entire wardrobe, the result of raids which bombed out her home.

However, she confided her disappointment to an American sentry at military government headquarters, and so today she became Erich's wife, clad in a long, sweeping nylon robe. The dress was made from parachute panels which the GI sentry collected from his pals. The bridegroom borrowed an undertaker's frock coat, striped trousers, and rusty silk hat for the occasion, but wore German army quarter boots, having no others.

AROUND WORLD FLYER FATALLY HURT IN FALL

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 4 (AP)—Col. Lowell Smith, who led the army's first round the world airplane flight to its completion in 1924, died here today after being injured in a fall from a horse Saturday.

Smith was found unconscious along a trail and was brought to Davis-Monthan Field hospital but did not regain consciousness.

Smith, former Davis-Monthan commandant, was a pioneer in post-World War I. aviation. He held 16 world records for military aircraft marks in speed and endurance and was awarded the Mackay trophy as the outstanding military aviator of that period.

New Auto Looks So Good That Some One Steals It!

Hempstead, N. Y., Nov. 4 [Special]—A 1946 automobile, said to be the first one to go on display in Nassau county, proved so strong a lure that some one broke into the showroom where it was on display here and stole it early this morning, soon after its arrival.

WAR TRAINING MAY COST 1¾ BILLION A YEAR

Expect Bitter Fight Over Program

BY WILLIAM STRAND
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4—President Truman's plan for compulsory military traning for American youth would cost the nation approximately 1 billion 755 million dollars a year, it was learned today.

This figure is based on a preliminary estimate that there would be 975,000 reservists inducted in the army and navy each year. Army statisticians have placed the annual cost of each man's training at $1,800, including the cost of officer personnel directing the program.

Each year's training class is expected to be divided 700,000 to the army and 275,000 to the navy. This would mean that the army would bear an estimated 1 billion 260 millions as its share while the added expense to the navy would be 495 millions.

Prepare Cost Figures

Detailed cost figures have not been made available by either service. It is known, however, that such information is being computed in preparation for the opening of congressional hearings on the proposal Thursday.

Until the navy produces figures to show otherwise, it is being assumed in congressional circles that the cost of training each young conscript would be roughly the same for both services.

The proposal for enforced military training for nearly all the nation's young men between their high school and college years is expected to plunge congress into one of the bitterest legislative battles of the post-war period. Neither the army nor the navy has made public more than a bare outline of the scheme since the President appeared in person on Capitol hill to urge its adoption.

Army to Compare Costs

Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.] said in an interview today he has received information that the army intends to base one of its strongest arguments in favor of the proposal on the theory that it will be cheaper to maintain the year-to-year force of conscripts than to support a large standing army. He has been told, he said, that army leaders will produce figures before congressional committees showing that it costs $4,500 to maintain an individual soldier in the regular army per year.

The army's argument, according to Shafer, will offer these alternatives:

1. If the youth training program is rejected, the United States will require a standing army of 1,500,000 men. At $4,500 per man, this would aggregate a cost of 6 billions 750 millions per year.

Plan 500,000 Regular Army

2. Or if the training program is adopted, national security will be assured with a regular army of 500,000 plus an estimated 700,000 reservists in training under army auspices. The cost of maintaining the regulars, according to army figures, would be two billions 250 millions. The annual cost of the training program at $1,800 per man would be one billion 260 millions, or a total of three billions 510 millions for both.

"Of course," Shafer asserted, "this whole argument is based on the army's own figures. It will require plenty of explanation before the figures are accepted by congress. I, for one, will fail to see why there should be the vast difference of $2,700 between the cost of training a young man for military duty and for maintaining a soldier in the army when the nation is not at war.

"And members of congress certainly will demand justification for

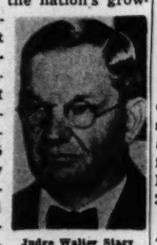
Parley Faces Job of Trying to End Unrest

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Striving to curb the nation's growing industrial unrest, President Truman will address the opening session of the labor-management conference at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow [11:15 a. m. Chicago time] and sharply focus attention on the responsibilities resting on leaders of labor and business to steer the country on a path of peaceful reconversion.



Judge Walter Stacy

It is expected that the President will firmly restate his belief that the only democratic way to industrial peace and prosperity is thru genuine collective bargaining with both sides displaying a spirit of give and take. The speech will not be broadcast.

The administration has pinned its hopes on the conference as the most practical way for labor and management to resolve many of their major differences during the change over from war time to peace time production.

Speedy Reconversion Sought

The President has made it clear there must be a speedy and orderly reconversion not only to keep millions at work and to avoid another depression—but also because of the effect of such an accomplishment on the United States foreign policies.

One government official, who declined to permit use of his name, said he believed Mr. Truman will "lay it on the line" in speaking frankly to the delegates of labor and management concerning their responsibilities to each other and to the public.

The conference will convene at 11:30 a. m. with Judge Walter P. Stacy, chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme court, presiding. After the opening statement of the chairman and the appointment of a committee on rules of procedure, the President will make his address.

During the afternoon addresses will be made by Labor Secretary Schwellenbach; Commerce Secretary Wallace; William Green, president of AFL; Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Philip Murray, president of the CIO.

Causes for Clash Seen

Two probable causes for major collisions already have appeared in preconference statements of position: [1] A CIO demand for inclusion of wages and prices as a subject for discussion along with full employment and unemployment pay. [2] A management call for enforcement measures to penalize workers and unions in event they fail to live up to contracts.

A total of 36 delegates will attend the conference — 18 representing management and 18 representing labor. Each will have an alternate.

Canada to Step Up Food Cargoes to Britain in '46

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 4—As a result of Canadian Prime Minister MacGenzie King's recent conversations in London, Canada is going to send more food to Britain during the first half of 1946 than ever before, it was reported tonight. Canadian ships lent to Britain will bring big shipments of eggs, bacon, fats, and meat here in return for increased exports of British woolen and cotton textiles, cutlery, and oil refining machinery, it was said.

HAWAII CLIPPER DOWN; ALL 23 ABOARD SAFE

Seek Survivors of First Crash

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 4 (AP)—Aircraft carriers joined today in a search for 12 persons missing after an army transport plane made a forced landing in the Pacific east of Hawaii, killing at least seven of the 27 aboard.

In the same general area, a Pan American Airways Honolulu Clipper en route to San Francisco came down today with engine trouble but the 13 passengers, all navy personnel, and crew of 10 were taken aboard a baby flattop and the plane was being towed back to Honolulu, Pan American announced.

The army transport command reported eight persons had been picked up from the calm seas by surface craft at the site of the transport plane landing yesterday, 450 miles east of Hawaii. One of two women passengers was among those rescued.

Survivors on Carrier

The escort carrier Casablanca was en route to Pearl Harbor with the eight survivors and seven bodies. Planes were aiding surface vessels in the search for the missing. Among the search craft were the destroyer escorts Tills, Roberts, Hemminger, Snyder, Etten, and Lanes.

The eight had taken refuge on a life raft, one of three spotted earlier by search planes, and hope persisted that the missing 12 still might be found safe on the other two rafts.

The transport plane, carrying 21 passengers and a crew of six to the mainland, came down four hours out of Honolulu.

The ATC did not announce the passenger list, and presumably all were military personnel except for one of the women, who was a civilian. Whether she was the one rescued was not disclosed.

Lands 630 Miles Out

The Honolulu Clipper made its emergency landing 630 miles northeast of Honolulu when two engines developed trouble.

L. C. Reynolds, manager of the Pacific-Alaska division of Pan American, said at San Francisco that none of the 23 persons aboard was injured.

Lon Dewey, civilian technician, Concord, Conn.; Kenneth Davis, civilian technician, Akron, O.; Comdr. Clarence Caldwell; Lt. Comdrs. Bradford Brown, Edwin Harrett, Joseph Hindman, and William Tobin; Lieutenants Preston Easterbrooks, Edward Thoenes, Howard Nelson, John Bender, James Miller, and Dan Drecher.

Capt. S. E. Robbins of Palo Alto, Cal., piloted the Honolulu Clipper to a "masterful water landing" in the darkness, said Capt. Fred C. Richards, pilot of another Pan American flying boat which left Honolulu a half hour after the ship that was disabled.

Directs Ships to Plane

Richards, of San Francisco, circled for five hours over the stricken Clipper, his eight passengers asleep and blissfully unaware that their plane was participating in rescue work.

Richards said he kept constant radio contact with Robbins and directed the merchant tanker Englewood Hills, which was 35 miles away, and the escort carrier Manila Bay to the disabled plane.

The Honolulu Clipper's passengers and crew were transferred first to the tanker, which was San Francisco bound, and later to the Manila Bay which was headed toward Honolulu.

Sees Cracked Plane

Fairfield, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP)—An army private, first to reach here from the scene of a fatal crash of an army transport plane east of Hawaii, said today the big plane broke in two after hitting the sea.

Pvt. 1st Class Melvin J. Shiley, Lykens, Pa., was flight clerk aboard the first plane to leave Hickam field, Hawaii, after the ill-fated Liberator made its forced landing yesterday, 450 miles east of Hawaii.

"We sighted the plane below floating in the water," said Shiley, whose plane circled for a time over the ditched transport yesterday and then continued on to the Fairfield-Suisun army air base.

YANK CAPTIVES ARE SLAVES IN JAP MINE 2 YEARS

Half Dead Men Labor 12 Hour Day in Pits

(How American prisoners of war were forced to be slaves in a Japanese coal mine is told in this instalment of "Men Who Wouldn't Die." This is the first comprehensive account of life in the prison camps of Japan. It is based on the diary kept by the author during 40 months as a war prisoner.)

BY MAJ. A. C. TISDELLE
as told to Carl Wiegman

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

My diary for Sept. 4, 1943, tells how our group of 500 American prisoners of war were put to work in a Japanese coal mine at Omuta, on the island of Kyushu. From that date the men were slaves in the mine until the end of the war, nearly two years.

As an officer I was not obliged to work in the mine, but I visited it many times and saw the men come out of the pit every day, half dead from exhaustion, illness, and injuries. We who had lived thru the "death march" and the Luzon prison camps believed the mine slavery was equally barbarous.

Our camp, designated as No. 17 of the Fukuoka group of prison camps, was not the worst in Japan. On the contrary, the Japs regarded it as a model camp, and used pictures of it for propaganda purposes. There is no propaganda purpose in this story that I am telling. If anything, it is underdrawn, because I did not share the perils and agonies of the work underground.

Part of Mine Named "Hotbox"

The mine where our group toiled was owned by the Mitsui family, one of the five wealthiest houses in Japan. The mine shafts extended several miles under Shimbara gulf, an arm of the East China sea, and at many places sea water seeped into the workings.

One portion of the mine was called the "hotbox" because the temperature there was always stifling. Another place, which was always icy cold and windy, had no printable name.

Most of the tunnels, dug to fit the stature of Korean and Japanese coolies, were so small that tall Americans could not stand erect. They not only had to stoop for hour after hour, shoveling coal with no chance to straighten their backs, but they had to crouch as they carried 12 foot long timbers on their bare, bony shoulders.

Heads Jagged by Splinters

Sometimes they had to carry these heavy timbers thru passageways where the sagging ceiling supports were a mass of splinters. The splinters made jagged head wounds every time a man brushed against them.

Altho the men wore electric head lamps, the batteries were too weak to provide much light and they often stumbled into holes or bashed their bodies against sharp rocks. Those lucky enough to escape injuries from splinters or rocks couldn't avoid the damp tunnel walls, which were covered with fungus growths. When a man's sweaty body, naked from the waist up, touched these walls, he contracted the fungus, which looked like a scalding burn and developed into running sores. Such sores were not considered by the Japs as an excuse for not reporting for work. The men were sent back into the mine and coal dust got into the sores.

Dynamite Without Warning

The Japs issued shoes made of light canvas, with soles made of the sides of auto tire casings. These fell apart in a few days and the men worked with their aching feet tied up in rags. Rats almost as big as fox terriers scurried boldly thru the tunnels, adding to the terror of the darkness and the awful feeling that the roof was about to fall.

Frequently the Japs exploded dynamite without bothering to warn our men. When one of them was injured he had to lie on the ground, without medical attention, until his whole shift quit work for the day.

The Japs were determined to get the last ounce of coal from every vein, even when there was danger of a cave-in. The Japanese foremen who directed the Americans often refused to enter places where the cracking ceiling showed that a cave-in might come at any time. The Americans, lacking even the voice and dignity of the Korean coolies who worked in the mine, were forced to enter such death traps.

Several times our men dashed out of tunnels a few seconds before they collapsed. Only a kind Providence saved us from a major disaster.

Our men slaved in this mine for 12 hours a day, 6 days a week. One shift started at 4 a. m., another at noon, and the third at 8 p. m. For their labor, they received "wages" on a sliding scale, according to their production of coal, but the most that a man could earn was $1.74 a month [at the pre-war rate of exchange] and there was almost nothing he could buy with the money.

If our men had been in good physical condition and if they had received adequate food, they no doubt could have endured the work as well as the Jap and Korean laborers. But they were all in miserable physical condition, 50 to 60 pounds under weight, and they never got enough food or sleep.

Skimpy Diet Distends Stomachs

Mine workers in our camp received 700 grams [about 1½ pounds] of rice daily. Prisoners employed on camp duties received 500 grams, and our 10 officers, who were not required to labor in the mine, received 300 grams. We also got a thin soup made of radishes, sometimes flavored with mizo paste, and occasionally we had green onions or pickles made of radishes. There was never enough protein. Our stomachs were horribly distended from the rice diet.

From the beginning, there was trouble over the difference in languages. A Jap foreman would give an order, the Americans would misunderstand it, and would be beaten for insubordination. At first the men reported to their American officers when they had been beaten, but after a while beatings became so frequent that they didn't bother to report unless the attack was especially vicious. Sometimes they were beaten with fists, sometimes with the timbers used as mine supports. To resist a foreman would have been suicide.

Beaten Despite Promises

The Japs removed Maj. Mamerow as the camp spokesman, or "commander," on Oct. 26 and appointed me in his place. Thereafter I spent about three hours every day at Jap headquarters, protesting and listening to Jap complaints and trying to think up mitigating circumstances for men accused of breaking the thousand and one petty Jap regulations.

Lt. Uri, the Jap commander, promised repeatedly that foremen would not be permitted to beat the prisoners, but the beatings continued. There was one foreman whom the men called "Clark Gable" because he wore a mustache like that of the famous movie actor and was rather handsome for a Jap. This fellow was a sadist who flew into violent rages and attacked men for no reason whatever. I protested for three months before he was removed.

Threefold Punishment

For offenses that the Japs regarded as serious, our men were punished three times, first by the foremen, then by the Jap guards at the mine, and last by the guards at camp or by Lt. Uri himself. A typical example was the case of a prisoner whom we called Jackhammer Smith.

The prisoners rode in and out of the mine on cars of a narrow gauge cable railway and the coal was removed on a huge conveyor belt. One day Jackhammer missed the car that carried his gang out of the mine at the end of their shift. Unwilling to take the long, hard walk to the mine entrance, he hopped aboard the conveyor belt and rode gayly to the top.

Riding on the belt was dangerous and strictly against the rules. The guards caught Smith at the top, beat him severely, then brought him back to camp and threw him in the guardhouse, where he was forced to sit on the cold concrete floor with his pants off. Next morning Lt. Uri summoned me to his office. Smith was led in by the guard and Lt. Uri strutted up and down the room, yelling that Smith had been very "bad" and had to be punished.

I protested that Smith already had been punished enough and that I would guarantee that none of the other men rode up on the conveyor belt. Thick headed Uri kept shouting that Smith had been "bad" and soon worked himself into blind fury. Suddenly he stopped his strutting before the helpless prisoner and smashed his fist against Smith's jaw. The American fell heavily to the floor.

That's the way things were in our model camp.

DOOLITTLE IN B-29 HOPS ACROSS U. S. IN 6 HOURS 59 MINUTES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Doolittle of the army air forces landed in a B-29 at National airport today 6 hours and 59 minutes after leaving Oakland, Cal.

Maj. J. L. Smith

The general, who led the first air raid on Tokyo, said no attempt had been made to beat the transcontinental record of 6 hour and 3 minutes set last January by a Boeing C-97, flying from Seattle, Wash., to Washington, D. C.

"We just didn't get the predicted winds," he told reporters.

Crewmen said their average ground speed was 369 miles an hour, about 50 miles less than they had expected to make.

Mrs. Doolittle accompanied her husband on the trip, which began at 9:24 a. m. [8:24 a. m. Chicago time] and ended here at 4:23 p. m. [3:23 Chicago time].

The army transport command estimated the mileage covered at 2,400 miles. Passengers in addition to Mrs. Doolittle included: Maj. J. Lawrence Smith, pilot; Capt. W. Kolody, navigator, Chicago; Lt. W. Johnston, flight engineer, Ida Grove, Ia.; Master Sgt. G. C. Fish, Appleton, Wis.; Tech. Sgt. T. W. Hall, Chicago, and Sgt. R. H. Holladay, Tipton, Ia.

CHICAGO'S 'ONE MAN ARMY' WILL ARRIVE IN CITY WEDNESDAY

Maj. Arthur Wermuth, Chicago's "one man army of Bataan," will arrive on a United Air Lines plane early Wednesday morning from the west coast. He will be accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Clara Wermuth, and his sister, Talia. Among those who will meet the major on his arrival here is his wife, Mrs. Jean Wermuth, a nurse who yesterday was en route to Chicago from her home in Traverse City, Mich. Immediately after his arrivel, Maj. Wermuth is expected to go to the Bismarck hotel, where he will be guest of honor at a luncheon party to be given by Otto K. Eitel, managing director of the hotel.

New Outbreaks Feared After Walkout Votes

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 4 [Special]—The Windsor city council tonight voted at a special meeting to send emissaries by plane to make immediate personal appeals to officials of the Dominion and Ontario governments to prevent the use of Royal Canadian Mounted and provincial police tomorrow morning at the strikebound plant of Ford of Canada, Ltd.

This action was taken after representatives of 11,000 workers in 23 Windsor industrial plants voted to go on strike tomorrow in sympathy with the 10,000 Ford strikers, who have been out since Sept. 16.

The Ford strike involves a UAW-CIO demand for union recognition and a contract embodying wage increases and other demands in regard to security and working conditions.

The strike votes followed a wave of resentment which swept thru labor circles today with the arrival of 125 Mounted policemen and 125 provincial police for the asserted purpose of convoying plant protection workers into the Ford plant tomorrow.

Mayor to Fly to Ottawa

The emissaries named by the city council were Mayor Arthur J. Reaume and Ald. Ernest Davenport. The mayor was instructed to fly to Ottawa and make an appeal directly to Louis St. Laurent, Canadian minister of justice. Davenport was assigned to fly to Toronto to appeal to Leslie Blackwell, assistant provincial attorney general and acting minister of labor in the Ontario government.

The members of the council said the action was of an emergency nature because they feared serious trouble tomorrow if an attempt is made by the Mounties and provincial police to break the picket line at the Ford plant.

An attempt by city police to escort plant protection workers into the plant Friday resulted in a skirmish in which the police retired without accomplishing their purpose. A spokesman for the striking local 200 of the CIO United Automobile Workers said the union has been permitting five plant protection workers to pass picket lines each day, but balked at a company demand for 35 such workers.

As word of the presence of the Mounties and provincial officers spread thru the city, the picket line around the Ford plant began growing rapidly. By nightfall it was estimated there were 2,600 pickets in the line.

Mass Meeting Called

Heads of union locals thruout the city hurriedly called mass meetings to vote protests strikes. Labor is especially bitter against the Mounties, it was said, asserting they used clubs on workers when called out on strike duty at Kirkland Lake and Wallaceburg, Ontario, in recent weeks.

The 23 plants whose workers voted to join the strike tomorrow were:

General Motors of Canada, Colonial Tool company, L. A. Young Industries of Canada, Canadian Steel corporation, Northern Crane and Hoist Works, Dominion Forge and Stamping company, Fit-Well Glove Manufacturing company, Champion Spark Plug company of Canada, Motors Products corporation, Chrysler Motors of Canada, The Seal Power corporation of Canada; Gotfredson, Ltd.; Walker Metal products, Canadian Automotive Trim, Truscon Steel of Canada, Backstay Standard company, Eaton, Wilcox and Rich, Gar Wood Industries of Canada, McCord Radiator and Manufacturing company, Kelsey Wheel company, Specialties Manufacturing company, Bendix Eclipse of Canada, and Windsor Tool and Die company.

North Shore Trolley Wire Falls and Ties Up Traffic

Traffic on the Skokie valley route of the Chicago, North Shore, and Milwaukee railroad was stopped for 50 minutes after 6:51 p. m. last night when 300 feet of trolley wire fell between Highmore and Sheridan Elms, Lake county. The power interruption also necessitated the rerouting of two northbound and one southbound trains.

Widow of Pastor

Mrs. John Schwab, 80, of 6323 N. Campbell av., was killed yesterday when Mrs. Minnie Woss, 31, lost control of her automobile at Foster and Kimball avs., swerving to the curb where Mrs. Schwab was standing and crushing her against a lamp post. Mrs. Schwab was the widow of the Rev. John Schwab, pastor of the Grace Evangelical church, 3325 Wrightwood av., for many years. Mrs. Woss told police that she lost control of her car when another automobile sidewiped her vehicle. The second car did not stop.

Lt. Edward A. O'Donnell, 45, of 1184 S. Scoville av., Oak Park, attached to the Chicago depot of the army signal corps since his return from Italy last spring, died in Gardiner General hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Oct. 28 when his automobile and a street car collided at Cottage Grove av. and 49th st. The motorman was Martin Hennessy, 64, of 4439 Union av. Lt. O'Donnell had been on military leave from the Illinois Bell Telephone company since 1942.

Edward J. Watkus, 38, a city motorcycle policeman, was killed yesterday when his motorcycle overturned, apparently after striking a hole in the pavement at Central av. and Palmer st. Watkus was found unconscious and died before he was able to tell how the accident occurred.

RESUME JOLIET BUS OPERATIONS PENDING PARLEY

Joliet's 42 buses, strikebound since a week ago Saturday, were to resume operation at 5 a. m. today as the result of an agreement reached last night to submit the strikers' demands to arbitration.

The 95 strikers, drivers, and mechanics, members of local 228 of the Amalagamated Association of Electric Street Railway and Motor Coach Employes [AFL], are seeking an increase from 95 cents to $1.35 an hour for mechanics, and from 88 cents to $1.25 an hour for drivers.

Decision to submit the controversy to arbitration was reached thru the efforts of two state conciliators sent to Joliet by Robert L. Gordon, state director of labor, at the request of Mayor Arthur O. Janke. Gordon will serve as a member of a three man arbitration board, of which the company, the Joliet City lines, a subsidiary of the National City company, and the union, will each select one member.

BUTCHERS GET RAISE; QUIT AT 3 P.M. SATURDAYS

Chicago's retail meat markets will close at 3 p. m. on Saturdays beginning Nov. 24 as a result of an agreement ratified by the butchers yesterday which provides for higher wages and shorter hours. More than 2,000 members of seven locals of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' union voted unanimously to accept proposals agreed on after 10 weeks of negotiations between union officials and dealers. Emmet Kelly, secretary-treasurer of the union, said the butchers' hours would be cut from 51 to 48½ per week by the early closing on Saturday, and that the dealers had agreed to increase the pay of both journeymen butchers and meat department managers by $3.50 a week, raising their salaries to $52 and $57.50 respectively.

AIR LINE UNION ELECTION SET FOR NEXT WEEK

A bargaining representation election ordered last week by the national mediation board will be held next week by more than 3,100 maintenance employes of the American Airlines, it was announced yesterday by officials of the Transport Workers' union [CIO]. The union, which petitioned for the vote, claims to have a majority of the workers signed as members. Flight operations of the company have been interrupted in recent weeks in several cities by jurisdictional disputes between the union and a rival unit affiliated with the United Auto Workers, also CIO.

LOSES WALLET AND $260
Russell Truedron, 11523 Normal av., yesterday reported to police the loss of a wallet containing $260.

GREYHOUND BUS STRIKE SPREADS TO SOUTHWEST

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 4 (AP)—A bus drivers strike that has disrupted the Greyhound company system in 19 eastern states crept westward today, and a union spokesman predicted the whole southwest division soon would be involved.

Seventy drivers walked out at midnight last night in the Kansas City division which operates across Kansas and Missouri, and today Raymond O. Skinner, local union chairman, said that no drivers were working out of Tulsa, Okla. He added it was his understanding that drivers at Oklahoma City, Springfield, Mo., and Dallas, Tex., had joined the walkout or would quit soon.

W. C. Estes of Oklahoma City, president of the AFL Amalgamated Street Railway and Motor Coach Employes in the area including Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, and Kansas, said that the walkout was "unauthorized."

The union is asking a one-cent-a-mile increase in drivers' pay. Present rate is 4½ cents a mile.

2,600 TO RETURN TO WORK TODAY AT DEERE SHOPS

East Moline, Ill., Nov. 4 [Special]—Twenty-six hundred employes at three Deere & Co. plants here, 2,000 of whom had been idle for nearly 11 weeks, will return to work tomorrow after having approved a new contract negotiated by the CIO-United Auto Workers' union and the company.

The settlement includes a 10 per cent wage increase and a 40 hour week, additional increases for some day workers and piece workers, and time and one-half for all time over 40 hours.

ISLAND TRUSTEE PLAN TO ASSIST VETERANS URGED

Sea Captain Offers Allied Pension Program

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4—A profit sharing plan for paying pensions of allied war veterans thru an international trusteeship of the British and Dutch East Indies and French Indo-China was advanced today for congressional consideration.

The plan is the work of Michael J. Brennan, sea captain now holding an executive position with the Todd shipyards. Brennan sailed before the mast as a boy out of Ireland, carried the Adm. Byrd expedition to the arctic, served in naval convoy duty, and was responsible for the operation of one of the largest American merchant fleets.

Under his plan, outlined in an interview, Borneo, New Guinea, the Malay States, Java, Sumatra, Celebes, and associated islands would be administered by an international organization. Rubber, sugar, tin, spices, and other raw materials and products would be sold to provide pensions for veterans and natives.

Casualties Would Form Key

Nations would share in the governing and profits of the trusteeship according to a representation based on their contribution in the war. This would be figured on the basis of the total forces killed, wounded, disabled, missing, and captured. Total cost of the material, less salvage used in the capture of the colonies as well as estimates of the cost of veteran care, also would be taken into consideration.

Islands, the principal value of which is strategic, would not be included in the trusteeship. Under this provision such islands as Saipan, Okinawa, Tarawa, and Iwo, which American forces wrested from Japan and are occupying to protect Pacific lines of communication, would not figure in veterans' compensation.

Capt. Brennan has interested various veterans' organizations in his plan. These organizations have passed the plan, together with arguments for and against the scheme, on to members of congress. Brennan said natives are in revolt and the countries are unable to hold their colonies.

Colonies Held Spoils of War

The core of the plan is that these British and Dutch colonies are spoils of war and from time immemorial the spoils of war have belonged to soldiers. It is his theory that colonies taken from the natives by the Portuguese and Spanish, from them by the British and Dutch, and in turn by the Japanese and now wrested from the late enemy largely by American arms, are the lawful spoils of war of all victorious soldiers.

"As we and our associates in the Japanese war now have the title to these Pacific territories," Brennan said, "it is for us to determine their final disposition. We can declare now that we intend to hold, administer, and develop them for the benefit of the veterans and the inhabitants thereof, and that we will not allow them to be exploited again to the enslavement of the natives and for the exclusive benefit of the handful of traders, financiers, and 'royal hangers on' who used them as instruments of oppressive monopolies in world commerce.

Increase of Jobs Expected

"Improving the living conditions of these natives in the course of developing the trade and resources of these territories will increase their wants as it progressively increases their material comforts, and will create millions of jobs there and in the homelands of the participating nations—more than enough to absorb the workers who are being set adrift by the cessation of hostilities.

"And, instead of having a worthless, uncollectible claim against our allies or the Japs, we will, if this plan is followed, have within our control the machinery for reimbursement. This will improve world trade and the condition of the natives by raising their standard of living. It will insure the peace of the far east by exercising a strong moral influence on the peoples of China, India, Japan, and the rest."

Shuttle Air Line

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The American Airlines Overseas company has been authorized by Eire authorities to fly passengers between the Rineanna, Eire, clipper base and Hurn, England.

AUTONOMY FOR CAMBODIA FIRST DE GAULLE OFFER

PNOM-PENH, Indo China, Nov. 4 (AP)—The French have offered internal autonomy to the protectorate kingdom of Cambodia as their first concession in an attempt to settle Indo China's troubles. They chose the least anti-French political unit as a model for their proposed new deal for Indo China. However, similar offers are not being extended to other parts of the country until resistance to French reoccupation has ceased. The negotiations began when the Cambodian premier, Prince Monireth, visited Saigon a few days ago. King Rodom Sihanouk Varmen, 25 year old pro-French ruler of the protectorate, expressed enthusiasm for the scheme.

French Troops Arrive

SAIGON, Indo China, Nov. 4 [Reuters]—The 20,000 ton British liner Orontes has arrived at Cap St. Jacques, southeast of Saigon, bringing French reënforcements for Indo China, it was announced today. During fighting yesterday at several places in the French sector, 39 Annamites were killed, 15 captured and 15 were believed drowned in rice fields.

Lange, Polish Envoy Leaves for Washington

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 3 (AP)—Dr. Oscar Lange, former University of Chicago economics professor who gave up his United States citizenship to become Poland's first post-war ambassador to the United States, departed for Washington today.

BRITISH CLAMP RESTRICTIONS ON INDONESIA NEWS

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 4 (AP)—A British announcement that the army would hold no more press conferences to give information on the military situation in the Netherlands East Indies drew a vigorous protest today from foreign correspondents. The ruling also banned interviews with British officers without permission from the southeast Asia command.

British officials said they planned to issue "hand-outs" twice daily in lieu of the press conferences, and agreed to attempt to obtain answers to any questions.

The first statement today said no new incidents were reported in Java, but that some new instances of looting had occurred in Batavia. It said tension had relaxed considerably in Soerabaja.

Soekarno Back in Batavia

The statement tended to minimize yesterday's reports by pilots of 100,000 Indonesian troops on the move in central Java.

President Soekarno of the Indonesian republic returned to Batavia after adding in effecting a truce at Magelang. The Indonesians said a contact bureau had been set up at Magelang between Indonesians and the British, who will supervise evacuation of internees. A direct telephone communication was set up between Magelang and the port city of Semarang to facilitate settling of future disputes.

The truce provided also for immediate disarming of Japanese and free access for the British to Amberawa, site of another large camp for internees.

Soekarno's foreign minister, Soebardjo, said the Indonesian government was ready to load American ships with large supplies of kapok and rubber at a Java port. There was no indication that any Americans were prepared to deal with the Indonesians.

United States Ships Unload Supplies

American ships are in Batavia unloading large quantities of uniforms, medical supplies, foods, and trucks sold to the Dutch by the United States army.

A dispatch from Sydney, Australia, said 1,600 Dutch troops had reached there on the British liner Stirling Castle from Holland.

The Indonesian All-Islam congress scheduled a two day meeting to open Nov. 8 at Jogjakarta under sponsorship of the Islamic supreme council. It will determine policy and a working problem for Moslems in "connection with building up of the Republic of Indonesia," the Indonesian news bulletin said.

Eight hundred Indonesian deportees from Australia refused to disembark from the British ship Esperance Bay until 19 other Indonesians, who had been arrested aboard the vessel, were released. Australian authorities said the 19 were placed ashore at Koepang, Timor, because of an understanding between the Australian government and Adm. Mounbatten, supreme allied commander.

'TIGER'S' DEFENSE WINS ONE POINT, LOSES ANOTHER

Witness Modifies Story of Massacre Order

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, Nov. 5 [Monday]—Gen. Yamashita, the "Tiger of Malaya," lost one point but won another today during the defense cross-examination of the man who proved in Saturday's session of his war crimes trial to be the prosecution's strongest witness so far produced.

Gen. Yamashita in court

The witness, Narciso Lapus, secretary to Gen. Arminio Ricarte, leading Filipino collaborator, testified that Yamashita commanded not only the Japanese army in the Philippines, but the navy and air force as well as far back as October, 1944.

This was a point against the defendant, whose counsel have tried to show that Manila atrocities were committed by sailors and marines who were not under Yamashita's orders. His aide, Gen. Utsunomya, swore that Yamashita was not placed in command of the navy until January of this year.

Modifies Massacre Charge

On the other hand, Col. Harry Clarke, chief defense counsel, pinned Lapus down to an admission that Yamashita's orders to "wipe out all Filipinos," to which he had testified Saturday, was confined to points where American troops were making landings, or where civilians were committing acts hostile to the Japanese. He had made no such modification of the massacre orders in previous testimony.

Lapus testified also that Lt. Col. Ota, Japanese secretary of Ricarte, told him of the same order, and said it had been issued to all commanders in the Philippines. Lapus said he told Ota this was a crime, and that Ota said, "Lapus, for that your neck will be cut."

Lapus said Ricarte had told him, "I am afraid Yamashita is going to repeat the history of Singapore in the Philippines."

"Rottenest General"

Lapus said his own view of Yamashita was that "he is the iron hangman of Japan—the most rottenest general—I believe he was sent here to crush the Philippines."

Clarke made Lapus admit that he had seen photographs in Manila newspapers of a meeting attended both by Yamashita and Ricarte—a meeting whose purpose was to form a "makapili" group, or Filipino guerrillas who fought on the Japanese side. The witness had previously stated that Ricarte distrusted Yamashita, and that as far as he knew had met him only four times.

Lapus caused a mild sensation by stating that Ricarte, who for years was working toward Philippine independence, told him he was promised by Premier Tojo that when the Japs established the Philippines' independence he was to head the government of the Philippines, and that he intended to set up a dictatorship.

When he was offered the presidency in 1943, he refused it. "He thought the Japs were double-crossing him," Lapus said. "The government they set up was not what he had in mind—not independence at all." But Ricarte continued to work for the Japanese. By December, 1944, Lapus said, Ricarte told him he was "virtually a prisoner of the Japs."

The commission then recessed briefly, directing the defense to use the time to determine how much longer the cross-examination should continue and saying, "There must be some limit." The five generals acting as judges, however, leaned over backward to insure a fair trial for Yamashita, allowing the defense the widest latitude in its cross-examination.

Col. Clarke brought out that Lapus' son was twice arrested by the Japanese Kempei Tai [secret police] for black market operations.

Lapus further admitted that even while working for Ricarte he was arrested by the Japanese on suspicion of espionage.

He said he felt Ricarte did not at first take him into his full confidence. "Even tho I was in his confidence I always felt he doubted something," he said.

Arraign Homma This Week

Gen. Masiharu Homma, Japanese commander blamed for the "Death March of Bataan," will be brought to Manila from Tokyo this week, according to present plans, and be arraigned before a military trial commission on war criminal charges soon after.

The charges against Homma are expected to be less all-embracing than that against Gen. Yamashita. The principal items undoubtedly will derive from what actually was a series of 'death marches" as a direct or indirect result of which thousands of Americans and Filipinos met their deaths.

Arraignment probably will be held in the former residence of the Philippines high commissioner, where the Yamashita trial is now in progress.

BAN JAP VERSION OF TRUMAN VIEW ON CIVIL GOVERNMENT

TOKYO, Nov. 5 [Monday—(AP)—The Japanese public was not informed thru Japanese language newspapers of President Truman's Oct. 31 statement that the administration favors the quickest possible transfer of the government of Japan from military to civilian status.

The story was held up by the civil censorhip section of Gen. MacArthur's headquarters on the ground the translation was vague. Col. Donald Hoover, chief of the section, said four of his translators agreed that the Kyodo news agency's version was misleading.

Hoover said the translation would have created the opinion that MacArthur had "lost face" with Mr. Truman and that his usefulness therefore would be over. He said there was no objection to the story itself, but to the translation. Hoover said Kyodo did not resubmit the story.

LEARN JAPS HAD ONLY 3 DIVISIONS INTACT V-J DAY

Many Others Smashed by MacArthur's Men

TOKYO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Japan's proudest army divisions were wiped out on the edges of the empire and only three first class ones were available in the late hours of the war to defend the homeland from invasion, United States army records showed today.

The divisions that led the triumphant Japanese march thruout Asia were chewed up or by-passed, and at the end even the great Kwantung army of Manchuria was stripped for Japan's own defense against invasion.

The decline and fall of the army were charted by a card catalog kept by Lt. Col. George Magruder while the war was on and confirmed by investigations after occupation.

Best Units Sent Home

"In Manchuria when the Russians hit," said the colonel, who is one of Gen. MacArthur's intelligence officers, "the last of the Kwantung army's best outfits—the 25th and 1st armored divisions—had been sent to the homeland against the expected assault."

The home army of 2,500,000 men also had the veteran 57th division, but "the remainder of the home divisions were just thrown together," Magruder said.

"The Japanese reënforced the edges of the empire first with troops from the south, then from central China," Magruder said. "Finally they were taking units from the bottom of their barrel of trained men."

16th Smashed on Leyte

Months before the surrender, Americans studying the card history were able to foretell the growing shortage of man power heralding the end of the war.

The notorious 16th division of Bataan death march infamy was smashed on Leyte in the American comeback offensive in the Philippines. The tide of war swept past three other divisions that were in on the final assault of Bataan and Corregidor and they were rounded up after the surrender—the 4th in Siam, the 21st in Indo-China and the 48th on Timor.

The "emperor's own troops," the imperial guards division, were badly mauled in the drive on Singapore and were sent to Sumatra, where they saw no more action. The 18th division which was responsible for the rape of Nanking went from the successes at Singapore and led in the capture of Burma, only to be crushed in the British counter-offensive.

Captured Sneaking Back

The 5th division, another which was at Nanking and Singapore, was sent to New Guinea, where it made the all but successful assault on Port Moresby in a thrust aimed ultimately at Australia. One regiment was wiped out at Buna, when MacArthur opened his own offensive that lifted the threat to Australia.

The rest were stationed on Timor and near-by islands and were captured there except for one regiment, which was taken ignominiously while trying to sneak back to Japan last August aboard the hospital ship Tachibana Maru.

The 55th division, which also marched thru Burma, was badly mangled trying to flee the resurgent British offensive and remnants surrendered in Siam.

Other Divisions Wrecked

Hong Kong fell to the 51st and 38th divisions. The 51st was destroyed in New Guinea and the 38th on Guadalcanal and Bougainville after it had helped conquer Java. The 2d division from Java's battlefields also was destroyed at Guadalcanal.

This accounts for 14 divisions, or most of Japan's original conquering units, but many another top division was wrecked. For example the 1st was smashed on Leyte, the 8th and 10th south and east of Manila, the 2d armored on northern Luzon and the 6th on Bougainville.

The Japanese allowed some veteran units, such as the 9th division on Formosa, to sit out most of the war in threatened but unassaulted regions.

CHINESE REDS PERIL CHIANG'S MONGOLIA FORCE

Close in on Capital of Suiyuan

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 5 [Monday] (AP)—An official dispatch today indicated that the position of the government-held Inner-Mongolian city of Kweisui, capital of Suiyuan province, is becoming critical.

The dispatch was received as Chungking expectantly awaited a Communist reply to government proposals for cessation of hostilities. The reply is expected early this week.

The government report said the Communists were closing in on the outskirts of Kweisui and that one column of 10,000 was attacking the northeastern suburbs. Meanwhile, other columns were converging on Kweisui, whose garrison, on the basis of previous reports, is heavily outnumbered.

[The government appeared to have its own plans to forestall any isolation of its Inner Mongolian forces. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's top field commander, Gen. Ho Ying-chin, reiterated on his arrival in Peiping yesterday that the government was determined to re-open its lines of communication thru communist-held areas.]

Deny Communist Charge

A communist assertion that a plane bearing markings of the Chinese air force attacked a village on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad south of Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, evoked an official denial from a military spokesman. The communist report said four were killed and eight wounded.

The spokesman said that the Chinese air force, apart from helping disarm the Japanese air force, had taken no belligerent action anywhere since Japan's capitulation.

Hope of ending the spreading civil war hung on the Communists' reply to a new four-point peace proposal by the government.

There was moderate optimism here, somewhat dampened by the recollection that a peace move by the government last week was followed by more, not less, fighting.

Pessimists took the view that both sides still were stalling for time and that nothing would come of the present exchanges.

Proposals are Listed

It was pointed out that the Communist spokesman here already had picked holes in the offer, which was styled by central government quarters as a sincere attempt to avert all-out civil war.

The government's offer, issued here yesterday, proposed:

1. That both sides cease attacks.
2. That the Communists withdraw 10 kilometers [6.2 miles] from the railroads, leaving railway police [instead of troops] to guard the lines.
3. That the government thereafter consult the Communists before moving any troops over the railways.
4. That the people's political council appoint a commission to investigate conditions along the railways and report any violation by either side.

New Landings Soon

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chinese sources, encouraged by reports of Russian withdrawal from Manchuria's coasts, said today that Nationalist troops would make new landings soon north of China's Great Wall.

One landing area will be the Manchurian port of Hulutao, near the northern end of the Gulf of Liactung.

It was there that the United States 7th amphibious commander, Vice Adm. Daniel Barbey, attempted to land the Chinese 13th army but met such objections from Chinese Communists that he landed them instead at Chinwangtao, 85 miles to the southwest, to avoid bloodshed.

'ALUMNI' PLAN WELCOME HOME TO MEN OF 33D

Ideas for the honoring of Chicago and Illinois members of the 33d division—originally of the Illinois National guard—who are on their way home from Japan, will be discussed today at a luncheon of officer-veterans of the division in the Morrison hotel.

Park Commissioner Jacob M. Arvey—formerly a lieutenant colonel with the 33d in the Pacific—said ideas ranging from a parade to attendance at a football game have been advanced, but that all depend on the coöperation of the war department in keeping the men intact as a unit.

About 2,000 men are en route home on the steamships Marine Falcon and Procyon, due in Seattle on Nov. 9 and 10.

RICHARDSON DUE TO SPARK PROBE ON PEARL HARBOR

Summons for MacArthur Believed Likely

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4—The first fireworks at the congressional hearings on the Pearl Harbor debacle, scheduled to open Nov. 15, will be touched off by Adm. Richardson, former commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, it was learned today.

Richardson heads the list of witnesses drawn up by the legal staff of the joint congressional investigating committee.

The admiral is said to have a highly important story to tell. He resigned as head of the fleet in protest against withdrawal of units of the fleet for convoy duty in the Atlantic before the United States entered the war and in protest against bottling up the fleet in Pearl Harbor.

The late President Roosevelt personally instructed Adm. Richardson to keep the fleet in Pearl Harbor, it is reported, and the admiral spiritedly told the President that as long as he commanded the fleet, he would be compelled to use his own judgment.

Invitation to Disaster

"One of the most important questions to be answered at the inquiry," a committee member said, "is why the battle fleet was stationed at Pearl Harbor where it clearly was more vulnerable than if it had been held on the west coast. Naval officers tell us that the fleet concentration at Pearl Harbor shortly before the Dec. 7, 1941, attack was greater than any concentration they had ever known. It was an invitation to disaster."

Richardson was succeeded by Adm. Kimmel who was jumped about 50 numbers over other admirals by Mr. Roosevelt. Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Short were the commanding officers at the Pacific outpost at the time of the Japanese attack and have been held up to censure in the various official reports thus far made public.

Kimmel and Short will definitely be called as witnesses at the hearings, it was disclosed, and both were described as anxious to testify. They will not be summoned, however, until the inquiry is well under way.

Start Will Be Slow

The hearings will start off slowly, it was stated, with a mass of technical testimony, supported by maps, intended to acquaint the committee with the physical picture of Pearl Harbor prior to the attack. The committee last week called off a flight to Hawaii as being useless in view of the lapse of four years since the attack.

The legal staff, headed by William D. Mitchell, former attorney general, has prepared a list of scores of other witnesses, including many high ranking army and navy officials, and a draft of the testimony which is proposed to be drawn from them.

It was reported that Gen. MacArthur will be summoned if he can be spared from his duties at Tokyo. MacArthur was in command at Manila when the war broke and remained with the defending forces until ordered to Australia by President Roosevelt. He was described as more than eager to testify.

Await Protest Effect

Meanwhile, Republican members of the committee waited to see the effect of their protests on the senate floor last Friday against the Democratic majority's refusal of their demands for the right to inspect departmental files in the presence of the committee's legal staff. The blowup was over reports that highly important documents were missing or had been destroyed.

The committee is in recess until Thursday when the minority is expected to renew its request, asserting the whole truth about responsibility for the disaster cannot be revealed if the majority persists in its gag tactics.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH IS OBSERVED

Dr. Joseph C. Dent

Diamond jubilee services were held yesterday by Temple Baptist church, Humboldt blvd. and Cortland st. Additional observances are scheduled thruout the present week. Dr. Joseph Croft Dent, 937 N. Waller st., former pastor, preached the jubilee sermon yesterday morning, and last night the pastor, the Rev. George Vouga, was the preacher. Homecoming services will be held next Sunday.

RABBI BINSTOCK URGES TRUTH ON PEARL HARBOR

The American people are entitled to a complete investigation of Pearl Harbor, Dr. Louis Binstock, rabbi of Temple Sholem, declared yesterday in a sermon at the temple, 3480 Lake Shore dr.

Such an investigation, Dr. Binstock said, should not be for the purpose of punishing the guilty for past failure, but rather to prepare the innocent of the future for the difficulties and dangers of their times.

Dr. Binstock reviewed the analysis by John T. Flynn of the events leading up to Pearl Harbor, which was published in THE TRIBUNE, and those of other writers. He said he agreed with them that an investigation should be made in a complete and open manner, but urged that no prior conclusions be formed as to the guilt or innocence of any one involved until the investigation was completed.

Flynn Blames F. D. R.

Flynn's report placed responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster on the late President Roosevelt. Dr. Binstock told his congregation that he could understand charging Roosevelt with complacency or guessing incorrectly, but not with hypocrisy or duplicity.

Praising efforts to get at the truth of the matter, Dr. Binstock said that if responsibility falls on Roosevelt, the fact should be exposed since men must "give not only their lives, but their deaths, for their country." President Truman was evading the issue, Rabbi Binstock said, when he said the American people were to blame.

Dr. Binstock defended Roosevelt against many of the charges made against him and told his listeners that the late President's efforts to awaken the nation to the danger of war were denounced as war mongering.

Hits Spirit of Cynicism

The rabbi said he was not concerned much about Roosevelt's place in history, but about the war born spirit of cynicism that leads some sections of the public to "seek his blood."

Dr. Binstock asserted that he detected the cynical spirit in many phases of American and world life, even to the extent of setting Jews against each other, and that a similar manifestation had followed the last war.

"I'm afraid this desire for blood is not a willingness to face the truth, but a cynicism derived from war," the rabbi said.

Dr. Binstock warned his audience to take part in efforts to see that destruction and death from war do not happen again.

GERMAN FUTURE PUZZLES THOSE WHO SHAPE IT

Divergent Theories of Government Clash

BY LARRY RUE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 4—What future is in store for Germany? I found no one in a responsible position willing to answer that question.

Even those who have been trying to cast a new Germany fear the mold has hardened prematurely and that some monstrous figure — perhaps half bear and half man—will emerge from their efforts.

As far as the Germans are concerned their country already is divided into four economic parts. If a German in one zone wants raw material or whatnot from another he must have all kinds of special permits, and even then the chances are that the authorities in the other will refuse to allow him to take anything out.

Stumbling Blocks

But while the Germany economy is being broken up and disintegrated, even more important for the future of the nation and probably the world is its division into two camps—irreconcilable because of two absolutely contrary theories of government. Some have suggested that differences of economic and social systems between western democracy and Russia form the main barrier to good relations, but neutral observers are convinced that the chief difficulty arises from two different systems of government—one in which all authority is vested in and exercised from the top to the people, and the other where all government authority rests in the people and is exercised thru their representatives.

To these differences have been attributed no end of wars and bloodshed in the history of human progress and liberties, and observers see in them now all the elements for future civil, if not world, war.

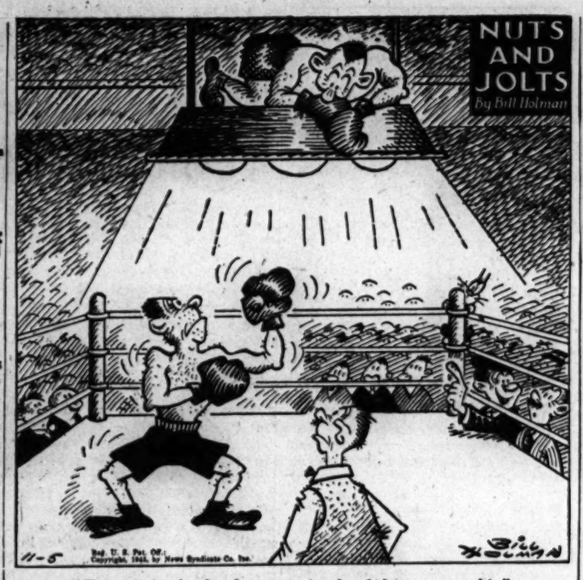
"There are those who argue that Russia will allow freedom of the press and free elections in Germany, but I regard it as stupid to suppose that the Russians are going to give the Germans rights and liberties they deny their own people," one American officer asserted.

Fears War in 15 Years

An executive of a large news agency remarked, "I am convinced that within 15 years you and I, if living, either will be covering, or if too old for that, reading about another world war."

In the meantime Germans in all zones are being ruled by iron hands from the top. Private and state properties alike are at the disposal of foreign rulers, to be utilized or wasted, destroyed or confiscated, according to the avarice, whim or need of the occupational forces. Men and women alike are forced to work without having the right to say where or for what. Peace, so far, to the German population has been more costly in human lives than war. It has left most of the adults without faith and with little, if any, hope for the future.

But with the children it is a different story. They seem unconscious of the tragedy their parents are going thru, and in the warm camaraderie which has sprung up between them and our GI's many see hope for a new generation of Germans inspired by a love of democracy and their fellow men. But many of these children are doomed to die from cold, hunger, and disease before the winter is over.



"Fogarty is the hardest man in the fight game to hit."

ZHUKOV ORDERS ECONOMIC PLAN IN GERMAN ZONE

Paper Hails Russian Economy for Reich

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (AP) — Marshal George K. Zhukov today ordered German administrators in the soviet occupation zone to draft a comprehensive economic program for 1946, as an official Red army newspaper declared that the Russian system of state planning "can be used with success in Germany."

Asserting that he was seeking the "maximum increase of factory and farm production," the soviet military governor commanded the directors of industry, agriculture, trade and communications for both zone and individual German states to outline their targets for next year. Zhukov expressed particular concern that crop cultivation be extended and livestock increased.

In a front page editorial the Red army organ Tagliche Bundschau asserted that adoption of Russian methods of "exact concrete planning would be a powerful tool in carrying out the tasks facing all the German economy."

Parties to Admit Nazis

At the suggestion of the Communists, the four parties of eastern Germany's "united front" political bloc invited into their ranks today "nominal" Nazis born since Jan. 1, 1920.

Influential thruout the soviet-appointed German administrations in the eastern provinces but numerically weak, the Communists reportedly were the first to open their membership to young Nazis, provided they were not notorious.

The action today gave the stamp of approval of the Social Democrats, Liberal Democrats and Christian Democrats to the same policy.

The joint declaration of the chairmen of the four parties gave no definition of the word "nominal."

In the American zone all Nazis are barred from voting, unless they are able to prove they entered the Nazis party "under fear or duress."

Free Germany Dissolved

MOSCOW, Nov. 4 (AP)—Dissolution of the soviet sponsored national committee of free Germany, and its affiliate, the union of German officers, was reported today by the government newspaper Izvestia.

Both organizations, which came into being a few months after the nazi defeat at Stalingrad in February, 1943, unanimously passed a resolution declaring their further existence "superfluous," Izvestia said.

The resolution said the organizations' aims had been the "rallying of German anti-fascists situated in the soviet union for the struggle against the Hitler regime and for a democratic Germany."

It added that in view of "the full defeat of the Hitler state, and the developing in Germany of activity of the democratic bloc of anti-Fascist parties," further existence of the organizations was unnecessary.

[During the war the activities of the two German groups caused speculation whether Moscow intended them to serve as the nucleus of a Moscow-sponsored German government. The Russians declared such speculation was without foundation.]

HUNGARIANS HOLD FIRST FREE ELECTION IN CENTRAL EUROPE

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 4 (AP) —Hungarians voted today for parliamentary candidates in the first secret national election in central Europe since the end of the war. Approximately 3,000,000 of the country's 5,000,000 registered voters were expected to participate. Each major party entered tickets. These parties include the Communists, the Peasant party, Laborite Social Democrats, People's Democratic party, Small Holders party, and Christian Democrats. Because of their success in the Budapest city election on Oct. 7 the Small Holders party was expected to gain the largest number of seats.

BRITISH OBSERVE GUY FAWKES DAY AFTER 7 YEARS

LONDON, Nov. 4 [Reuters]—For the first time in seven years, torchlight processions tomorrow will wind thru the cities and countryside of Britain, as children, their faces blackened with burned cork and wearing all kinds of fantastic costumes, celebrate the anniversary of Guy Fawkes day.

It is a young peoples' festival now, tho it commemorates the anniversary of an early 17th century plot to blow up king and parliament. All over the country store proprietors arriving at their shops found long lines of children waiting to buy fireworks and false faces.

One of the greatest bonfire spectacles will be at Lewes, Sussex, where several thousands in fancy dress will take part in twelve torchlight processions, carrying 5,000 torches.

REPORT 1 DEAD, MANY INJURED; IN TRIESTE RIOT

ROME, Nov. 4 (AP) — Dispatches in Rome newspapers said today at least one person was killed and many wounded yesterday during disorders in Trieste, while an undetermined number of persons lost their lives in uprisings in Capodistria, 10 miles south of the Adriatic port city.

The dispatches said the disorders in Trieste occurred when Yugoslav sympathizers attempted to interfere with a mass meeting of pro-Italians. The meeting was held in commendation of the 27th anniversary of the Italian occupation of Trieste, now claimed both by Italians and Yugoslavs.

Many shots were fired, from 17 to 27 persons were wounded, and 120 persons were arrested, the dispatches said, adding that a general strike had been called in Capodistria.

124 More Are Arrested in Capital Dope Drive

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—A second mass raid within 24 hours in a drive against the drug traffic resulted early today in 124 arrests and seizure of narcotics.

REVEAL HITLER'S JOY WHEN DUCE O. K.'D HIS GRAB

Never, Never, Never Will I Forget, Fuehrer Said

[The following is another story on the anschluss of Austria as told in the recorded secret telephone conversations of Nazi officials recovered from the ruins of Berlin.]

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

[Copyright: 1945: By the Associated Press]

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—When Adolf Hitler learned that Mussolini was not going to interfere in Austria the fuehrer did oratorical flip-flops as ecstatic as the jig he performed when France surrendered.

Prince Philip of Hesse

Admitting he would have been in a "frightful" military position had other powers protected Austria, Hitler declared over and over that he would "never forget" the "magnanimity" of Il Duce.

The King of Italy sent a hint to the German government that he would like Austria's 200,000 Jews to be allowed to escape, but Reichsmarshal Goering declared "The Jews can go, but they must leave the money."

Labelled "Secret Archives"

Goering's air ministry functionaries took down every word as the international telephone lines buzzed during the crisis.

Then at Goering's request they bound the record in a folder labelled "Secret Archives" and sent it to the reichsmarshal.

The case of Austria seemed like ancient history seven years later when the Red army swept thru Berlin, and the record was tossed out in a heap of rubbish in the courtyard of the air ministry.

It was retrieved by two old Germans who were paid two cigarets to load it into my jeep. It gives the first inside account from the German side of the seizure of Austria on March 12, 1938.

This record discloses that Prince Philip of Hesse was the go-between in the conversations between Berlin and Rome. Prince Philip, who married Princess Mafalda of Italy in 1925, came into the hands of the allies last spring when he was found in a camp of political hostages held by the nazis. Princess Mafalda, eldest daughter of the king of Italy and also a hostage, died of wounds from an allied bombing.

Hitler Called from Rome

Prince Philip Hesse was in a key spot for the fuehrer's plans. Mussolini had balked the first plot against Austria at the time of the murder of Chancellor Dollfuss in 1934 when he belligerently marched troops to the Austrian border and threatened to intervene against the Nazis.

But now Mussolini had fallen out with France and England over Ethiopia and Spain and spurned their efforts to align a solid front against Germany.

Hesse called Hitler from Rome at 10:25 p. m. on Friday, March 11 just 31 minutes after the fuehrer had been informed that the nazi puppet in Vienna, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, had agreed to a Goering dictated telegram requesting German troops to march in and prevent "bloodshed."

The Australian government of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg had resigned as the result of a two hour ultimatum from Goering. Seyss-Inquart had been instructed to seize power.

Czechoslovakia Next

Already orders had been issued to 240,000 German troops on the Australian border to begin marching at dawn, and Hitler himself was to be on the way in a few hours on a triumphant return to his native country.

Already Hitler was meditating on secret plans against Czechoslovakia.

The prince opened the conversation: "I have just come back from the Palazzo Venezia. The duce accepted the whole thing very friendly. He sends you his regards. The thing had been told him from Austria—Schuschnigg gave him the news Monday. He [Mussolini] said it would be a complete impossibility, a bluff, one couldn't do it. He was answered that it was unfortunately already arranged thus and one could not change it. Then Mussolini said Austria would now be a finished concern for him."

HITLER—"Then please tell Mussolini I will never forget him for this."

HESSE—"Jawohl." [Yes, indeed].

HITLER—"Never, never, never. Whatever happens I am now ready to make a different agreement with him in case the Austrian thing is settled I am ready to go with him thru thick and thin."

HESSE—"Jawohl, my fuehrer."

French Envoy Rebuffed

HITLER—"Listen, I shall make every arrangement now—I feel I am no longer in a frightful position as would have been militarily, the case for us had I got into conflict. You may tell him that I am really heartfully thankful, I will never, never forget him for this. I will never forget him for this."

HESSE—"Jawhol, my fuehrer."

HITLER—"Beautiful!"

HESSE—"I should like to say that the French envoy here asked to speak with Count Ciano [Italian foreign minister] by order of his government about Austria. And Count Ciano refused to receive him and thereupon the envoy made known that they could not foretell the outcome of further negotiations with Italy which had been discussed."

HITLER—"Yes, I thank you."

HESSE—"My fuehrer, I should like to ask whether I ought to stay here or come back at once tomorrow."

HITLER—"Remain there."

HESSE—"Jawhol, tomorrow another report."

HITLER—"Jawhol, thank you."

Hesse called back the next day at 12:58 p. m., while German troops were marching into Austria, and got Goering on the line.

HESSE—"Here is the prince of Hesse."

GOERING—"This is Goering."

Grateful to Duce

HESSE—"Ciano told me, by order of the duce, one would be very thankful if a press notice were published in Germany about the loyal behavior of the duce and Italy to Germany in this affair.

REVEAL HITLER'S JOY WHEN DUCE O. K.'D HIS GRAB

Never, Never, Never Will I Forget, Fuehrer Said

GOERING—"One moment: That is an important thing we should like to give out ourselves. If we have waited till now it is because we wished to know whether it was agreeable to the duce. For us there could be nothing more pleasant than to give expression to our real feeling of great thankfulness at the loyal behavior of the duce."

HESSE—"I will tell him personally."

GOERING—"And tell the duce what I told Magistrati [Count Massimo Magistrati, counsellor of the Italian embassy in Berlin] yesterday: The German troops who marched into Innsbruck have strict orders not to go further. Only the commander—a colonel—who personally knows the Italian gentlemen at the Brenner [pass] very well, will go in person there to pay these gentlemen a sympathetic visit and tell them he will not go further. You understand that exactly? The mountain brigade stays in Innsbruck, they won't go further."

HESSE—"Where can I reach you by telephone in case there is something important?"

GOERING—"Listen: The fuehrer has gone down there now, he will go to Linz [Austria] and so show how, after many years, he has got for the first time an opportunity of visiting his parents' graves and there laying a wreath because he is still a son of Austria. He has given me the entire representation of his person as head of state and governmental chief until further notice, so I am now leading governmental affairs and thus anyhow things must be brought to me. I am always here, and you can reach me any time on my telephone."

Hitler Revises Letter

That afternoon at 3:20 Goering again talked with Prince Philip.

GOERING—"Prince Philip, do you have the letter there?"

HESSE—"Jawohl, it is here."

GOERING—"Listen, there will be stricken from this letter only a certain paragraph and then a sentence about CSR [the Czechoslovak republic]. Tell the duce that the fuehrer asks him not to publish this because it would get him into new difficulties with France."

An adjutant at this moment delivered the fuehrer's self-corrected text to Goering.

GOERING—"You have the letter there. It starts: 'Your excellency, in a fatefully heavy hour I address myself to you, excellency, to bring you knowledge of a decision which appeared demanded by the circumstances and now will be irrevocable.' Then it goes on: 'In the last months I have with increasing apprehension.' Would you strike out the whole page, the whole of page 2, beginning with 'I have' to where it says 'the state leadership in no way corresponds to the real wish and will of the Austrian people.' And strike out the following sentence: 'that the Austrian state not become a branch of the CSR one day.' The fuehrer asks that this thing about the CSR be left out because it would be a dumb thing."

HESSE—"This is all then?"

GOERING—"Yes. Tell the duce we can very agreeably leave the CSR out of the matter. The CSR has declared itself completely calm and there would only be new unrest. The fuehrer will send a wonderful telegram of thanks to the duce. This telegram will be published and the scribblers will write their own things about it. The telegram is decisive. But go once more to the duce and tell him the reason the fuehrer wanted to strike out this part. And you should cross it out well, so there won't be any doubts and no misfortune possible. It would make it possible first for France to mix in. It would be the only chance for France to make difficulties for us."

Again in the evening at 7:25 Goering talked with Hesse.

"Indescribably Happy"

GOERING—"I can only tell you over and over the fuehrer is really indescribably happy over the behavior down there. It shows for certain the axis . . ."

HESSE—"Yes, this is now solid as a mountain. Just before I called up I was with the king. I also reported to him. He was very much in agreement and also sent his regards."

GOERING—"In Austria there is unbelievable joy. We ourselves had not believed the participation would be so great."

HESSE—"That is so overwhelming."

GOERING—"Our people say the entrance into the Rhineland was indeed not half of this. The people are crying and weeping for joy. Well, it was really unnerving, and our people themselves broke into tears. There was a single voice of joy, except of course for the frightened Jews and they naturally have a bad conscience. One sees that the great Fatherland Front [the political party Schuschnigg of Austria] a block of granite and metal, has vanished into mouse holes. From all the Fatherland Front homes the hooked cross flags [swastikas] already wave."

HESSE—"Then the king talked to me about another interesting thing. One thinks it would be very good if one were to open the frontiers for a while so all this dirty mess could get out."

GOERING—"But not the ones with foreign exchange, otherwise they would slip away from us. The Jews can go but they must leave the money there, they only stole it all!"

Doris Warner LeRoy and Charles Vidor after their marriage in Beverly Hills, Cal.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP)—Doris Warner LeRoy, daughter of film executive Harry Warner, and Charles Vidor, picture director, were married last night by Rabbi Maxwell Dubin at Beverly Hills hotel. Both Warner brothers—Harry and Jack—and their immediate families were present. It was the second marriage for the bride, now 33, while Vidor, 46, has been married twice before. Mrs. LeRoy divorced Director Mervin LeRoy last August in Reno.

Schuschnigg Reaches Nuernberg; May Testify

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 4 (AP)—Kurt Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria who was imprisoned by the Nazis after the anschluss in March, 1938, has arrived in Nuernberg, scene of the forthcoming war crimes trials of Nazi leaders. Some sources said there was a possibility he would appear as a witness against one of the defendants, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, who succeeded him as chancellor when the Nazis assumed control of Austria.

ALLIES TO SEIZE GERMAN WEALTH HIDDEN ABROAD

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—A four power external property commission was formed today to take possession or gain control of German assets abroad estimated to be worth possibly $1,000,000,000. The assets are believed secreted chiefly in Sweden, Switzerland, Spain and Argentina.

The four occupying powers, Britain, Russia, France and the United States, gave the commission title to all foreign properties held by German nationals and power to take over such properties.

The allied control council edict constituting the commission as an intergovernmental agency of the council had the effect of demanding that neutral powers recognize the council as the government of Germany and therefore legally entitled to marshal German external assets in its own name.

Define Property Affected

The measure vested in the commission "all rights, titles and interests" in these properties:

"1. Any property outside Germany which is owned or controled by any person of German nationality inside Germany.

"2. Any property outside Germany which is owned or controled by any person of German nationality outside Germany, or by any branch of any business or corporation or other legal entity organized under the laws of Germany, or having its principal place of business in Germany."

In cases of German nationals outside Germany, the law applies "only to such person who has enjoyed full rights of German citizenship under the reich law at any time since Sept. 1, 1939, and who has at any time since Sept. 1, 1939, been within any territory then under control of the reich government."

Specifically exempted were Austrians or citizens of other countries "annexed or claimed to have been annexed by Germany since Dec. 31, 1937."

Exempt Assets in U. S.

Also exempted were German assets in the United States, the soviet union, France, the United Kingdom and British dominions, and "any other united nations determined by the control council."

The law applies to all movable and immovable property and all rights and interests in or claims to such property.

The term "person" was defined as including also groups of individuals as well as any government, including political subdivisions, public corporations, agencies, and instrumentalities thereof.

The gathering of evidence on foreign assets within the four zones of occupation was made the responsibility of zonal commanders in chief.

The question of whether any compensation should be made to persons divested of property was left to a future decision of the control council.

One major disposition may be to pay reparations to the United States.

Chrysanthemum Shows Attract Large Crowds

Large crowds visited the 33d annual chrysanthemum shows yesterday in the Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories, park officials reported. The shows opened Saturday. In the exhibits are 2,500 plants of the "caprice" and single stem varieties brought from the Indian Boundary park greenhouse.

Oceanside, Cal., Nov. 4 [Special]—Unable to get train reservations, Marine Capt. and Mrs. Harry E. Kipp grabbed a taxi when his honeymoon leave was expiring and rode from Lafayette, Ga., to this place. The bill was $500. The captain said he never got a change of orders sending him to Quantico, Va., and when he arrived here Friday found out that he wasn't supposed to report to near-by Camp Pendleton. He's just marking time here until his orders are straightened out.

WAR WEAPONS IN ITALY USED FOR WAVE OF CRIME

Government Refuses to Disarm Partisans

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, Italy, Nov. 4—A sharp increase in crimes of violence in northern Italy is a main cause of concern to allied commission officers, who see little likelihood of a drop this winter unless partisans are disarmed. The allied force headquarters has made no effort to call in the weapons—many of which were seized from the Germans last spring—and for various political reasons the Italian government has made no demand on the partisans.

Col. John Chapman, public safety director, has been receiving reports from his subordinates thruout the north citing the rise in murder, armed robbery, and extortion, some of the latter involving the old mafia technique. Chapman is a nephew of William Chapman, one time Chicago newspaper editor, and a cousin of John Chapman, former secretary to Gov. Green.

"We have not yet correlated all the reports," Chapman said, "so we have no statistics available on the upward trend in crime, but there is no question that the situation is serious. Most of the murders and armed robberies are occurring in lonely country areas, not so much in large cities. They follow the pattern of a well to do man being threatened with harm and kidnaping unless he comes across."

Few Arms Turned In

It was estimated that during the war 140,000 weapons ranging from pistols to mortars were smuggled in or dropped to the partisans to aid them in their struggle against the Germans. And when the Germans collapsed in northern Italy last April and May the partisans seized uncounted stores of ordnance. Very few of the arms have been turned in.

Italy is permitted to keep an armed military force of 140,000 men and 65,000 armed carabinieri. Of the latter 11,000 are stationed in northern Italy—a larger number than before the war, as that part of the country was the most law abiding—and the other 54,000 are posted in southern and central Italy and in Sicily.

Some 15,000 partisans have been assimilated into police units in the north. Their weapons are more modern and in much better condition than those of the carabinieri and this has led to jealousy on the latter's part.

But it isn't with the 15,000 partisans in the police organizations that the allied commission is having its trouble; it is with the large bands of other armed partisans who are roaming the north. They give no allegiance to the government at Rome but do admit partially the authority of the leftist dominated committees of national liberation of the north.

Those committees are continually in dispute with Rome. Premier Ferruccio Parri's cabinet has sent men from here to the north to serve as police officials but has had them rejected by the liberation committees, which denounced the men as fascist sympathizers.

REPORT FIGHTING AT FRONTIER OF GREECE, ALBANIA

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Swiss and Belgian radio broadcasts tonight reported fighting along the Greek-Albanian frontier, but official Greek government sources in Athens said they were unable to confirm the reports. The area has been a trouble spot since northern Epirus was annexed to Albania in 1914.

The Swiss radio quoting a French news agency dispatch from Athens said "disquieting incidents" had taken place along the border and that Greek frontier troops "have urgently asked for reënforcements."

A broadcast from Brussels said "keen fighting is reported on the Albanian frontier between Greek troops and Albanian irregulars." This broadcast also said Greek troops had asked for reënforcements.

Border difficulties, attributed by various sources to disputes over the proprietorship of northern Epirus and alleged persecutions of Greeks and Albanians on both sides of the frontier, have been the subject of many recent reports.

THE QUESTION

What outmoded social custom would you like to see discontinued?

WHERE ASKED

First National Bank bldg., Cicero.

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. E. B. Kayser, bank clerk, 1815 59th ct., Cicero—It's considered proper for men to stand at the table when a lady joins the party or when she leaves the table. This is an inconvenience for the men and it embarrasses me to attract so much attention. I'd much prefer that they remain seated.

Toni Vicek, teller, 2100 S. 59th ct., Cicero—Thank you notes and bread and butter letters have always found disapproval in my mind. I don't like to write them and I don't like to receive them. They take the glow off a pleasant time. They're a flat form of compulsory appreciation that should never be put into writing.

Mrs. Ted Gorney, housewife, 5511 Jackson blvd.—I don't think it's necessary that men remove their hats when they enter an elevator. Usually the car is crowded, they take more room by holding their hats and the hat is likely to get crushed. I have noticed that quite a few men are giving up this practice.

Lewis Ebel, bartender, Pasadena, Cal.—Standing at the table when a woman sits down is the law of etiquet that I have the most desire to break. It makes me feel conspicuous — especially when four or five men stand. It takes only one to help her with a chair that she could manage by herself.

Mrs. E. J. Kasanders, housewife, 1900 61st ct., Cicero—Tipping is the custom that I would like to see disappear. I think it would be much better to have 10 per cent added to the check and do away with tipping. I don't feel right about not leaving a tip and it's an annoying custom.

2 VICTORY LOAN RALLIES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Two rallies will be held today to start the second week of the Victory Loan drive to sell $608,260,000 in Victory bonds in Chicago and Cook county. Work will stop at 11:30 a. m. in the Carnegie Illinois Steel corporation, 3248 E. 89th st., when thousands of employes begin their Victory Loan rally.

Olsen and Johnson, Johnny Hennert, and Pvt. Eddie Franklin will join Plant Superintendent Bannett M. Livezey on the program. Les Lear, Victory Loan representative, will be master of ceremonies.

Well known entertainers also will participate in a rally at 1 p. m. today on the Victory stage, State and Adams sts. Among those who will take part are the Three Madcaps, Larry Ross, Jayne Walton, Bobby Clark, and Sid Fisher. Suzanne Ericksen, 3, of 7653 S. Seeley av., will mark the day by loading the 3,750 pennies she has saved into a wheelbarrow, in which she will take the money to a neighborhood bank to buy a bond.

DE GAULLE TELLS HIS CABINET HE'S NOT A CANDIDATE

BY ROBERT SAGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 4—The De Gaulle government is scheduled to go out of existence this week. The newly elected constituent assembly convenes for the first time Tuesday.

The method French voters chose last month for setting up an interim government to remain in power until the assembly has completed its work of drafting a new constitution follows:

Immediately upon meeting, the constituent assembly elects by absolute majority a new president of the provisional government. The man selected then sets about forming his cabinet, which he submits to the assembly for approval together with his government's program.

De Gaulle to Withdraw

The present outlook is that De Gaulle will be elected but an element of uncertainty has been injected into the situation by reports that the general announced at the conclusion of Friday's council of ministers that he intends to withdraw from the political scene.

"Gentlemen, I wish to inform you that I'm not a candidate for the presidency of the future government," De Gaulle is said to have told his ministers. "Personally I consider that my task is completed."

Despite this statement it is generally believed De Gaulle will accept election. His reported stand is interpreted as an expression of his desire to let the assembly choose the country's chief in entire liberty.

It is also possible that by taking this attitude De Gaulle wishes to be free to refuse office in certain unfavorable conditions—for instance, if the Communists should abstain from voting or vote against him. No other name has been mentioned as a presidential possibility.

The immediate prospects are a fairly smooth working assembly and cabinet with three powerful left wing parties—holding between them in an even three way split 434 of the assembly's 586 seats—forming an uneasy coalition, and the snowed under rightist groups possibly uniting in a feeble opposition.

However, probable teamwork between the Communists and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's MRP or Christian Socialists is largely a matter of political expediency, and doctrinal differences between the two parties are so great that rifts are likely sooner or later. The strongest hand is held by the Socialists, who occupy the advantageous center position monopolized by the Radical Socialists in the years between the wars.

Altho the Socialists differ with the MRP on state subsidy to religious schools and other questions, they are more likely to end as partners of this party than the Reds, due to their mistrust of Communists and fear of the latter's running away with the leadership.

SOCIALISTS ASK GERMANS TO WIN BACK RESPECT

New Democratic State Is Aim of Party

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 4—Political life is slowly returning to the small towns and villages of Germany with one party after another making its bid for a following among the bewildered citizenry.

While the bourgeois groups are currying popular favor by glossing over the question of guilt for war crimes committed in the name of the German people, the Socialists, the strongest party in pre-nazi days, are telling their countrymen bluntly: "Our future depends on what we do to reconquer the world's respect. This is our job and it calls for hard labor, vision, energy and work on ourselves."

That was the burden of a speech by the Socialist leader, Herman Kriedemann, in the first big public meeting held in the former nazi stronghold of Lueneburg. Socialist leaders said this was the line being adopted by party speakers thruout Germany because "only if the Germans have courage to face the facts will they be able to recover from the nazi shame."

At the same meeting 1,800 men and women assembled in a beer garden and voted adoption of a 10 point program of the Socialist party.

Socialist Program Read

A number of young men—sons of the old Socialists in the audience listened intently as the socialist leaders read the program. It called for "elimination of nazism and militarism by changing social, economic, and cultural conditions in Germany along socialistic lines."

Another point asked for "an awakening of respect for the great ideals of humanity and personal freedom which was lost by the German people."

Also demanded was the 'socialization of all the economic branches which are ripe for it. The last point of the program pledges that "the Socialist, as the greatest party in Germany, is ready to coöperate with those who are not burdened with guilt and who are ready to build up a Germany which will seek to regain the respect and confidence of the world."

Kriedemann told his countrymen: "Nazism showed the world that there is no other road to peace than democracy. Our young democracy, the Weimar republic, suffered growing pains but it would have surmounted them if it had not been weak in spots. Our Weimar democracy seemed dangerous to the industrial barons of the Ruhr and the Rhineland. They let loose a clique of criminal adventurers assembled around a man with a funny mustache and a hairlock. Krupp and his friends gave him huge checks because they wanted power thru him and now Germany is bleeding from a million wounds because of their greed.

Asks New Democracy

"Because there were weak spots in our last democracy we do not want to rebuild it—we want to build a new structure. Many do not take a democracy seriously in Germany because they think it failed—that was not the fault of democracy but of the democrats who don't work at the job.

"In all other democracies the citizens had to fight for their freedom. They still celebrate their day of liberation and honor it. That's what's the matter with Germany—the citizens never fought for their democratic rights."

While in many sections of Germany distinct separatist movements are at work under leaders who tell the citizenry that they will fare better if they seek to separate from the reich, the Socialists argue: "We were born on this, the German soil. We do not want Germany dismembered. We want to struggle for unity in Germany and we hope the powers which occupy Germany now will allow her to again become an economic entity."

BRITISH PRIEST URGES A CHURCH CAMPAIGN TO SAVE EUROPE NOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 4—Calling on Britain's churches to unite in a "save Europe now" campaign, a British clergyman today warned that 13,000,000 persons in and around Berlin probably would die this winter unless they get help quickly.

The situation in central Europe is deteriorating daily, homeless people are being driven from pillar to post in search of food and shelter and are forming a center of disease, family life has been broken up, and the number of abandoned children is mounting daily, said Father Gilbert Shaw of St. Anne's church, London, in a sermon at Malbern.

The Germans may deserve this fate, Father Gilbert admitted, but he pointed out the sickness of all Europe poses a great moral problem for the church which has always risen to the occasion when every one else has deserted the suffering.

In Corduroy and Oxford Cloth Jackets! Slack Suits! Shorts! Overalls! Sailor Suits! Shirts! Dresses for ages 1 to 6!

It's a brand new method of sizing clothes for children from ages 1 to 6 according to their average body measurements of weight, height and waist (measurements of over 147,000 children were taken in order to set an authentic, average scale). This method is called WHW (Weight, height and waist measurements are stamped on each garment ticket). We have examples of it in corduroy and oxford cloth play clothes all sanforized shrunk, vat dyed and given a new Drax treatment which makes every garment soil- and stain-resistant and therefore easier to keep clean! The sizing method is new, the Drax treatment is new, the colors are new and the clothes themselves are adorable. They're easier to clean, will wear longer and fit better.

CHURCHILL WINS PLEA TO DEBATE TRUMAN POLICY

Commons to Discuss His Views Wednesday

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The house of commons will take President Truman's 12 point foreign policy speech of a week ago as the basis of its debate on world affairs Wednesday.

The full dress six hour discussion was scheduled at the request of Winston Churchill, who told leaders of the labor government the opposition desired an opportunity to discuss Truman's statement before Prime Winister Attlee leaves to begin talks in Washington, Nov. 11.

Expect Defense of Program

Foreign Secretary Bevin told commons last week that the British government fully indorses Truman's program, so it was presumed that either Attlee or Bevin, possibly both, would take the floor to defend it.

Churchill, who already has discussed this and other foreign affairs problems with Attlee, Bevin, and former Foreign Secretary Eden in private conversations, will speak for the conservative opposition. Clement Davies will be the chief speaker for the liberal party.

Attlee to Speak

Diplomatic observers said one important result of the debate may be to assist Attlee when he leaves on Friday for his talks with Truman and Canadian Prime Minister King on the future of atomic energy and other matters.

Attlee will speak on foreign affairs at the lord mayor's luncheon Nov. 9, a few hours before he departs for America. By then Britain's much postponed statement on Palestine may have been made.

Observers said the government's policy on Palestine also is likely to show an identity of views with those of America.

CITIZEN POLICE WIN PRAISE OF MAYWOOD CHIEF

Chief of Police W. O. Freeman of Maywood last night praised the efficiency displayed by the village's 75 man reserve police force which took over all police duties for the 24 hour period which ended at 4 p. m. yesterday.

"They did a fine job," he said. "I made several test calls, and they were right there within a minute and a half to three minutes."

The reserve force will be four years old on Dec. 8. Its members have received police training from Maywood police officials and from the federal bureau of investigation. The reserves are composed chiefly of business and professional men of Maywood, headed by Ray F. Davies who functions as chief of the reserve police.

PLANES HUNT FOR 2 BOMBERS LOST IN WEST

Portland, Ore., Nov. 4 (AP)—A widespread air search was being made over southwestern Oregon today for two Liberator bombers missing since Thursday on a flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Portland.

The planes carried a 10 hour supply of gasoline for their one hour hop.

The air base public relations office listed the following men aboard plane No. 1: Lt. D. Davito, 2083 Ogden av., Chicago; Sgt. G. T. McCormick, 3045 N. Oakland av., Milwaukee, Wis., and Flight Officer R. I. Jones, 14861 Richelle av., Detroit, Mich.

After eight weeks, the negotiations with the British are coming to a close. John Maynard Keynes, the British economist, and British Ambassador Halifax have given up hope of getting an outright gift of 5 or 6 billions, for all their arguments that America owes England that much or more for holding the fort till the Yanks got into the war. They have decided to settle for a 4 billion loan at about 2 per cent interest with a provision that the interest shall be waived in any year in which British dollar accounts are out of balance.

Two Points Considered

Two points are still under consideration. One is the American demand that in consideration of the loan the British remove the tariff wall around the British empire erected in the Ottawa imperial preference agreements. The British have countered with a proposal to lower empire preference gradually in consideration of American tariff reductions.

The other point is the American insistence that the British abolish their imperial quotas. The British have objected that because of their difficult financial circumstances they must control their buying during a transitional period in order not to waste the dollars they borrow from the United States.

'BLIND RAGE' BLAMED BY YOUTH IN STABBING COMPANION TO DEATH

Leonard D. Swartz Jr., 17, of 1944 N. Francisco av., who fatally stabbed Robert Peterson, 16, of 2045 N. Mozart st., in the rear of 2849 McLean av. Saturday night, told Shakespeare av. police yesterday that he "went blind with rage" when Peterson struck him during a quarrel, and that he does not recall clearly what happened. He was unable to give any other motive for his act.

Peterson, who was stabbed 13 times in the neck and back, recently was discharged from the army because he was under age. Prior to his enlistment he attended Lane Technical High school, where Swartz is now a senior.

Police also were holding Lawrence Speck, 14, in the rear of whose home the stabbing occurred. Speck accompanied Swartz and Peterson to his home to get the zipper lining for a sweater Speck had sold Peterson, after the three had met in a candy store earlier in the evening. Speck was in the house at the time Peterson was stabbed, he told police.

An inquest will be held at 10 a. m. today in the chapel at 4338 Fullerton av.

PHILATELIST KILLS 3, STEALS STAMP ALBUM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 4—A youthful philatelist who beat two women and a boy to death with a hammer in order to steal a stamp collection valued at $12,000 was arrested by the Paris criminal brigade early this morning, 36 hours after committing his crime.

He is Michel Gieysztar, 23, who has a German wife and one child. Gieysztar was traced thru a modern French stamp depicting the Pont du Gard, which he was known to covet and which had been dropped at the scene of the crime.

The slayer made an appointment in a cafe Friday night with a stamp collector named Pollak to make an offer for the Pont du Gard stamp. While Pollak waited in the cafe, Gieysztar went to Pollak's Montmartre apartment, where he killed a 67 year old maid, Madeleine Podevin. Interrupted by the appearance of Mrs. Simone Pollak and her 6 year old son, Guy, as he was gathering up the large stamp collection, Gieysztar beat out the brains of the woman and child, then fled with the collection, dropping the telltale stamp in his haste.

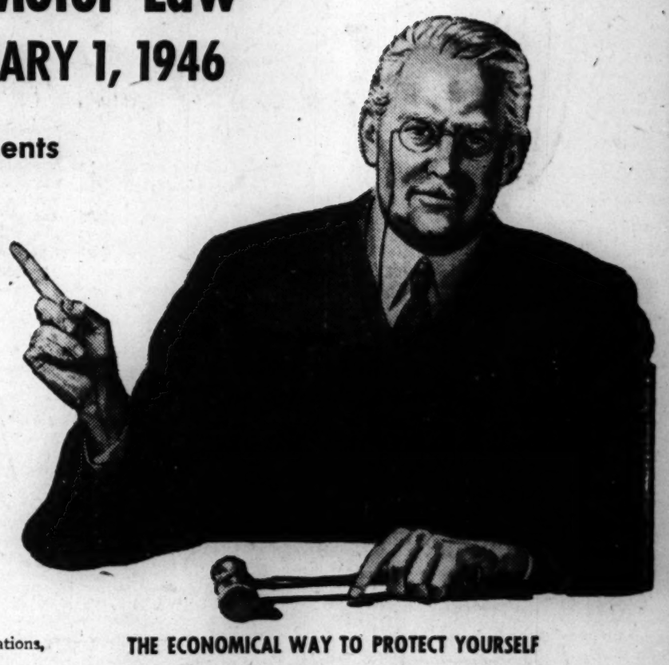
New Illinois Motor Law
EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1946

Failure to meet requirements will result in loss of your privilege to drive!



IGNORANCE OF THE LAW NO EXCUSE

HOW THE LAW AFFECTS YOU

UNDER the new Illinois law, the first time you are involved in a motor vehicle accident resulting in bodily injury to or death of another person or damage to the property of another of over $50.00,

YOU WILL LOSE:

1. Your operator's license and car registrations, if driving your own car,
2. Your operator's license, if driving another person's car, or
3. Your car registrations, if someone else is driving your car,

UNLESS, the liability resulting from such accident is insured, or

IF NOT INSURED, unless sufficient security is deposited with the Secretary of State to satisfy any resulting judgments.

The Law Also Applies

IF YOU fail to pay, within 30 days, any final judgment for bodily injury or death, or for property damage arising out of a motor vehicle accident, or if you are convicted of violation of certain provisions of the Motor Vehicle law, and fail to give proof of your financial responsibility for future accidents.

SECURITY AND FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Security following an accident shall be an amount up to $11,000, and proof of financial responsibility must be for $11,000.

THE ECONOMICAL WAY TO PROTECT YOURSELF

Don't take a chance. Just one accident can do the damage! So protect yourself.

The safest and most economical way for you to meet the requirements of the new law is to carry the right kind of Automobile insurance in a company licensed to do business in Illinois. The best company to get it from is The Travelers.

WHY INSURE IN THE TRAVELERS?

1. The Travelers since 1898 has protected more car owners than any other company. This experience is valuable to you.
2. Many Travelers representatives are located in Illinois to help you in case of an automobile accident. There are many more in neighboring states.

In view of this new Illinois law, you cannot afford to be without Automobile insurance. See your nearest Travelers agent now. Find out which type of Automobile insurance will help you keep your operator's license and car registrations.

Like thousands of other blind persons, Helen Keller is able to share the joys and benefits of reading by means of raised or embossed type, which she follows with her fingers across the page.

Into her world of DARKNESS READING brought its LIGHT

Eternal silence and darkness . . . no slightest sound . . . no faintest gleam of light. No smile to cheer. No voice to warm the heart.

Into this dread world of shadows, a sudden illness plunged a little baby girl. Only 19 months old, with all the wonder and beauty of life just beginning to unfold about her, she lost her sight, her hearing, even the power of speech.

For almost six years Helen Keller lived like a prisoner within a tomb, cut off from everything. Then into her life came a wonderful teacher and companion, Anne Mansfield Sullivan, through whose devoted aid the lonely child slowly but surely reestablished contact with the world.

So well did Helen Keller progress, that she learned to read, write and talk, graduated with honors from Radcliffe College, mastered the typewriter, and wrote six books!

Her reading was finger-reading, from embossed type. Braille editions were available of such books as The Bible, Paradise Lost, Hamlet, Pilgrim's Progress; as well as atlases, encyclopedias, scientific works, etc. These she read . . . and the great world of thought and nature began to take shape within her mind.

What this meant to her she herself has most movingly described: "I doubt if anyone who enjoys the wondrous privilege of seeing can have any conception of the boon (of reading) to the sightless. To be able to read for oneself what is being willed, thought and done in the world—in whose joys and sorrows, failures and successes one feels the keenest interest—that indeed is a happiness too deep for words."

Reading . . . Bringer of Light

Into the darkened world of Helen Keller reading brought an awakening flood of light . . . just as reading has always served to bring the light of knowledge into the hungering mind of man.

Almost without exception, the great figures of history have been tireless readers. For it is the impression value of what one reads that registers indelibly and is never forgotten.

Some of the most varied and informative reading of our time is to be found within the pages of The American Weekly, the magazine which is distributed through a group of great Sunday newspapers from coast to coast. For here are fascinating true stories of human accomplishment and endeavor . . . research . . . exploration . . . love and conflict . . . hope, happiness, heartbreak and tragedy . . . art . . . history . . . medicine. Two titles from recent issues—"Heavy is the Crown of Beauty," dealing with the troubles of beauty-contest winners, and "The Ultimate Allergy," concerning an unusual human ailment—suggest only faintly its all-inclusive interest and range.

So clear and accurate are many of these articles, that they are used in classrooms throughout the nation.

This exciting and ever-fresh story of history-in-the-making is brought regularly into more than 8,000,000 homes—the largest single reading group in the world.

The manufacturer who associates his product or his company's name with such an influence is tying in with the greatest known force in advertising.

THE SEEDS OF CONFLICT

[This is the fourth editorial of a series recounting the genesis of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and discussing the responsibility for that disaster.]

There are a few significant dates in the development of Japan's clash of interests with the United States in the Pacific. One is the year 1898. Before that, America's interest in the orient was limited chiefly to the maintenance of equal commercial opportunities for its citizens. In August, 1898, the American flag went up over Hawaii. Three months later Spain ceded the Philippines and Guam. Wake Island had already been occupied. In 1907 Theodore Roosevelt was to say, "The Philippine Islands form our heel of Achilles. They are all that makes the present situation with Japan dangerous."

By the turn of the century British concessions and privileges in China were threatened by the increasing claims of France, Russia, and Germany. To check this menace to its favored position Britain sought the support of these powers, and also of the United States, for establishment of agreements recognizing the status quo in China. As a result of British diplomacy, Secretary of State John Hay issued notes in September, 1899, and July, 1900, defining America's "Open Door" policy with reference to China. In general they declared American policy to be that of respect for the territorial integrity of China and insistence upon equal commercial opportunities in that nation.

By a secret treaty in February, 1917, Japan won the support of Britain for acquisition of the German island holdings north of the equator in the Pacific. France and Russia also agreed. At Versailles Woodrow Wilson permitted the Japs to make off with the 623 strategic islands of the Marianas, Marshalls, and Carolines groups. These placed a block upon America's lines of communications to the Philippines, for, altho the terms of the Japanese mandate forbade fortification, Japan disregarded them and denied access to these "islands of mystery."

The Open Door policy was restated in the Nine-Power pact of 1921, a corollary of the Washington naval treaty, which permitted Japan to build up to three-fifths of American and British naval strength.

On Sept. 18, 1931, Japan fabricated the "Mukden incident" as a pretext for embarking on a campaign of aggression in China. The supposed sabotage by Chinese soldiers of one yard of rail on the Japanese controlled South Manchurian railway gave the Japanese army the excuse for seizing all of Manchuria. Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of state, after failing to win collaboration of the British in an effective protest, grumpily announced the doctrine of "non-recognition" of the conquest. The Japs, learning that they had nothing to fear from the United States, Britain, or the league of nations, withdrew in 1933 from the league. The following year the Japs announced their intention to terminate adherence to the naval agreement of 1921, declaring themselves free to build warships without limit after 1936.

On July 7, 1937, Japan renewed its program of conquest in China. This time a minor clash with Chinese forces at the Marco Polo bridge over the Yungting river served as the casus belli. The war went on until Japan's final downfall last August. In that period Japan seized the remainder of North China and all of the coastal provinces.

President Roosevelt on Oct. 5, 1937, demanded that aggressors be "quarantined." The Japs knew he was talking about them, as well as Hitler and Mussolini. Their response was to bomb and sink the American gunboat Panay in the Yangtze river Dec. 12. Apologies and the offer of an indemnity followed, and our government took it. Japan was reassured that America was harmless, however big Roosevelt might talk.

While the President talked and Japan pursued its aggression in China, the United States supplied Japan with the sinews of war. In the years 1936 thru 1940 America exported to Japan 3,403 tons of iron ore, 743,224 tons of pig iron, and 7,231,176 tons of iron and steel scrap. Petroleum products were flowing from this country in prodigious quantities. On July 26, 1939, Mr. Roosevelt finally made a move to end this appeasement, giving notice of the termination of the Japanese-American commercial treaty of 1911 as of Jan. 26, 1940, following the required six months' interval.

Not until July 2, 1940, however, did Mr. Roosevelt license exports of chemicals, machine tools, and nonferrous metals. On July 25 he licensed exports of oil products and scrap metal. Six days later he embargoed exports of aviation gasoline to countries outside the western hemisphere. Not until Sept. 26 did he impose an embargo, effective Oct. 16, on all exports of scrap iron and steel except to Britain and the western hemisphere.

These embargoes left wide loopholes. Tokyo was still quite free to buy finished iron and steel, old ships, steel rails, and all forms of low grade oil products. During 1940 two million barrels of oil a month flowed across the Pacific from American refineries. By January, 1941, the administration was permitting the export each day of 42,000 barrels of oil, 15 million gallons of gasoline, and 4,500 barrels of machine oil to Japan. By the summer of 1941 a million barrels of oil a month were still going to Japan.

On Sept. 27, 1940, Japan warned America off the "greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere" by converting the anti-comintern pact of 1936 with Germany and Italy into a hard and fast military alliance. The three powers pledged each other military assistance "when one of the contracting powers is attacked by a power not at present involved in the European war or the Chinese-Japanese conflict." This treaty could have been directed at no other nation than the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt's counter-measures were: [1] To send American engineers to speed traffic over China's Burma road supply line; [2] to give China a credit of 50 million dollars to stabilize its inflated currency and to lend Lauchlin Currie, the President's administrative assistant, to China to straighten out its finances; [3] to permit American flyers to resign from the military services and to fight for China as Gen. Chennault's "Flying Tigers"; [4] to extend aid to China under the lend-lease act and to acknowledge, as the United States army orientation division puts it, that "China and the United States were part of the Democratic Front"; [5] to create the United States forces in the far east under Gen. MacArthur; [6] to impose the embargoes on exports of iron and steel, causing what Ambassador Grew described as the economic strangulation of Japan; [7] to freeze Japan's total assets of 130 million dollars in the United States, thus ending trade between the two countries in what Walter Lippmann termed "a declaration of economic war," and [8] finally to hand Japan an ultimatum at the end of prolonged diplomatic negotiations which required, as America's price for peace, that Japan evacuate Indo-China, get out of China, and repudiate its treaty with the axis. Japan's answer was a foregone conclusion long before her envoys, Nomura and Kurusu, handed in their note on Dec. 7, 1941, saying that the game was up.

Thus, before Pearl Harbor, the effect of Mr. Roosevelt's policies was to have put the United States into an undeclared war with Germany and Italy, as established in the preceding editorial of this series, and with Japan, as established in this editorial. How an attack on Pearl Harbor or any place else could be a surprise to Mr. Roosevelt under these circumstances is a mystery.

RATIONING AMERICANS TO HELP CANADA

Labor, a responsible weekly newspaper published by the standard railroad unions, informs its readers that Americans are still burdened with meat rationing because Canadian officials would have been embarassed if the rationing had continued in their country after it was discontinued here.

The end of meat rationing on Oct. 28 was recommended by the OPA. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson came forth on Oct. 19 with a lame explanation of the failure to follow this recommendation, asserting that rationing was necessary because of commitments to ship meat to foreign countries and the necessity of building up a reserve for next year. What actually happened, Labor reports, is that Anderson went up to Quebec to a UNRRA food conference and there heard a tale of woe from the Canadians, who had already suffered food riots over the resumption of rationing imposed for the purpose of increasing Canadian meat shipments to Britain.

"Canadians have learned," says the newspaper, "that the OPA had requested Anderson to end all meat point rationing on Oct. 28, and they made it clear that there would be great difficulty in enforcing rationing in the Dominion if it were dropped in this country.

"Anderson saw the point and rushed to Washington and threw cold water on the OPA suggestion. He is the final authority on rationing matters, and if he tells the OPA to continue restrictions it will have to do it."

Canada, as a member of the British commonwealth of nations, has special obligations to Great Britain. Apparently New Dealer Anderson considers that the United States shares equally in empire obligations, altho we are denied any of the benefits of the empire trade system. This imposition of rationing for ulterior motives is, of course, nothing new in Washington. Middlewesterners will remember how gasoline rationing was originally imposed on them, when there was plenty of gasoline in this territory, to still the screams of Mayor La Guardia and make the rationed residents of the Atlantic coast feel better.

Anderson's abuse of the power of his office demonstrates just how little chance there is of getting rid of any of the wartime restrictions, if it is left to those who impose them to decide that they are no longer needed. Even tho current meat supplies do not justify rationing, he retains it to make things easier for officials of a neighboring government.

The war is over. The reasons for which rationing, price fixing, and the other multitude of war controls were imposed no longer exist. Those who exert these powers, who will be out of jobs if they are dropped, naturally are seizing every specious excuse to continue them. If we leave the decision to them, we shall have controls for the rest of our lives.

The way to end the controls is to end them. End them all. The longer this is delayed, the longer business will be prevented from readjusting itself and the harder the readjustment will be when it takes place. Perhaps the New Dealers want a post-war depression. Certainly the Communists do. They are doing their best to bring one about.

TWO-WAY CELEBRATION

[Christian Science Monitor]

We like the way Corp. Dick Scholet celebrated getting out of the army the other day. Dick had been in the Aleutians two years and in Germany six months. Naturally he was glad to get back to Cobleskill—which, in case you are ignorant, is in the foot of the Catskills, in Schoharie county, N. Y. So he put a double column ad in both Cobleskill papers which read:

HEY KIDS! ALL KIDS!
I Feel Like Celebrating
Meet Me in the Park at 7:30 p. m. Friday
We'll Eat Ice Cream Cones Until the Ice Cream [Lots of It],
You, or I Give Out.

Cobleskill is not such a big town, but 20 gallons of ice cream were consumed in 500 cones by 150 youngsters that night. It struck us that this style of celebrating was quite superior to the mode adopted by too many, both in uniform and out.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. A brown thrasher should make one think of a Hindoo farmer, Bombing plane, Flower, Bird
2. A reducing agent would probably be used by a Chemist Obese person Baker Actor
3. The word larynx should remind one of which fruit? Plum Apple Pear Cherry
4. Malt is usually produced by employing which grain? Corn Rye Soy beans Barley
5. The number of acres in a quarter section of land is 80 acres 160 acres 240 acres 320 acres
6. This problem is a test of your orientation concerning the field of geography. In the left hand column below are the names of five famous mountains. Try to match them with the countries where they are located. You are entitled to one point for each correct judgment.

[a] Fujiyama	[v] Switzerland
[b] The Matterhorn	[w] Turkey
[c] Mount Vesuvius	[x] Tibet
[d] Mount Everest	[y] Italy
[e] Mount Ararat	[z] Japan

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

JAPS IN HOT WATER

If the post-war correspondents in Japan pursue their studies of native customs beyond the geishas, they will discover one of these days that the Japs are fond of relaxing their fidgety nerves in hot springs. For outgushings of mineral waters at high temperatures, the country is remarkable, and resorts for "taking the waters" on the advice of doctors who favor balneotherapy are numerous. Moreover, a Japanese can bathe with delight in water that would cause an untrained American to shriek with agony.

Their theory is that immersion in moderately warm water will be followed by an unpleasant chill, and that the proper temperature is from 104 to 110 degrees. They come out of the pools looking like boiled lobsters, but proclaim that the sensation is sublime. That tired feeling has been soaked out of their systems and warmth has penetrated their marrow. A Jap in this condition needs no overcoat to defy the piercing blasts from the always nearby mountains.

Maybe they're right. We remember emerging from the hot pool of a small Rocky mountain spa into a night temperature of 50 degrees, lightly clad. We expected to suffer from cold, but enjoyed, on the contrary, a sense of supreme well-being. The thin air of 9,000 feet above sea level was like wine, and we felt like a demigod on Mount Olympus.

On the four main islands of Japan there are 946 large sources of mineral springs, and only one-sixth of them run cold. The therapeutic traditions correspond to those of the European spas. Springs on the seashore provide a novelty called sand baths; cascades off mountain slopes give natural hot showers. The latter treatment is strongly recommended to lunatics.

Boiling eggs in hot springs was an old Japanese custom many centuries before the first American tourist stuck his nose into Yellowstone park.

WINDOWS AT CANTERBURY

Now they are back. The lovely, glowing glass
That had to hide until the storm should pass
Has now come back to sunlight and the day. . . .
The winds of dreadfulness have died away.
These windows with their tenderness can hold
For all the world their deathless light when gold
Pours thru them from the sun, their ageless tales
That lose clear outlines as the daylight pales
Yet keep, the whole night thru, some light to stream
Where silent lances of the moonlight gleam.
This was not just an island shrine. Men crossed
The stormy channel in frail boats that tossed
Like cockleshells to reach this ancient church.
Now, after long black terror, men will search
Once more for what those older seekers found,
In simpler wisdom, on this cherished ground.
Once more a sanctuary lamp may lift
A light to glow thru splendid glass and drift
Out to the world in passionate surmise—
Of new-won shores . . . where lights of peace may rise!

Then there was Weiss, near Grand av., who furnished the last meal for those about to be executed. He told me that he never cashed the checks for that service, but framed and saved them. Maxellus

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if a stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

F. S. asks: "Can anything be done to an army officer who refuses to support his family?"

Yes. A letter may be sent to either his commanding officer or the adjutant general's office in Washington. The man then will be reminded of his obligation and if he still persists in neglect of his family he may be tried by court martial under the 95th article of war for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

R. T. asks: "Is it permissible for a discharged veteran to wear his uniform for 90 days after his return home, providing the honorable discharge emblem is sewed onto it?"

No. According to a recent ruling uniforms must be removed upon arrival home. The protection of the uniform act provides that discharged persons may wear their uniforms from the place of discharge to their homes, providing they go there within 90 days from date of discharge. The judge advocate general's ruling says uniforms must be removed after arrival home even tho the 90 days have not expired.

P. G. asks: "Can an army captain who expects to be discharged within two months decline promotion to a majority that would make him ineligible for mustering out pay?"

Yes, both army and navy officers may decline the promotions.

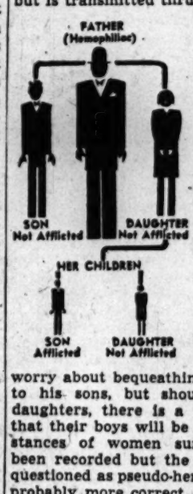
HEMOPHILIA—THE BLEEDING TENDENCY

FEW diseases are as dramatic as hemophilia and its incidence among royalty has given this blood disorder wide publicity. The disturbance occurs only in males but is transmitted thru the opposite sex. Of the progeny of a hemophiliac with a normal wife, the boys will not be afflicted but the girls are capable of passing on the idiosyncrasy even tho married to normal males.



Stated in another way, a man who has hemophilia need never worry about bequeathing the defect to his sons, but should he have daughters, there is a good chance that their boys will be victims. Instances of women sufferers have been recorded but the diagnosis is questioned as pseudo-hemophilia was probably more correct.

As a rule, the malady manifests itself at an early age following perhaps an insignificant mishap such as a bruise, abrasion, or scratch. A tooth extraction may bring to light the bleeding tendency. In others, black and blue areas appear beneath the skin for no discernible reason; or hemorrhages from the nose or mouth may persist for days at a time. Other organs, such as the brain or bowel, may perform in like manner. Apparently 80 per cent of all patients encounter at one time or another bleeding into joint cavities and, as a result, swelling ensues. Should the structures in the knee be attacked, it may be difficult to distinguish the puffing from that produced by an injury.

Ordinarily, youngsters are more likely to exhibit severe bleeding than are older persons. The degree varies with the type of accident and the individual case. Some are never free from evidence of hemorrhage; others ooze with minor lesions; still others, only upon receiving a serious wound.

All those whose vital fluid does not clot normally do not necessarily have hemophilia. The true victim usually has a family history and certain abnormalities can be noted in the circulation, chiefly an extremely delayed coagulation time.

Numerous remedies have been advocated but none has been universally successful. These include ovarian extract, proteins, tissue coagulants, oxalic acid, and transfusions. Pressure bandages, fresh normal blood to the parts, and snake venom are also said to be useful. The local application of agents which aid in forming a clot on the surface may be valuable. Recently purified thrombin has been found more effective than anything to date.

Prophylactic measures are important. Theoretically, were the offspring of susceptible families restricted in marriage, the disease would die out. Victims must be on the alert constantly. Every effort should be made to protect children, who are so prone to harm themselves at play. If a major operation is demanded, a large transfusion is usually given beforehand in the hope that it will add clotting constituents.

Many have difficulty when dental care is required. The same preparations can be applied to the gums that are used on the skin. Birch and Snider devised a novel way of removing teeth gradually and with practically no loss of blood. This is done with rubber bands, which are so placed as to literally force the structure out by degrees.

PLEURAL PAIN

Mrs. A. R. writes: A few weeks ago I had severe pain in the right side, near the ribs. The doctor said it was a touch of pleurisy and strapped me up. A week later he took off the adhesive, but the region is still sore, tho not as bad. What should I do now?

REPLY

In some cases, pain of this type departs gradually. Consequently, you should not be overanxious. Perhaps another visit to the physician for a recheck would be wise.

BRONCHITIS

Mrs. M. writes: Should a person with chronic bronchitis sleep with the window open or closed at night?

REPLY

Some fresh air is advised, but the window should not be opened so wide that the room is unbearably cold. The bed should be placed so that no draft strikes the body.

FACIAL PARALYSIS

W. K. writes: Can a person have Bell's palsy more than once?

REPLY

Yes, but like lightning, it seldom strikes in the same place twice.

The Greeks Said: No!

Excerpt from the press release of a perfume manufacturer:

"Diogenes the Greek philosopher, of whose extreme wisdom there has never been any question, used scent on his feet instead of his head. From the head, he declared, its fumes rose wastefully for the sole delectation of the birds, whereas the vapors arising from the feet perfumed the whole body. The use of perfume in Greece had reached such extravagant proportions that Solon, the ruler of the time, forbade its manufacture. As a result of this edict, perfume speakeasies flourished in profusion, and that is where Diogenes obtained his.

"Unrestricted by any restrictive laws, the modern woman should take a tip from Diogenes and lavishly anoint herself from head to toe with ——."

If Solon [639 to 559 B. C.] ever had even one smell of Diogenes [431-323 B. C.], it was the neatest trick of the Greeks.

How to Get a Murillo

Marquis James in his recent biography of Alfred I. du Pont tells an amusing story of a portrait offered to Mr. du Pont as being his great-great-grandmother, Madame du Pont de Nemours, and her baby son. The picture was supposed to have been painted in France in 1769 and was offered to Mr. du Pont for $25,000 by a Philadelphia dealer. The painting was obviously old, but Mr. du Pont entertained bright doubts as to whether it was his great-great-grandmother. The dealer cut the price to $10,000, but Mr. du Pont still was unconvinced. Finally, because he thought the frame was worth at least $400, he bought it for $1,000. He then sent it to Dr. Arthur Bye of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, who, after examination, said that the lady's face and clothes and the frills around the baby had been heavily repainted, nor were the costumes those of 1769. But, he said, the baby's face and the lady's hand had not been repainted and showed far greater artistic skill than the rest of the picture. The retouching thus was removed. Beneath was a very beautiful Madonna and Child, now attributed to Murillo and valued at $150,000. Mr. du Pont is said to be the only American into whose home has come a picture of the Madonna and Child disguised as his own ancestors.

Costume, by the way, has long been used as a means of giving a portrait its correct date. Henry Wilder Foote, authority on colonial portraiture, tells of a picture of Margaretta of Parma by Anthony Mor, now in the Philadelphia Museum of Art, which puzzled experts because part of the lady's costume was of a later date than that in which the portrait presumably had been painted. An X-ray examination showed that the dress had been repainted 15 years after the portrait was completed. Styles had changed, and the charming Margaretta was annoyed at being shown in a dress that was out of date. Probably said, "But it dates me so!"

Ne Sequere Me

"I sometimes see those young ladies in dark blue uniforms, and I gather from the legend on their caps that they are employed in the health department of the city. I take it, therefore, that they are concerned in promoting and safeguarding the health of the Chicago people. I can't conceive of anything more detrimental to health than crossing Jackson blvd. at Kedzie against the light, yet that is precisely what I saw one of these blue suited ladies doing. Such possible self-effacement! Such utter altruism!" F. E. M.

Minor Virtue

One good effect of the atomic bomb: In little more than a year Oak Ridge, Tenn., the city built to break up the atom, amassed a public library of 9,806 books with a circulation of 115,54⅘. It had a special traveling library service for secret workers sealed into their work.

FOR INTERNATIONAL GAME LAWS

Chicago, Oct. 31—Ten years ago the wild duck population of this continent seemed doomed to extinction because drouth and unwise drainage projects a decade earlier had dried up many of the swamps and lakes, chiefly in Canada, where for millenniums ducks have gathered to nest and breed.

Ducks, Unlimited, an organization of American sportsmen, raised funds in the United States with which to finance construction of dams and carry out other conservation work in Canada. United States money pays for the breeding of ducks in Canada, which fly south in the fall to winter in the southern states and in Latin America.

In the United States the daily bag limit is 10 ducks.

In all Canadian provinces the limit is higher: Ontario and Quebec, 15 a day; Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Alberta [where most Canadian duck hunting is done], 20 a day.

In Mexico and the Bahamas, where the same ducks go in the winter, game laws on ducks are either nonexistent or are not enforced.

It is time that game laws pertaining to migratory waterfowl be made uniform in all these nations concerned. If the limit in the United States is 10 per day, then it should be 10 a day in Canada, the Bahamas, and Mexico, and the laws should be enforced in all countries. If Canada insists on higher daily limits, then our limits should be raised to correspond, as they are the same ducks we pay to breed.

THE LONGSHORE MEN'S STRIKE

GERMANY, Oct. 13—Every bit of news we receive concerning the dock strike in New York mentions that nine, 50, 123, 369 ships are tied up because of the strike; that thousands of troops are delayed in Europe for the lack of transportation; that army officers are booed when they plead for the strikers to return to work; and above all, that American soldiers are booed by longshoremen when they were ordered and followed orders to unload the Queen Mary. Is that the reason we came to Europe in the first place? Is the American soldier to be driven to the bottom of the social ladder now that the actual fighting is done, as he was after the last war?

I am a high point officer with a 15 month old daughter I have never seen. At present I am in an armored division in Germany—a division that was supposed to leave here Oct. 5, then Oct. 13, now Oct. 28. How many more delays will we have? Can the longshoremen answer that question or don't they want to? That makes me only one of 12,000 in one division. How many more in other divisions, depots, and camps all over Europe are in the same boat? Plenty, as can be seen!

AMERICANS LAST

BURMA, Oct. 20—I am in an outfit that's been over in this forsaken jungle for two years. That part is okay because there was a job to be done. Now it's done, and we are just sitting here. When we ask why they aren't taking us home the answer is: "Sorry, no transportation." Do you civilians back home know why?

Our planes are taking the Chinese soldiers home. Our trucks are taking the Indian troops home, and we sit here waiting. Private

"NO TRANSPORTATION"

MANILA, Oct. 22—I am writing from Manila, where I and thousands of others are being held because the big brass say, "There is no transportation." The Pacifican, our army newspaper, carries the statement by some big brass hat that "Liberty ships, tankers, and freighters are unsafe, unsanitary, and unfit for military personnel to go home on." Now, if that were true why were they used to transport us from island to island, while sometimes we stayed on them for 79 days without touching land? On our way up from New Guinea we lived that 79 days on C ration and slept on deck, or on anything on which we could be comfortable.

We understand the United States possesses the largest navy and air force. Then why isn't there enough transportation to at least start taking us who have been overseas for 33 months home?

Master Sgt. R. W. Black

THE TRUMAN DIVISION

MARINELES, Bataan, Luzon, Oct. 19—In this area the point system, as ill and weak as it is, is rapidly being replaced with petty army politics. It seems that points or age are not to be considered until a few favored divisions are on their way home.

The 86th, or Blackhawk division, now known here as the "Truman division," has been put ahead of all high point and over age men. Why? Not because of their 28 days of combat in Europe or for coming over here after the V-J parade was over. If not, why? The majority of men in this camp were in Europe two years, and were sent here with no stops in the United States.

REBUILDING MANILA

Chicago, Oct. 29—The administration's present economical plan for keeping thousands of homesick service men on the pay roll puts me in just the right mood to go "all out for war bonds."

The following is a quotation from a recent letter from my son who is a high point man rotting in Manila:

"Don't plan too much on me being home this Christmas. We are unloading boats filled with equipment for rebuilding Manila. They are not using civilian labor, you know, just us, because we can't strike. If we did there is another name for it in the army and you turn out to be just another accident.

"The officers can't bear to lose their rank, either, and they do—If too many of us men go home." A Mother

GERMANS SLAY 53 RELATIVES OF CHICAGO WOMAN

All but 3 of Her Kin in Poland Killed

The tragedy of the Jews in Poland, long a story of horror and terror, struck home yesterday when a Chicago woman learned that 53 of 56 members of her family in Warsaw had been killed by the Germans. Some of the victims died in gas chambers, some by torture and others were shot in the streets.

Mrs. Irene Szpidbaumowa

Mrs. Lonia Thoness, wife of the prominent Chicago designer, Dan Thoness, of 700 N. Michigan av., learned of the fate of her family thru a letter from her niece, Mrs. Irene Szpidbaumowa, who with her young son, Theodore, is starving, homeless, and ill after years in a German concentration camp.

Nurse Saves Her Son

A letter of stark grief, it was relieved only by the story of a heroic German nurse who saved the young Theodore from death at the risk of her own life and cared for him during the years his mother was in the concentration camp.

"Finally I can write to you even tho it gives me pleasure and terrible pain, because of what I have to tell you," the letter began. "I am left alone with my son and the niece of my husband, 8 years old. No one of my husband's family survives. My parents were taken from Warsaw in August, 1942, two days after my in-laws were taken. They all went to Treblinka where they died in the gas chambers.

"A month later my husband was taken to the same place. I have no idea what happened to my two brothers, one who was in the Polish army at the front and the other who was held in Bialystak by the Germans. My cousin, Rena, was killed by the Germans on the streets in 1941, shot. The finale of our family is very sad.

Without Even a Bed

"About myself, I am left alone with my child and Elsa, my husband's niece. I have no home, not even a bed. I wandered in Warsaw until taken to Germany alone. My child was taken care of by a German nurse for two years at the risk of her own life.

"All our possessions in Warsaw are gone. The Germans took all the machinery from our candy factory and then burned it. Our three story home was bombed and destroyed. I have no clothing, not even a dress in which to change. I have worn the same dress since my abduction to Germany. My uncle Peter was killed by the Germans by being beaten to death in the street. I and my son are all that are left. I hope that I may come to you to raise my son to be a man."

Upon receipt of this letter, the Thoness family began negotiations to bring their niece to America.

"I cannot think," Mrs. Thoness said. "This has been the most terrible shock of my life. I'm afraid that I will never be able to forget."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 5—Send Armistice Note

ON NOV. 5, 1918, a month long interchange of notes between the governments of the United States and Germany was climaxed with an American communication which informed the enemy that Marshal Foch had been authorized by the allied governments "to receive properly accredited representatives of the German government and to communicate to them terms of an armistice."

The previous Oct. 6 the new German chancellor, Prince Max of Baden, had yielded to the insistence of the German high command that, in view of the calamitous military situation and prospects, an offer of peace must be made.

Prince Max, thru the Swiss government, telegraphed to President Wilson a request for "the immediate conclusion of an armistice on land and water, and in the air." He said that the German government accepted Wilson's 14 points as a basis for peace negotiations.

[It was on Jan. 8, 1918, in a message to congress, that the President had enunciated his famous "points"—open covenants, freedom of the seas, removal of economic barriers between nations, reduction of armaments, adjustment of colonial claims, evacuation of Russia, evacuation of Belgium, cession of Alsace-Lorraine, readjustment of the Italian frontier, freedom for the peoples of Austria-Hungary, readjustment in the Balkans, freedom for non-Turkish parts of the Ottoman empire, the independence of Poland, and "a general association of nations."]

Several other notes followed in which the President sought to clarify certain points and to assure himself of the good faith of the German government and of its right to speak for the German people. Then there were consultations with America's allies, after which Wilson authorized the dispatch of the armistice note of Nov. 5.

The Germans took quick action. On the evening of Nov. 7 the armistice commission, under great white flags, passed thru the battle lines and proceeded to Foch's headquarters.

PUBLIC WORKS DISPLAY GIVES LOOK TO FUTURE

Exhibits illustrating the latest devices and ideas for airports, post-war safety and traffic, sanitary engineering, public works, and city planning went on display yesterday at the opening of the 51st annual Public Works congress of the American Public Works association.

Business sessions of the congress will begin today and continue thru tomorrow. Mayor Kelly will be the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting today. He will discuss Chicago's plans for post-war public works. The speaker at the banquet tonight will be Col. J. Carroll Cone, assistant vice president of Pan American Airways.

H. E. Babbitt, professor of sanitary engineering at the University of Illinois; Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing authority, and W. O. Jones, director of public works at Fort Worth, Tex., are among the speakers who will address other sessions today. The congress is meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

"Forewarned..."

By MARK MERIT

We have on our desk this morning what we believe is a very important booklet. It is written on the subject, "HOW TO PROTECT YOUR WAR BOND INVESTMENTS." It informs us that 85 million Americans hold war bonds. The booklet is issued by the Commodity Research Bureau, Inc., 82 Beaver Street, New York, and is copyrighted by them. It was prepared with the cooperation of the U. S. Treasury Department and the National Better Business Bureau. In our opinion, it is vitally important to anyone holding war bonds. It tells specifically how to protect the holder from loss and get the most out of his bonds.

A copy of this important message is being given to all of us in Schenley.

Those of us with memories of what occurred after World War I, when many of the holders of Liberty Bonds were swindled out of their savings by all sorts of get-rich-quick schemes, will congratulate the Commodity Research Bureau for its splendid efforts to encourage the holding of present war bonds to maturity—pointing out the profit to the holder, who becomes an instrumentality, in the meantime, in the fight against dreaded inflation.

We hope every man, woman and child in America will read, and heed, "HOW TO PROTECT YOUR WAR BOND INVESTMENTS."

FREE—Send a postcard or letter to MARK MERIT OF SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., 350 Fifth Ave., N. Y. I, N. Y., and you will receive a booklet containing reprints of earlier articles on various subjects in this series.

PALESTINE ARAB HITS ZIONISM, 'BUT NOT JEWS'

Problem Economic, Says League Delegate

JERUSALEM, Nov. 4 (AP)—Musa Bey el Alami, Palestine delegate to the Pan-Arab league, said today the Arab people would agree to additional Jewish immigration into Palestine if an impartial united nations body decided the country's economy could carry the load and if all allied nations also agreed to accept Jewish immigrants.

The Arab spokesman said it was political Zionism and not the "Jews as such" with which the Arabs disagreed. He asserted that Zionists mainly were concerned with the "number of immigrants" rather than what he said was the much more important problem of whether Palestine actually could absorb a large amount of additional immigration "and yet survive economically."

Claims False Economy

He claimed the Jewish experiment in Palestine was "built on a false economy" and criticized the Jews for segregating themselves in "water-tight Jewish communities."

"What we really resent," he said, "is the Zionists' refusal to disassociate their political aims from what they described as a humanitarian issue."

Musa Bey disclosed that in addition to the Arab offices now in Washington and London, others would be opened in New York and possibly in Chicago and San Francisco, so that the Arab views can be spread thruout the United States.

Curfew Is Extended

JERUSALEM, Nov. 4 (Reuters)—Curfew was extended in Palestine tonight when Maj. Gen. C. F. Loewen, Canadian-born military commander of northern Palestine, ordered every one to stay indoors between 5:30 p. m. and 5:30 a. m. in a wide area of his command.

The curfew imposed on all Palestine outside municipal boundaries on Thursday following widespread sabotage Wednesday night, applied only to vehicular traffic.

A dispatch from Tel Aviv states that a meeting of the municipal council tonight, Mayor Israel Rokach urged that steps be taken to prevent aggressive acts against British soldiers in Tel Aviv, who are "guests of the city" and against attempts to prevent police from carrying out their duty.

ENVOY SPREADS RED GOSPEL IN LEVANT STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

JERUSALEM, Nov. 4—Daniel Solod, Russian minister to Beirut, Lebanon, this week-end visited the Jazira district of southern Syria and the Syria-Iraq frontier. In the towns of El Kamishli and El Hazje, Solod promised the population he would report on the bad economic and social conditions to the Moscow government, stating that Russia would not tolerate any attack on the Syrian republic.

Before returning to Beirut, Solod conferred with the Syrian minister of commerce in Damascus. He told Syrian news men that Syria is free to conclude political and commercial agreements with Russia as it did with Britain and America.

Solod's activities are concentrated in Beirut, where the official soviet press bureau, made up of seven local editors and staff men, four Armenians, two Moslems, and one Christian Arab, is busy disseminating pro-Russian propaganda, articles, and news in the Lebanese press.

REVEAL U. S. SUB SANK U-BOAT IN JAVA LAST YEAR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—A 700 ton German submarine was sunk in the Pacific Nov. 10, 1944, by the United States submarine Flounder in the only submarine versus submarine sinking in that ocean during the war, the navy disclosed today.

The only similar action took place in the Atlantic when the United States submarine Herring sank a German U-boat in the Bay of Biscay.

The Pacific engagement occurred just north of Lombok Strait in the southern Sunda Islands, east of Java. The Flounder fired four torpedoes, scoring two hits. It was the first engagement of the Flounder's 4th war patrol, which began Oct. 27.

CITES M'ARTHUR CHANGE OF VIEW ON MERGER PLAN

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur was quoted by Gen. Kenney today as having said in 1943 that his opposition in 1932 to unification of the fighting forces was "the greatest mistake of my military career."

Gen. Kenney, war time commander of allied air forces in the Southwest Pacific, told a press conference here that when MacArthur was commander of army, navy, and air forces at New Guinea he sought MacArthur's views regarding the New Guinea setup and the general replied, "It's the only way."

Referring to MacArthur's opposition in 1932 to unification of the forces, Kenney said: "That's no reflection on MacArthur. He changed his mind. A lot of us have changed our minds since 1932."

PLEDGES RADIO TO AID SPREAD OF DEMOCRACY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, today pledged his organization's continued coöperation with the government "in protecting, enriching and disseminating democratic principles everywhere."

Miller spoke on an army program in response to war department tributes on radio's 25th anniversary.

He said: "It is thru our example—our actions, the thoughts and ideals which we express that the democratic spirit can best be spread abroad.

"And certainly American radio—both shortwave from this country and by army-operated transmitters overseas—can do much to sow the seeds of free enterprise and free speech thruout the world."

A New Fleet of TWENTY "SANTA" SHIPS
for Express Passenger and Freight Service to the CARIBBEAN and SOUTH AMERICA

Confident that a strong American Flag Merchant Marine is essential to our nation's hard-won sea power and to our peacetime foreign trade, Grace Line has nearly completed a new, fast, more efficient fleet of eighteen "Santa" ships (nine combination passenger and cargo liners of new design and nine freight vessels) which, together with the SANTA ROSA and the SANTA PAULA, will provide additional capacity for an anticipated increase in trade.

These new passenger and cargo liners will be fitted with air-conditioned passenger accommodations and will offer many facilities for enjoyment, recreation and comfort, including all outside rooms, each with private bath, and outdoor tiled swimming pools. The SANTA ROSA and SANTA PAULA, completely modernized, redecorated and refurnished will supplement these new vessels.

This new fleet of twenty modern "Santa" vessels will provide faster and more frequent service between Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific ports of the United States and ports on the Pacific coast of Central and South America, as well as between New York, Venezuela, Netherlands West Indies and Colombia.

Give Me Liberty!

The statement below, addressed to the loyal workers of Higgins Industries, Inc., New Orleans, La., is published here because we believe it holds special interest to every American citizen.

Higgins Industries, Inc., has voluntarily shut down shop because of the harassment of organized labor unions and government agencies.

This present and last strike called by the self-styled "elected" bargaining agents of the multitudinous crafts accepted for affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, has degenerated into violence, intimidation and sabotage. No matter what name has been applied to it—"lockout," "shutdown," "stoppage," or "fishing expedition"—this is the last strike at Higgins Industries, Inc.

The dream I had of educating these people to co-operate and produce an example, a yardstick that would prove that management and labor could get along together, degenerated into a nightmare.

On every occasion when speaking to labor groups I counseled moderation, clear thinking and wise leadership to make the peace obtained at such high costs worthwhile. I preached the same theories on many occasions before employer groups.

I have fought the good battle for labor. I will continue to stand for the rights of labor. I believe in organized labor and collective bargaining, but I do not believe in and will not support any isolated pressure group that is abusing organized labor and its membership.

I consider the Wagner Labor Act oppressive in its operation, and in the long run will do labor and American industry a disservice. Under that law, or its interpretation, an employer is powerless to effectively plead his own case. He is denied his constitutional right of free speech. He can be accused of any outrageous thing, or deed, or intent, by any labor representative, and if he dares to defend himself to the public, or to his own employees he is in danger of being found guilty of unfair labor practice.

The men who have been with this company have on many occasions been ordered to cease work, arbitrarily, by some steward or by some business agent, completely ignoring the bargaining contracts and agreements, or the orderly processes of settling disputes provided therein.

We had resigned ourselves to work out difficulties and possibly overcome them by conciliation and the processes of law, however inadequate and unjust; but within the last several days the stream of reports and visible evidences of assault on those men coming to work, threats and intimidations to their families, threats against their lives, plus acts of sabotage, have caused this management to come to an extreme decision that we hope will be so sacrificial and so soundly taken, that it will shock the law makers and those that have been abusing power; we have decided for these reasons and for the protection of the lives of our employees to call this terrible condition to the attention of the country by shutting down our manufacturing operations despite golden opportunities.

We have approximately $40,000,000 of orders on hand. If we were free of this threat, if we could be clear in our planning, we could take on more work to provide more jobs. It is a certainty that we could have provided more jobs, at equal or higher pay, than we did in our spectacular accomplishments during the war. Such an operation required cooperation of labor and management alike, but labor was found unable to meet this responsibility.

These alleged labor leaders have shown a callous disregard of the interests of their members and of the industries they were serving. They never recognized the fact that by helping improve the position of the company, or any other company they had dealings with, they would be assisting in creating works, better works, in providing better jobs at better pay.

Men that collect, handle and are custodians of immense amounts of money derived from dues and fees should be worthy of a bond! Does the rank and file know what disposition is being made of the immense amounts so collected?

These self-styled or self-elected bargaining agents have been misleading their membership. This strike was unquestionably called for their own self-perpetuation, and the workers are their scapegoats.

These business agents of the local crafts who have gained the support of the presidents of their international unions have influenced these responsible and serious men against this company, in face of the fact that I, the president of this company, overlooking all of the difficulties I was suffering from a local condition, gave support to organized labor, subscribing as I have always done to the rights and dignity of labor, and hoping that I could add sound, workable ideas to the principles of democracy.

Contrary to these pigmy men damaging organized labor, I am still the friend of labor and of organized labor, but from now on, I will support organized labor only provided labor itself does the sensible thing—to demand and elect that they be made responsible under the law, as is any other organization, and as I wrote President Truman in my letter of October 15th past: "All officers or agents of the union should be accountable for all initiation fees, dues, fines and collections, and such officers or agents should be commercially bonded."

Organized labor unions must be made responsible under law for their agreements and their contractual obligations, the same as any other commercial organization.

We have just finished an awful war. If the poor devils that got by without being killed cannot take a job without paying a tribute for it, then it is a futile victory.

Now, this company is a prosperous and a going concern with vast operations possible for it at the time of this decision. Its operation would have called for the employment of a great number of men vital for the prosperity of this community, this state, and this section of the country. But, under the conditions imposed on us the ambition to take chances to take on works to create jobs has been lost to us.

To the stockholders and management of this company, the chief incentive was to create good works, to provide jobs, and make a contribution to the welfare of this country. To do so we must meet payrolls; we have to be in a competitive position; we realize we cannot do so when dealing with pigmy-minded, vicious men.

So, spectacularly, we are going to act as the guinea pig, and call it "quits" rather than work under these impossible conditions. These grave decisions were arrived at when we had evidence that the power, unconstitutional or not, of various government agencies were combining and being directed in association with these local groups, fallaciously supported by their international presidents to coerce us into impossible working contracts.

Last year the War Labor Board said we had a justifiable, full and proper right to cancel the contract with the A. F. L. crafts; ridiculously at the same time, another branch of that board said that we must continue an association with those same people under the same conditions of the contract they said we had the right to cancel.

We submitted to indignities and arbitrary contradictions because we were manufacturing vital things needed for the winning of the war. When the war ended, we believe we very properly questioned the constitutional right of this wartime board to continue its domination over us.

Here recently, we have been put in an absolutely untenable position where another group of organized labor has contended they represent a majority of our workers and have been granted hearings by an organization set up under the Wagner Labor Act, but in the face of this the War Labor Board notified me yesterday that I was in contempt or in default, and would be shortly required to go to Washington again to debate clauses of a contract that that same war labor board said were properly cancelled;—this edict coming at a time when loyal workers are being assaulted or threatened with assault or worse; the placard carried by hired goons in front of my plant, brazenly denouncing and vilifying me, damning the company, threatening that they were going to ruin the company, and vocally broadcasting a boycott of the company!

After due deliberation, we came to the decision that we would free ourselves of this oppression. We cut the tentacles of the octopus, and like the Massachusetts Colonials that threw the tea overboard from the ships, by this act we will evidence our protest against bondage. The men at our plants, like the colonies, had no representation. They were denied the right of voting who would be their collective bargaining agents.

Five years ago a few people forced a union contract on me. The local power hounds, aided and abetted by government departments, have held our workers in bondage and forced them to pay; not taxes, but tribute—and to whom?

Now, I don't intend to emulate Patrick Henry, or go as far as he did. He said, "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death." We say for ourselves and our workers, "Give Us Liberty and Life," and the right of any man to take any job that is offered and he is qualified to take without tribute to any one.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 4 (AP)—The liner Queen Mary sailed today for New York with 11,400 United States troops and 174 civilian passengers on board. Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and Assistant United States State Secretary James Clement Dunn were among the passengers.

YOUTH TRAINING COSTS PUT NEAR 2 BILLION A YEAR

Bitter Fight Expected on Truman Plan

any plan by the army to have 1,500,000 men under arms in peace time, whether there is a conscription program or not."

Under the President's plan, young men would enter training upon their 18th birthday or upon graduation from high school, whichever is later, or at least before they are 20. The only exceptions would be those deemed totally unfit for physical or moral reasons.

The reserve force would remain separate from both the regular army and navy with its members wearing a distinct uniform. Reservists' pay would probably be below that of regulars and they would be assigned to training areas apart from army and navy posts.

The expenses of the program would include the pay, clothing, food, equipment, transportation of the conscripts as well as the cost of the supervising officers drawn from the ranks of the regulars and reserves. Present estimates indicate that the two services would detail nearly 195,000 commissioned and noncommissioned officers to the training tasks.

$205 Per Man Food Bill

The food bill for each man would be approximately $205 a year or a total of nearly 120 millions. It is estimated that the clothing expense would be upwards of 150 millions.

As training grounds, the services plan to utilize the existing war time establishments as far as possible, particularly those built in southern states because of a better year around climate. Much of the equipment, at least in the early years of the training program, would be drawn from existing war time stores.

LONDON, Nov. 4—Faced with the worst crime wave since World War I., Britain's police are moving to enlist the general public in a crime fighting campaign.

Scotland Yard's records show all types of crimes have increased by nearly 10,000 in September and October. There have been six violent murders in the last two weeks to climax the soaring number of raids on jewelry store windows, shop and housebreaking burglaries, shoplifting, holdups, and attacks on women and girls.

Scotland Yard is beginning a radio, newspaper, and billboard campaign to make the public more crime conscious and quicker to notify the police when they see anything suspicious. Special radio programs will educate the public about the police emergency alarm system. Scotland Yard officials also will take to the microphone to enlist civilian recruits.

'PILOT ON TOKYO TO U. S. FLIGHT VISITS CHICAGO

Lt. Col. Michael McCoy, who piloted one of the B-29s on the nonstop Tokyo-Washington flight last week, passed thru Chicago last night aboard a United Airlines plane en route for his home in Los Angeles, to see his wife and three daughters.

He is on his first leave since he enlisted in the British air force in 1939. He was transferred to the American air forces in 1942. He holds the air medal, bronze star, British service ribbon, and ribbons for all allied theaters of operation.

Prior to 1939, Lt. Col. McCoy operated a flying school in Los Angeles.

THREE CHILDREN FOUND IN FLAT; MOTHER ABSENT

Three children ranging in age from 1 to 4 were found locked in a four room apartment at 1916 S. Throop st. last night by Maxwell st. police, who were summoned by neighbors.

They are Anna Mae Webb, 1; Roy Webb, 2, and Lanny Webb, 4, children of Mrs. Mary Webb, 21. Mrs. Webb's husband, police said, is a service man now overseas.

Police took Anna Mae and Roy to St. Vincent's orphanage and turned Lanny over to Mrs. Webb's sister, Miss Helen Rohlik, who lives at 1901 S. Throop st. They stationed a detail in the Webb flat to await Mrs. Webb's return.

Detectives William Hansen and Eugene Spain of the Maxwell st. station said they received a complaint one night last week that Mrs. Webb had gone out, leaving her children unattended.

Shake hands with Private Jones

Go ahead, grasp it . . . if he can stand it, you can!

The war is over, you know.

Or, is it?

A man who lost a hand in battle will go on making payments on Victory for the rest of his life. You'll meet him on the street soon, in civilian clothes—and he'll meet you or anyone else on even terms, no favors asked.

But give him a break.

He's been fighting, not making money. You can outbid him on the goods that are so scarce now—but don't do that. You'll simply force prices up so that you won't get your money's worth and he won't get the things he really needs.

*Following the Victory Loan, the sale of E, F and G Savings Bonds will continue through regular authorized agencies and through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Make what you have do awhile longer. Put your money into Victory Bonds, to help pay for the medical treatment he's had and will have, to come back to you in ten years with interest, with far greater purchasing power than it has now.

This is the last Bond Drive—the Victory Loan.* Put everything you have into this great American effort—and your country's noblest purpose.

STRIKING PUPILS' PARENTS IN GARY DEMAND ACTION

Ask Change in Allocation of Negro Students

Parents of striking Froebel High school pupils in Gary last night demanded a showdown with the school board on their demand that the board enunciate a definite policy with regard to the allocation of Negro students to various Gary high schools.

Frank Spychalski, attorney for the parents' committee of 13, addressing a massmeeting attended by 400 parents and striking white students in Spanish castle, a meeting hall, 11th av. and Van Buren st., in Gary, said the board must make a clear cut statement of its policy at the board meeting Tuesday night, "or else." The "or else" was not clarified.

One All-Negro School

Gary has one all-Negro high school, Roosevelt. Parents of the striking Froebel students assert that Negro pupils in the Emerson and Tolleston districts are being sent to Froebel High school, instead of to schools in the districts where they reside.

John Jadrnak, chairman of the parents' committee of 13, charged the CIO with interfering "in issues that do not concern it."

He also assailed the trustees of the Rosenwald fund for bringing Frank Sinatra to Gary to address high school pupils.

Joseph Lach, a member of the parents' committee of 13, who was accused by Sinatra of instigating the strike, intimated that he may seek legal redress.

Makes Thrust at Sinatra

"I have been asked what my intentions are," he told the meeting, "I am not talking, but I will say this, that the next time Sinatra comes back to Gary it may be against his wishes and he might have to listen instead of talk."

John Yovich, another member of the parents committee, said the committee had been meeting informally with city officials and the school board seeking to arrive at some clarification of the board's policy. It was pointed out that the parents are not asking segregation of Negroes.

Spychalski praised the striking students for having avoided any violence.

"The real issue here is that our associations in our social life should be voluntary, not forced," he said. "This is not Froebel's problem alone. It is a problem of the whole nation.

"We intend to have this definitely settled by Wednesday night [when the parents will meet again] or not at all. The consequences will have to be shouldered by those who refuse to coöperate."

Leonard Levenda, 17, leader of the striking students, asked for and received a vote of confidence from the parents attending the meeting.

DOGS BLOCKED IN SEARCH FOR MISSING BOY, 3

Downieville, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP)—Hope for the safety of 3 year old Dickie tum Suden dwindled today as two trailing dogs appeared unable to pick up the scent of the child, who disappeared in the rugged, pine studded Sierra Nevada mountains four days ago.

The search for the son of the wealthy and socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. Joseph tum Suden was renewed at dawn, with 215 soldiers from Camp Beale, Cal., commanded by Maj. Leonard Abbott, aiding civilians and local authorities.

The trailing dogs early today were led to a spot west of the Tum Suden home where a child's footprints had been found. The dogs appeared unable to pick up a trail.

Dickie was last seen playing in the yard of the family home Thursday morning.

CHOIR DIRECTOR AT GREAT LAKES ACCEPTS PULPIT

The Rev. Hjalmar F. Hanson, navy lieutenant commander during the war who founded and trained the famed Great Lakes Bluejacket choir, yesterday was formally inducted as pastor of Moreland Lutheran church, Lotus av. and Huron st., in a service conducted by the Rev. Jesse E. Thorson, president of the Chicago circuit, Norwegian Lutheran church. Chaplain Hanson recently announced that with the aid of his 15 assistant conductors of the Bluejacket choir he will assemble choir alumni in various cities and make the Chicago Music Festival each summer the focus of the alumni groups. He said there are 1,000 former choir members in Chicago. The alumni choirs, he said, will be organized on a strictly nondenominational basis, just as was the choir at Great Lakes.

Christians and Jews Round Table Starts Series of Teas Today

To introduce to women thruout Chicago the interfaith and intergroup good will program of the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews, the women's committee of the organization will open its annual series of good will teas with two parties this afternoon. The first of these will be given in the home of Mrs. Margaret Pope Hovey, 399 Fullerton pkwy., with Miss Thecla Doniat and Mrs. Harry L. Canman as co-hostesses. Mrs. Augustine J. Bowe, women's committee chairman, will speak.

The Temple B'nai Zion, 1447 Pratt blvd., will be the setting for the second party, with the Temple Sisterhood as hostesses. At the latter gathering, Jewish, Catholic and Protestant viewpoints on the theme, "Peace Begins on Our Street," will be presented by Rabbi Irving Rosenbaum of the Anti-Defamation league; Robert Burns of the Catholic Youth organization, and the Rev. Arthur Gray, minister of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Mrs. David Wodlinger originated the small informal gatherings in homes thruout the city, and this year is planning 50 such parties. Twenty-five teas were held last year.

Red Cross to Open New Class in Home Service Tomorrow

BY REA SEEGER

The initials W. H. W. on a label in a new line of children's clothes will make a lot of difference to mothers to whom shopping is a bewildering experience. For these initials mean weight, height, and waist measure, and beside each will be the numbers that will help in providing perfect fit and comfort for youngsters. All you will need is the exact measurements of your own offspring when you shop. That means you will not have to drag protesting youngsters along on buying trips.

This printing of sizes on labels has been undertaken as the result of a poll of some 147,000 youngsters thruout the country. It seems foolproof as these very moderately priced clothes for rugged every day wear have been designed, cut, and finished in enough different sizes of weight, height, and waist measurement to fit the average assortment of youngsters, from fat, pudgy little moppets to long legged rangers. Just shop with the measurements of your own progeny and everything will be serene.

You will find shorts, slacks, miniature battle jackets, shirts, and very masculine visor caps in two materials, a sanforized oxford cotton and a cotton corduroy, and both are color-fast. Added to that, the fabrics have been processed to be dirt and stain resistant, so it is possible to wipe away spots without sending the clothes to the laundry. The colors most effective are a neutral gray, a russet or buckskin shade, and two shades of blue, light and dark. All are mixed and matchable. The little sister stuff provides a whiff of the past, for one outfit is a 1945 version of the good old Peter Thompson suit—plaited skirt and pull over middy blouse, complete with white tape trim. Little brother can also be outfitted in a companion sailor suit, with tiny shorts and the same sort of sailor blouse.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 4—Dore Schary is jubilant about getting Guy Madison, Robert Mitchum, and William Williams in "The Dream of Home." Said he, "Before another year rolls around it would take a fortune to get those three fellows in the same picture." . . . Michael Todd has done a nice bit of teaming with Martha Raye opposite Bert Lahr for his New York play. Do you know why Martha, who used to be one of our finest ballad singers, has that husky voice? Against her doctor's orders, she sang when she had laryngitis. That did it. But it sounds good. . . . Joan Crawford and Phil Terry stop off in Wisconsin to visit the Alfred Lunts on their way home from New York. . . . "Concerto," pardon—"I've Always Loved You," may have a special showing at Carnegie Hall in February. From Republic to Carnegie hall in one year! . . . It must be love. Brenda Heiser goes on the set daily to watch Johnny Weissmuller act. . . . Rory Calhoun is colonizing at the Colony house. One night he's there with Lana Turner, and the next with Jeanne Crain.

Btter Late than Never

I was rather amazed at Sister Kenny's statement made at a luncheon party R. K. O. and Rosalind Russell gave her. She said, "I am happy the picture was not made three years ago when it first was planned because, now that doubt and uncertainty of the Sister Kenny treatment have been removed, I feel that a much more vivid picture can be presented." Three years ago there was no doubt in my mind, or in Sister Kenny's mind, or in Miss Russell's mind that her treatments had saved much suffering. I've had too many proofs of it, but the picture was not made, and this statement from Sister Kenny is rather a strange alibi. . . . The Robert Youngs have a fourth daughter—just like the Eddie Cantors. Well, Bob and Barbara are still "young." . . . David Butler takes a New York taxi driver, who shows the sights to a visiting prince, under his wing in the story, "A Guy from Milwaukee," an original by Charles Hoffman. . . . Bob Crosby recorded 24 songs and sent them to the boys he left behind in the South Pacific.

Good News and a Reaction

Frank Capra gets James Stewart for his first picture, "It's a Wonderful Life." After I wrote about Jimmy the other day, Capra sent me this note: "Most ex-service men are scared to death the public has forgotten them. They're amazed at how the fans have lionized 4-Fs . . . A good many of them feel that the public is weary of uniforms and that this will react against them. It's a pity if the careers of some of these public figures were to be jeopardized because they answered their country's call. This applies not only to actors, but writers, directors, camera men, and other technicians, who are worried silly about their future after several years' absence. They are bewildered by the new faces, new directors, etc., so a word of encouragement now and again would do wonders for the low spirits of many confused guys."

A Photo Finish for the Boss

Bing Crosby and Leo McCarey, when they finished "Bells of St. Mary's," showed it to Bossman Charles Koerner. He was crazy about it till they came to the finish, and there was Bing doing a fadeout kiss with Ingrid Bergman—he playing a priest and she a nun. Well, Koerner didn't want to say he didn't like it, but he went around the lot asking everybody what they thought; if it could remain in. He learned that the whole thing was Leo's and Bing's idea of a rib. The next day they showed the picture [just as it was] to their technical adviser—a priest. He fainted.

Colorful, to Say the Least

Sabu, wearing a red turban, tells me he'll be off to London soon to visit old friends. I remember the day he arrived there; he rode down Piccadilly on the biggest elephant I've ever seen. His war record is excellent, but he refuses to grow tall. . . . Joan Barry is so happy these days. She's off to Youngstown, O., where she has a two weeks' singing engagement in a night club, and lots of bookings ahead. She said, "I can't tell you how kind everybody has been to me. I'm so grateful." . . . Mildred Natwick couldn't find a room in New York, so she's living in Baltimore and commuting. . . . Killer Gray, George Raft's constant companion, gets a good break in "Nocturne." He's got our idle actors howling.

Thru the Looking Glass

A good cleansing cream, swift and efficient, is something to cherish, and when you find one that suits your needs exactly you prize it above pearls. Recently we've been experimenting with one, not really a newcomer, and have been so enormously pleased with it we wish we had got around to it earlier.

It's pure white, fluffy and light as whipped cream, and scented with a fragrance reminiscent of a country garden. We particularly like the texture and feel of the cream. It isn't gooey or sticky feeling but rather seems pleasant and clean to the touch. This can be used as a quick kind of cleanser when you're in a hurry and want to do a rapid cleanup job. Just smear a few dabs of it strategically about the face and then work it all around. It spreads readily and loosens makeup and grime in a jiffy. You can tissue it off in a few seconds and have a nicely cleansed surface that doesn't feel oily or greasy. We think it's a fine cream for the business girl to keep on hand for use during the day when the face needs freshening.

When you have time and want to be leisurely about creaming, you can work it around slowly, letting the oils sink in to help soften and soothe the skin. Use it in this manner at night when you're giving your complexion a good, thoro, before bed time shine up.

You can buy the cream in several different size jars, but we think you'll enjoy using it so much you'll want to have one of the bigger ones to keep well supplied.

With colder weather most of us fall back on cream cleansings more frequently when the skin becomes sensitive, and if you're befuddled about a choice of preparation, we'd suggest you look this one up.

Wise Parents Do Not Nag to Get Obedience

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

One of the finest teachers I ever knew, who handled to perfection big classes of 7th and 8th grade boys in what was known as the toughest section of her city, never scolded and never raised her voice. She had a friendly smile and a twinkle in her eye, and the boys all liked her. She became principal, and one day I overheard her talking to one of her teachers:

"All that may be so, Miss Black, but when you have had a little more experience as a teacher you will realize the truth of what I've been saying."

"I realize, Mrs. Wilson, that as principal of this high school you have had many disciplinary problems to meet and solve, but this boy of whom we have been speaking is different. No matter how much I scold him, he continues to make trouble in class."

"I understand all that, but scolding and faultfinding, Miss Black, are not the way to manage the adolescent boy and girl in any high school, or in any home for that matter. They resent this method of discipline. You can never make real headway by constantly pointing out their faults to teen-age young persons."

A wise and intelligent principal. I said to myself when I overheard the above conversation. This woman was a quiet, forceful, but friendly personality who had gained the cooperation of hundreds of adolescent boys and girls. Faultfinding certainly has not been the basis on which she had built up her reputation for success with children.

Parents who are worried about their adolescent son or daughter might do well to pause and give this a thought. We cannot constantly point out a child's failings and expect to accomplish anything. We must figure out some other way to reach a friendly understanding with him.

Suppose, instead of keeping at him, we sit down some evening and have a talk with our child, a friendly talk, a talk that makes our boy or girl realize that he or she is a responsible individual toward whom we look for help in our home problems, and even on matters which concern them. Talk to them on your level, not down to theirs. That encourages coöperation.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Appreciation

White collar girls are prone to feel their best efforts pass unnoted. The following poem, printed in part, was written by a personnel director for a business organization. The title is: "Memo to the Historians."

Thru its daily swift routine
Moved the office; each machine
Kept at work, thru thick and thin
By an unsung heroine.
Hands in skilled manipulation —
In transcription, in dictation;
Sorting, checking, filing, then Another day. Begin again.
Figures here to calculate;
Check the new delivery date;
Press the keys; retype the stencil
With these changes. Move the pencil
Swiftly on the green-lined page
[Youngster, suddenly of age!]
Where her bars and Purple Heart
For gallant service from the start—
Thru the anxious months between—
Months of work behind the scene
Of battle glory and of death
Waiting news with bated breath?
Where the medals for her breast
For the task she does the best?

Check with care the Honor List
There are some you may have missed.

Kindest Regards

As a teacher in business English I've come to the conclusion the tapering off of the business tone of a letter with "Kindest regards" or "Best regards" is a friendly way of injecting a personal note into an otherwise formal ending. You might tell the inquiring WCG that numerous letter writers indorse its use. C. A.

A group of young business women in Italy is reorganizing the Italian Federation of Business and Professional women—one of the largest groups in Europe before the war. . . . Also, the Paris federation is rebuilding, aided by one of our American business women. . . . Railroading white collar girls [with the help of some white collar boys] sang their theme song, "The Great Rock Island Route," over the radio last week. What began as a morale booster has turned into a full fledged chorus.

Have you ever heard about the "Bluebird Club" of WCG's who have vacationed at Bluebird Cottage, Boulder, Colo.? This vacation home for working girls, begun in 1910 by a Chicago woman, has housed 5,000 girls in the cottage and lodge.

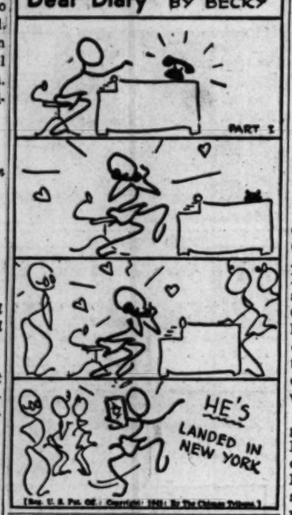
Dear Diary BY BECKY



Charlo Byars Presented in Song Recital

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG

In a number of important ways the song recital of Charlo Byars at Kimball hall last night differed from the mine run of such events.

Miss Byars, to begin with, is obviously a better musician than the average Kimball hall recitalist. She also exhibits better taste in the selection of a program, has individual and commendable ideas as to its arrangement, has an uncommonly good voice, and, when not hampered by nerves, employs it with intelligent skill.

The vocal qualities of the singer rose on an ascending plane thruout the evening; the musical properties were fairly constant. At its best Miss Byar's voice is of ample body, and appealing in quality. It lacked breath support in the opening group of little known songs by Richard Trunk, yet in spite of this handicap the attractive songs were interestingly presented. Coloratura passages proved a considerable hazard in Purcell's "I Attempt from Love's Sickness to Fly" and "With Verdure Clad," from Haydn's "The Creation," but by this time the sustained singing of the old English "Have You Seen but a White Lillie Grow" and "Porgi amor" from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," had settled down to an agreeable mean.

Of the songs in English, Samuel Barber's "A Nun Takes the Veil" caught a moment of subtle drama, and the first performance of Roy Harris' setting of Carl Sandburg's "Fog" was brief but arresting in its deft deployment of dissonance. The best singing and the best rounded interpretations came at the very end, with Hugo Wolf's "Gebet" and "Das Verlassene Mägdlein," and Mahler's "Wo die schönen Trompeten blasen" and "Wer hat dies Liedlein erdacht."

Robert MacDonald was in his best form, which means excellent accompaniments.

French Envoy to Be Guest at Chicago Party

BY JUDITH CASS

THE arrival of the French ambassador to the United States, Henri Bonnet, and Mme. Bonnet for a two day visit in Chicago late this month will be the occasion for a large dinner which American Relief for France and France Forever will give for them at 7:30 o'clock on Nov. 29 in the Casino club. Just before M. Bonnet left for London to attend a conference, he accepted the invitation of the two organizations to entertain on the only evening the Bonnets will be in the city.

Officers and directors of the two groups, headed by Mrs. Walter R. Kirk and Louis H. G. Bouscaren, co-chairmen of American Relief for France, and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, president of France Forever, will welcome guests to the Casino that night. The event will be the first joint party given by the two groups.

American Relief, a newcomer to the circle of French societies, has been growing rapidly, organizing groups thruout the city and suburbs to sew and knit for the needy French population. Every Thursday the relief group sends hundreds of pounds of new and used clothing, vitamins, and soap from its headquarters at 332 S. Michigan av. to a New York warehouse, whence the packages are shipped to the organization's depot in Paris for distribution.

On the Calendar

Another distinguished visitor who will be welcomed to Chicago is Marshal Arthur W. Tedder of the royal air forces, who as deputy commander to Gen. Eisenhower was second in command of all allied forces in the European theater of operations. Marshal Tedder, who is arriving from England on the invitation of the United States army, will be accompanied on his tour by his wife and Maj. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada of the army air forces. The night of their arrival, Nov. 13, the Chicago branch of the English-Speaking union will entertain at dinner in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel, with a reception preceding.

James B. Forgan will introduce Marshal Tedder, who will make an after-dinner address. Mrs. John Crerar will be hostess for the evening. The Tedder party will leave the following day on a speaking tour but will return to Chicago for the weekend.

Debutante News

The Paul C. Harpers, who have been house hunting, will take time out from getting settled in the apartment they hope to find to introduce their daughter, Lindsay, to society during the Christmas holidays. The Harpers sold their Evanston home last January when they moved to New York. They have returned to Chicago to live and are temporarily at the Ambassador.

As soon as the Harpers are established permanently, they will decide on the date for a holiday tea or eggnog party for their daughter, who attends Bryn Mawr college. One of the bud's brothers, Capt. Paul C. Harper Jr. of the marines, has just landed on the west coast after a year in the Pacific and will be home to take part in the festivities. Before he left Guam, Capt. Harper had a reunion there with his brother, Lt. John Harper of the marines. Guam also was the scene of the senior Mr. Harper's service before receiving his discharge from the marines, in which he held the rank of major. He participated in the landings on that island.

Today's Events

When members of the Evanston Junior league meet for luncheon today in the Orrington hotel to discuss plans for a post-war project, they will have received blue and shocking pink invitations to the league's "Thrift House ball" on Nov. 24 in the Michigan Shores club. One of the gayest features of the party will be a grand march at midnight during which guests will take off accessories or garments destined for the Thrift house, the league's resale shop, and place them in a pile. Some item must be donated each time around the room, and the person who stays longest in the parade, or, in other words, who has the most clothing to donate, will receive a basket of champagne.

The league is casting about for a new Evanston project. Working on a committee to determine how the league best can serve the city are several league members who have done outstanding work in the organization as well as in civic matters. They are Miss Halen Chapman, Mrs. John A. Turner, Mrs. John J. Louis, Miss Marian Carpenter, Mrs. Gordon Canning, Mrs. Drennan Slater, Mrs. Harold Yegge, and Mrs. Alfred Taylor.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra board will meet in its headquarters today to discuss plans for a benefit party which will be given in the near future. Luncheon in the Woman's Athletic club will follow the meeting.

Last minute plans for a benefit cocktail party which the Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society will give on Nov. 9 in the Saddle and Cycle club will be completed today at a board meeting in the Evanston home of Mrs. Enos E. Troyer.

The annual luncheon and bridge party of the woman's Auxiliary of the La Rabida Jackson Park sanitarium will take place at 12:30 p. m. today in the Gold room of the newly reopened Congress hotel.

Wedding News

Mrs. George B. Everitt Jr. will be matron of honor for her sister, Miss Virginia Calvert Taylor, when the latter is married to Capt. William MacDonald Milne Jr. of the marine corps reserve in a small ceremony at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the chapel of the First Methodist church in Evanston. A reception will follow in Glenna hall. Capt. Milne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milne of Evanston, will have his father as best man. His cousin, Mrs. Albert Ray Hogg Jr., is here from Atlanta, Ga., to be bridesmaid. Ushering will be Lt. Comdr. Donald Hayward of the naval reserve, Capt. Roger Lane of the army, and Capt. Curt Reimann of the marines. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Taylor of Winnetka.

Mr. Proctor attended Dartmouth college and was commissioned at Columbia university.

In a recent ceremony in the post chapel at Love field, Tex., Miss Annette Lovejoy of Round Lake, daughter of John J. Lovejoy of N. Cullom av., became the bride of Lt. John P. Burkett of the air transport command. Following a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burkett of Waukegan, Lt. Burkett and his bride will travel to the west coast, where he will leave for overseas duty. Lt. Burkett has been awarded the distinguished flying cross, the air medal, and the Philippine liberation ribbon during his service in the Pacific.

From Newton, Mass., comes the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bevan of the marriage on Oct. 28 of their daughter, Elaine, to Lt. [j. g.] Richard Graffy of the naval air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Graffy of Bell av. The wedding took place in the Church of Our Lady in Newton. Lt. Graffy, who has just returned from 13 months of duty in the Pacific, and his bride will live in Cambridge, Mass., where he will study for his master's degree in naval aeronautics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His bride is a graduate of Radcliffe college.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cable of Laramie st. announce the marriage on Oct. 19 in New York of their daughter, Virginia, to William T. Hope Jr., of Irvington, N. J., son of Mr. Hope of Brooklyn, N. Y. The wedding took place in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity, New York. Mr. Hope and his bride, who attended the Art institute of Chicago, are at home in Irvington.

ON THE AISLE

Bruno Walter Restores an Orchestra's Stature and Moves an Audience to Cheers and Tears

When the gods give you a concert like Bruno Walter conducted at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon to benefit the Chicago Symphony orchestra's pension fund, you pick your way carefully thru a torrent of words that could drown you in an incoherent flood. For it was a great concert and as such too rare to be met on common terms of praise. It came from and went straight to the mind and the heart, and tho it won the orchestral "tusch," the standing tribute, and applause that rose to an explosion of long pent up cheers, its true tribute came from an audience so moved it refused to leave when the concert was over, but stood as if in a spell, tears touching its eyes.

For this was one of the milestones of our orchestra's career, and by far the finest concert it has played since the death of Frederick Stock. There have been good concerts conducted by Hans Lange, and there have been brilliant concerts at Ravinia with gala guests. But Ravinia doesn't really count because it employs only a part of the orchestra in inferior acoustics. Orchestra hall is our orchestra's home and it was there under Mr. Walter's direction that it took on olympian stature. The combination of such a concert and the receptive mood of a music hungry audience were the chemicals of spontaneous combustion. So fiercely did the fire of music blaze that several exhalted victims said they weren't quite sure they could stand such an experience once a week. Knowing perfectly well that all of us would barter our musical souls for a chance to try it.

For the spirit has a hunger no less deep than the body's, and I was unable to hazard a guess as to which was more richly fed by that concert, the audience or the orchestra. Call it a feast to which we came at a giant's bidding, a giant of such stature he knows music's worth and gives it a conductor's supreme devotion by permitting it to speak for itself.

Working without score, every note secure in the keeping of a noble mind and heart, Mr. Walter restored our orchestra to and perhaps beyond remembered glories. Its tone was layers deep, lustrous, luminous, sheathed in the supple silk of technique that could turn an exquisite phrase or catapult thunderbolts. Its playing was clean and clear, so instantly responsive it seemed, as an orchestra should, one sensitive instrument for the communication of music.

For Mr. Walter is a great conductor in the only sense of the term worth its salt, which is that because of him we hear great music. The "Egmont" Overture was towering Beethoven with its head in the stars. The "Jupiter" Symphony was the most exquisite Mozart, mellow, felicitous, filled with an inner radiance. And then Mr. Walter came to Wagner and Brahms, two of our orchestral strong points in richer days. What happened? Well, never before have I heard such a performance of the Siegfried Idyl. It was a reverie in the Wagnerian dusk, where at a faint gesture of the conductor's hand the orchestra was ruffled by a vagrant breeze. I don't know how else to describe that lovely tremor of tone that ran thru it with such breath-catching beauty.

As for Brahms' Second Symphony, I wonder how many others felt Stock's spirit near? For this was his Brahms of fiercely indomitable spirit, intensely dramatic, charged with a heady splendor. You can't call what happened after that applause. It's an explosion of pent-up emotions released by a time fuse.

Music can be like that. So thank you, Bruno Walter, for restoring, even for one brief concert, the Chicago Symphony orchestra. We have missed it more than you may know.

INSTALMENT I.

NEW JOB

It was the afternoon of Oct. 24 that Miss Bolles of Turrets made her entry into the Wyfforde canteen. Nodding curtly to the three lady toilers, she accosted the efficient one in blunt, autocratic tones.

"Is it true, Mrs. Fleming, that your young American niece wishes to find useful employment?"

Jill Fleming cast a look at the tall tweed clad presence. It did not astonish her that all Wyfforde knew she was handing the canteen over from today to the vicar's wife and taking on a supervisory post in Liverpool, but who had told Miss Bolles about Avis' mulish determination to seek temporary work?

"My niece is only fit for light duties," Jill said cautiously. "She hasn't quite pulled up from that operation. Of course, when she's allowed, she means to rejoin her Red Cross unit, so it can't be more than a stop-gap."

"Companion-housekeeper to my sister and myself," broke in Miss Bolles, gruffly. "What," she flung, "can be lighter than that?"

Warily Mrs. Fleming replied that while her niece was thoroly competent, had in fact gone in for domestic science, one couldn't give an answer off-hand. "Hadn't you better see Avis herself?"

"I intend doing so," Miss Bolles snapped. "Kindly inform her that I shall call at Bracken within the hour."

Bracken, a long, low beam and plaster cottage, stood in its spacious garden a short distance out of the town. Its ground touched the shaven lawn of the Cottage hospital, and lately the hospital had been enlarged. Since raid casualties had been pouring in, there was work enough for six. Jill thought how nice it would have been if, while she was responding to the latest call-up, Avis, needing a warm nest, could have gone on sheltering here.

Walter's motherless kid, suddenly appearing over this side, in her Red Cross uniform. Getting ill on her second week-end visit to Bracken, being rushed next door to the operating table at 4 in the morning, convalescing slowly. Was it possible she was nearly 24? Her mind was mature. Jill's three boys were serving their dead father's country.

Baffled, Jill Fleming glared at her small boned, transparently blonde niece. So slim, so ethereal—except when, as now, she was making her chin really tough. Of course Walter's child would form her own decisions. O, Jill groaned viciously, if only this beloved Bracken weren't being snatched from over their two heads!

"You're crazy," Avis told her aunt. "How much longer would you expect me to go on lolling on my perfectly good spine? You're leaving, so you might just as well be getting rent from a couple of nice clean doctors. These Bolles sisters are lousy with money, aren't they? Didn't you tell me the elder one just about rules the roost?"

"Maud? O, yes, she runs pretty well all there is to run this end of the county. She simply tells us what to do. Amusing, tho you mightn't see it. Because the Bolles family aren't County at all. Woolen manufacturers—or were. One very rarely sees Erica, mild invalid seems the general idea. There's an odd rumor concerning Maud. Of recent years she's said to be growing close-fisted, mean."

Avis suggested that maybe the Bolles ladies had lost their money, but her aunt hooted in scorn.

"Don't you believe it!"

"Wait! Avis held up her hand. "Am I dreaming, or aren't these the people who've got the tunnel you told me about, running under their land?"

"The tunnel! O, yes, their great-grandfather had it dug to . . . O," Jill mouthed, "she's here!"

"Humph," Miss Bolles observed measuringly. "Really young. My sister will be pleased."

Avis said: "Do please sit down," and proceeded to take mental stock of the local autocrat's appearance. About 58, she decided, with crisp, naturally wavy gray hair, a well weathered complexion, and a long, uncompromising upper lip. Tall, carrying herself with arrogance. Dressed in a brownish tweed suit by no means new but of superior fabric and competent cut. Her hat was the typical affair.

"Well!" Miss Bolles resumed. "I understand that, most commendably, it is your wish, Miss Marriott, to engage in some manner of useful work till such time as you are medically fit to return to your nursing."

"That's right," Avis said.

"You won't go running back to America?" asked Miss Bolles.

"Not until the peace is signed. But it's only fair to say that by next April or May——"

"Quite so. Six months, that will be. Hum," consideringly.

Miss Bolles with terse clarity began emphasizing the necessity of securing some suitable person at once for the post she had named.

"You see what I mean?"

Hazily, Avis gathered something about a couple of guests and—evidently a bitter pill—a slum family of evacuees. Over the speaker's shoulder Avis had a view of Aunt Jill, out in the herbaceous border, talking to a tall, lean man, who had that minute roamed over from the white hospital buildings. This was Dr. Bruce, the actual hospital head. The other doctor was stocky, taciturn, and intensely shy.

It was all fixed up. Mrs. Fleming, with a despairing shrug, had raced up to count her towels and sheets while Avis remained behind to give the doctor a glass of sherry. Dr. Bruce seemed amused.

"What's funny?" Avis demanded.

"Me?"

"In conjunction with the Turrets, yes."

He smiled down at her. Sipping his sherry, he said. "Don't go."

She was struck dumb with astonished indignation.

"Sorry!" he muttered. "I've no earthly business sticking in my oar. That appendix of yours was a fairly ugly affair. He wanted you to take it easy for quite a long spell yet."

"Yes, and haven't you seen me sun bathing all summer on this lawn? Are these Bolles females patients of yours?"

Only the younger one, he informed her. "That's that, then. You'll go, I take it, immediately after your aunt's departure. Are they sending a car?"

It hadn't been suggested "What's three miles? I can bike. No, I'm forgetting my bags. O, I expect The Bull can still rake up some sort of car."

Dr. Bruce was thumbing thru a jammed diary taken from an inside pocket.

"Six do you? On the dot, mind. Be ready, I'll run you round."

CONCLUSION

Mr. Izenga was grimly content. He was glad Toby saw things that way, and Erica, too. Mrs. Pomeroy had paid dearly enough for her folly. Some one stumbled down the hall, clinging to it and weaving dizzily.

"Why doesn't anybody ever tell me when there's things going on in this house?" he mumbled. "Is that coffee?"

"Yes."

"Is it safe to drink? The police told me not to drink or eat anything till they said it was safe. Uncle Ridge brought me a glass of whisky, but I was afraid to touch it. Why do I feel so goofy?"

Erica went over and took his arm. She led him to a chair and gave him the coffee Toby poured.

"You're all right, Uncle Bennet. You were given a sedative by the police. You'll be swell in the morning. Cheer up, Lucianna's gone."

"That's right," Bennet smiled peacefully. "I forgot." He sipped coffee and seemed to wake up. Turning abruptly on Toby, he said, "I didn't buy that ring, you know. I was dead to the world the day after mother was attacked. I slept till noon. Uncle Ridge was in and out of the room. He must have swiped my suit and worn it. He was the one who put me up to buying the chloral hydrate. He said I could dope Lucianna and get back the necklace for mother. But after I bought it I never had the nerve to try it. And when that drug clerk called me up and tried to make something of it, I got in a panic."

"But why run away?" Mr. Izenga asked.

"I talked it over with Uncle Ridge. He advised me to hide out somewhere for a week or two till the police found the real criminal."

Mr. Izenga sighed. "That was foolish."

"Let's talk about something else," Bennet winced. "Pinch me Erica, and tell me again that Lucianna is dead. I can't believe it."

"Why don't you go back to bed? You can sleep till noon again. You need it."

"I'll take that advice myself." Mr. Izenga got to his feet. "I'll call Harrison. Don't disturb yourselves." Toby said, "Were going to be married tomorrow, Mr. Izenga. In spite of churches, ministers, funerals, and crime. You're invited. Details later."

"Unless he changes his mind," Erica said with a rueful glance at Toby's face. "Better think it over, darling. Your children will have a pretty dark limb on this side of the family tree."

"I'll chance it," Toby said crisply. Anything less loverlike Mr. Izenga thought he had never heard, until he looked up and saw the glance that went with the words.

Erica seemed to have forgotten about everything else but Toby, so Mr. Izenga quietly left the room.

As he went toward the telephone to call Harrison, French came out of the library. His expression was most peculiar.

"You'll be glad to know, Mr. Izenga, that the doctor will get to Ridge Dawson too late."

"How sure is that?"

"One hundred per cent. He's dead. The trooper neglected to call the doctor. He claims he wasn't told to call him. A mixup in orders . . . or something." He looked Mr. Izenga straight in the good eye.

After quite a pause, Mr. Izenga put out his hand and they stood as if sealing some sort of pact. Mr. Izenga went on to the telephone, and French returned to the library.

THE END

Homemakers Clinic Set for Thursday by PTA of Illinois

A homemakers clinic will be conducted under auspices of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers from 9:30 a. m. until 2:50 p. m. on Thursday in the auditorium of the Peoples Gas Company building, 122 S. Michigan av. Mrs. R. E. Mittricker of Chicago, home and family life chairman for the congress, has planned the program around the theme, "Making the Most of What We Have."

Suggestions for local parent-teacher homemaking group meetings will be made at the morning session. Miss Laura Welch will speak on "How to Be Your Own Interior Decorator." There also will be a millinery demonstration, "Hats from Scraps," by Vee Powell of the American Academy of Arts.

Afternoon speakers will be Sylvia Crosby, whose topic is to be "Fashion Headlines," and Miss E. A. Canham, who will give a lecture-demonstration on "Garments Exclusively Yours."

An afternoon tea is a nice and comparatively easy way to repay a lot of social obligations at one time, and it's every bit as pleasant for just a few guests who happen to drop in. Whatever the occasion, plan easily prepared refreshments so that you can spend time entertaining your guests rather than slaving in the kitchen.

Small cookies, cakes, sandwiches, and candies and nuts are the usual accompaniments for the more elaborate teas, but just one finger food is sufficient for spur of the moment affairs. The "tea" itself may appear as coffee, hot spiced cider, or a fruit drink, if desired.

When the guests number more than six, serve from the dining room table. Have a friend seated there to hand each person the beverage on a plate with a napkin and the silver. At large formal teas the sandwiches as well as the cream and sugar may be passed, but for convenience let the guests help themselves from attractively arranged trays on the same table.

The following refreshments call for ahead-of-time preparation:

Jelly Turnovers—Roll out plain pastry as thin as possible and cut into three inch squares. Place a teaspoon of jelly in the center of each, fold the squares in half, moisten the edges, and press together firmly with the tines of a fork. Chill, then bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes and at 300 degrees for a few additional minutes until the turnovers are delicately browned.

Rolled Sandwiches—Cut sandwich bread lengthwise into thin slices, trim crusts, and spread each long slice with creamed butter and any desired filling. Roll from one end, jelly roll fashion, and wrap in slightly dampened cheesecloth. Chill until just before time to serve. Slice thinly.

Cheese Glazed Biscuits — Sieve cheese and blend with a small amount of butter and few grains of paprika. Spread on small, split baking powder biscuits and glaze under a broiler. Serve hot.

Open Face Sandwiches—Cut thin slices of quick breads, such as banana, orange, date-nut, or fruitcake, into round or finger shapes and spread with cream cheese.

When entertaining smaller groups, serve the refreshments in the living room from a tea wagon or from a tray which has been set on a low table. Usually the tray will be well filled with the beverage, cups, small plates, silver, and napkins. Pass the food from another tray after the beverage has been poured.

It isn't always easy to think of dainty and novel refreshments for unexpected guests. The tea accompaniments below are made from staples which most housewives always have on hand.

Marshmallow Tea Tarts—Make a small slash with a wet paring knife in the center top of a soft marshmallow. Into the cut place a small piece of butter. Place marshmallows on salted crackers and bake at 425 degrees for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and drop a half teaspoon jam or jelly in the hollow of each marshmallow. Serve while hot.

Chocolate Sandwiches—Between two thin, packaged chocolate wafers spread a filling of cream cheese, moistened with cream and seasoned with salt and paprika.

Toast Strips—Cut slices of bread into narrow strips, brush with butter, and sprinkle with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Toast in the oven and serve warm. Or toast strips which have been spread with butter and honey and sprinkled with almonds.

Cheese Puffs—Melt ¼ pound cheddar cheese, add a dash of cayenne and fold in one beaten egg white. Spread on crackers or bread rounds and broil.

Other menu suggestions and recipes for simple and elaborate teas are given in our booket, "Tips on Tea Parties." To obtain a copy send 5 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune, or pick up a copy for 3 cents at one of The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. or Tribune Tower lobby.

For Little Girls

Little girls will like the attractive pajamas which can be made of dainty flowered material. Style No. 3844 is designed for sizes 2 to 10. Size 4 requires 2⅝ yards of 35 inch material. The doll, Style No. 3843, is easy to make. The pattern also includes directions for making a complete wardrobe.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The fall and winter fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents; 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Warm Clothing for Youngsters Sought by Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Mrs. E., widowed mother of a 13 year old son, living on the west side, recently underwent a serious operation which entailed unexpected medical and hospital expense. The severity of her case will necessitate prolonged convalescence, and it probably will be some time before she will be able to return to work. Meanwhile, she is having difficulty buying basic essentials, and the need for comfortable apparel for the cold weather presents a problem which she is unable to handle without outside assistance. We hope our readers will be able to supply winter dresses and a coat, size 18, and boy's clothing of all kinds, size 14.

The K. family includes parents and two children, a boy 5 and a girl 3 years old. The father's health is poor and his modest wage must not only provide his family's living expenses, but be spread to cover his daily medication. Recently his young son's tonsillectomy taxed the family resources still further. The child is in need of a warm snow suit or coat and legging outfit, size 7, for the winter, underwear and pajamas.

It will be several months before Mrs. D.'s husband, an ex-marine, will be able to leave the hospital, and in the meantime, she and their four children are receiving agency aid. The allowance does not cover heavy outer apparel needs, and she hopes that winter garments can be obtained for her 12 year old son and her daughters, 13, 7, and 2 years old. The address is on the south side.

*Lamb Puffs—Season 2 cups chopped cooked lamb with salt, pepper, and paprika, and add enough gravy to make spreadable. Beat one egg, add to two cups mashed potatoes. Stir in enough flour to make the mixture stiff enough to roll out on a floured board. Roll ¼ inch thick and cut with large biscuit cutter. Drop spoonful of lamb mixture into the center of each round. Bring up the edges, forming three cornered puff. Press edges together and brush with melted butter. Slip puffs off board onto greased baking sheet and bake in 450 degree oven until browned. Serves six.

ANSWERS TO SATURDAY'S QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ 4 ♥ A K Q 10 7 5 ♦ A K 3 ♣ A Q 5
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	3 spades

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. And this is not casting any aspersions at your two heart bid which meets with the most stringent requirements. The point is that there is nothing to be gained by bidding at this time. Your opening demand bid is a force to game and partner is obliged to act. If partner has a worthless hand but even a delayed spade stopper, the hand may reach for only nine tricks and he should be given the opportunity, to bid three no trump. If not he will either bid some suit of his own or take you to four hearts. Then again East may have committed a social error and partner should be given a chance to punish it.

Q. 2—You are dealer, have 60 part score and hold:
♠ K 10 3 ♥ A 7 4 ♦ J 10 5 ♣ A Q 9 4
What do you bid?

A.—One no trump. This is slightly below standard requirements but in view of the score is sound strategy. It serves many purposes. It may intimidate the opposition from competing. And on the other hand if they do stretch a point and contest, at the level of two, partner may be waiting with a mallet.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ K J 7 2 ♥ K 10 5 3 ♦ 10 2 ♣ 10 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	2 diamonds	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. This may appear rather drastic in view of the fact that you have already made a free raise, on a rather mediocre hand, but partner is advertising a strong hand which evidently fits well. The important consideration, however, is that partner's five card heart suit will serve better as a side suit, to provide discards with spades as trump.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ A K 5 2 ♥ A 6 3 ♦ 7 6 3 ♣ 8 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 club	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—One spade. Despite the fact that you have passed three honor tricks a jump bid is not recommended. This hand is poor, indeed, as far as playing strength is concerned and if partner decides not to bid again, it is extremely doubtful that there will be a good play for game.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ 5 ♥ K 10 7 ♦ Q J 8 4 ♣ J 7 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. While your hand is not rich in honor count it possesses six honor cards for which a plus value should be added and the honors are distributed thru all four suits which means that your hand has good developing power for any values partner may have, which should be considerable in view of your weak response.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ K 5 2 ♥ K Q J 6 4 ♦ Q 3 ♣ J 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 club	1 diamond	Pass	1 heart
Pass	1 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump or with a very conservative partner perhaps three no trump. The point is not to rebid hearts. Partner evidently has a good hand and it is probable that the only reason he did not make a take-out double is that he did not care too much for hearts. Furthermore your hand is more suitable for no trump than for suit play.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ 6 2 ♥ Q 4 ♦ K Q 10 7 4 2 ♣ 9 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. This is an aggressive bid to be sure, but analysis will show that what little you have is in exactly the right places. Partner has five hearts and four spades and no doubt three diamonds, which leaves him with a singleton club. The queen of hearts should facilitate the establishment of that suit.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ — ♥ K Q 9 2 ♦ Q J 10 4 ♣ Q 7 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 spade	Double	4 spades

What do you bid now?

A.—East, of course, is trying desperately to keep you out, but it is reasonable to try for a five contract in the best suit. Rather than guess the suit yourself, you should make an artificial bid of four no trump which requests partner to select the suit; the alternate call is five clubs.

Set Plans Today to Collect Food for War Refugees

Plans for collecting canned foods to be sent to war devastated countries will be made at a meeting of leaders of Chicago area women's organizations in the La Salle hotel today. More than 2,000 club presidents, rehabilitation chairmen, and public welfare chairmen have been invited to the conference, which will be convened at 2 p. m. by Mrs. Walter H. Hermsdorf, rehabilitation chairman of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. Action by the women is in coöperation with the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration's nation-wide collection of foods for overseas shipment, which will continue thru Nov. 30. Mayor Kelly, Chaplain Edward J. De Mars of Vaughan General hospital, and the Rev. Preston Bradley, minister of the Peoples church, are scheduled to speak.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Almond Tarts
[Makes 12]

4 egg yolks
1 cup confectioners' sugar
4 egg whites
½ cup grated bitter chocolate
½ cup almonds, blanched and slivered
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup cracker crumbs

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, add sugar gradually, and continue beating until very thick. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, chocolate, almonds, and baking powder and crumbs mixed together. Pour into greased and floured individual custard cups or large muffin tins. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 25 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or ice with chocolate butter frosting.

BUTTER...BUTTER...
Who GETS THE NICKEL?

I DON'T... says the dairy farmer with the price of butter increasing five to six cents, the dairy farmer gets no more money. The government simply has ended the roll-back consumer subsidy.

I DON'T... says the creamery man. The change in price will not mean a greater return for the creamery that manufactures the butter.

I DON'T... says the distributor. There will be no extra money for those in the wholesale butter trade.

I DON'T... says the grocer. Margins will remain the same. Grocers, on the average, will earn no more.

NOBODY GETS THE NICKEL

Here's why. The government has been paying part of the butter bill . . . passing its expenditures on to the public through taxation. Now, the government is in the process of cutting wartime taxes by five billion dollars or more. In doing so, the government is relieving itself in part of paying the public's butter bill from the tax purse. The prewar price of butter has been restored. There will be no "real" change in the price of butter. No one is making more money on butter. It's simply a shift from the tax purse to the public purse. In the future you pay directly . . . not indirectly through taxation. What you pay at the market place you save in taxes.

ROBERT RAVENSBERG, Indiana university's brilliant junior end from Bellevue, Ky., won't get on the scales even for Coach Bo McMillin. . . . Bob weighed 180 pounds last summer but has lost a lot of pounds since undergoing a tonsillectomy in August. . . . He's afraid he's lighter than he should be and he wants to stay in the lineup. . . . A good guess as to his poundage would be about 165. . . . The name of C. A. Temerario, who returned to the Indiana coaching staff recently after overseas duty, has an interesting history. . . . Timmy's grandfather was found as an infant on the doorstep of a home in Messina, Sicily. . . . His benefactors had no way of knowing his name, so they gave him one—Temerario—and reared him. . . . The name they thought up is Spanish and means "be without fear." . . . Temerario served as a beachmaster in Normandy during the invasion and then spent a tour of duty in the Philippines before being discharged. . . . He and Carl R. [Swede] Anderson, back field coach for the Hoosiers, who also was discharged recently from the navy, have been living in the Indiana fieldhouse because of the shortage of apartments in Bloomington. . . . Apostoli, former world middleweight boxing champion, who changed his mind about a comeback as a fighter, refereed more than 200 bouts involving service men before his discharge from the army and intends to make that work his civilian career. . . . "When I am no longer able to do my share, in the field or at bat, I'll be the first to know it and no one will have to write me out," says Marvin. . . . "I certainly don't consider myself a candidate for the cozy corner just yet, after finishing the season with the pennant, a batting average of .314, 40 doubles and 81 runs batted in." . . . Sports oddity: New York university's football layout is called Ohio field. . . . John Tavener, Indiana center, was the first to sign to play with the North in the annual Blue-Gray football game in Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 29. . . . Bo McMillin of Indiana, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, and Ray Morrison of Temple university will coach the North eleven. . . . Eddie Mayo of the Tigers is dickering with a Detroit firm concerning manufacture of sun glasses of his own design.

Just a Small Party

"We'll just have a few," was what she said,
When first she planned the party.
"Just something cozy and intimate,
Nothing splurgy or arty.

"Now I hadn't thought of asking Gen,
But maybe that wouldn't be nice,
For now that I come to think of it,
She's had me for luncheon twice.

"And maybe this might be just the time
To repay that Mrs. Ginter.
Remember that one with kind of a lisp?
She had us for cocktails last winter.

"And should I, you think, or should I not,
Include that Anna Brinner,
Don't you recall that early last fall
She had us both to dinner?"

And as she cast back o'er list of "debts"
Em Doane, Mrs. Ding, Beth Garber,
Thought "hubby," "It looks like she's paying them back Since away before Pearl Harbor."

"We'll just have a few," was what she said,
But the old boy had been thru the mill,
And he knew full well that the "few" would swell
Till they taxed the country club's grill.

BY EDWARD BURNS

The second largest crowd that ever saw a National Hockey league match, 19,202, was present in Chicago Stadium last night to watch the Blackhawks whip the Toronto Maple Leafs, Stanley cup possessors, 7 to 4, in a swell victory. The triumph was not as easy as the score indicates, inasmuch as the Hawks effected their margin of victory after the Leafs had tied the score at 4 to 4 in 12:15 of the final period.

The success, third of the season in four starts, enabled the Hawks to resume their first place tie with the Montreal Canadiens, who lost to Boston.

Score Three in First

Following the process which they used in their home opener last Wednesday night the Hawks scored three goals in the first period before their opponents were able to count. Eddie Wares started things with a long one, two minutes and 15 seconds after the game began. Doug Bentley, assisted by Johnny Mariucci, made it 2 to 0 in 9:16 of the opening session and the count was 3 to 0 when Bill Mosienko, assisted by the Bentley brothers, tallied in 18:26. Eleven seconds after that goal Sweeney Schriner tapped home a rolling puck to get the Leafs into the scoring column and the opening period ended, 3 to 1.

Alex Kaleta, assisted by Clint Smith, restored the three goal Chicago lead in 6:22 of the second period, but the score became 4 to 2 when Gaye Stewart beat Mike Karakas with a hard, oblique shot in 14:22 of the period. The session ended with the Hawks still leading, 4 to 2.

Things Look Bit Dark

The Leafs moved up when Don Metz registered with a short poke from Karakas' toes in 6:23 from a melee in front of the Hawk cage and at 12:15 things looked grievous for the Hawks and their worshipers when Gus Bodnar stole the puck from George Allen in neutral ice and skated straight in to beat unprotected Karakas from close up.

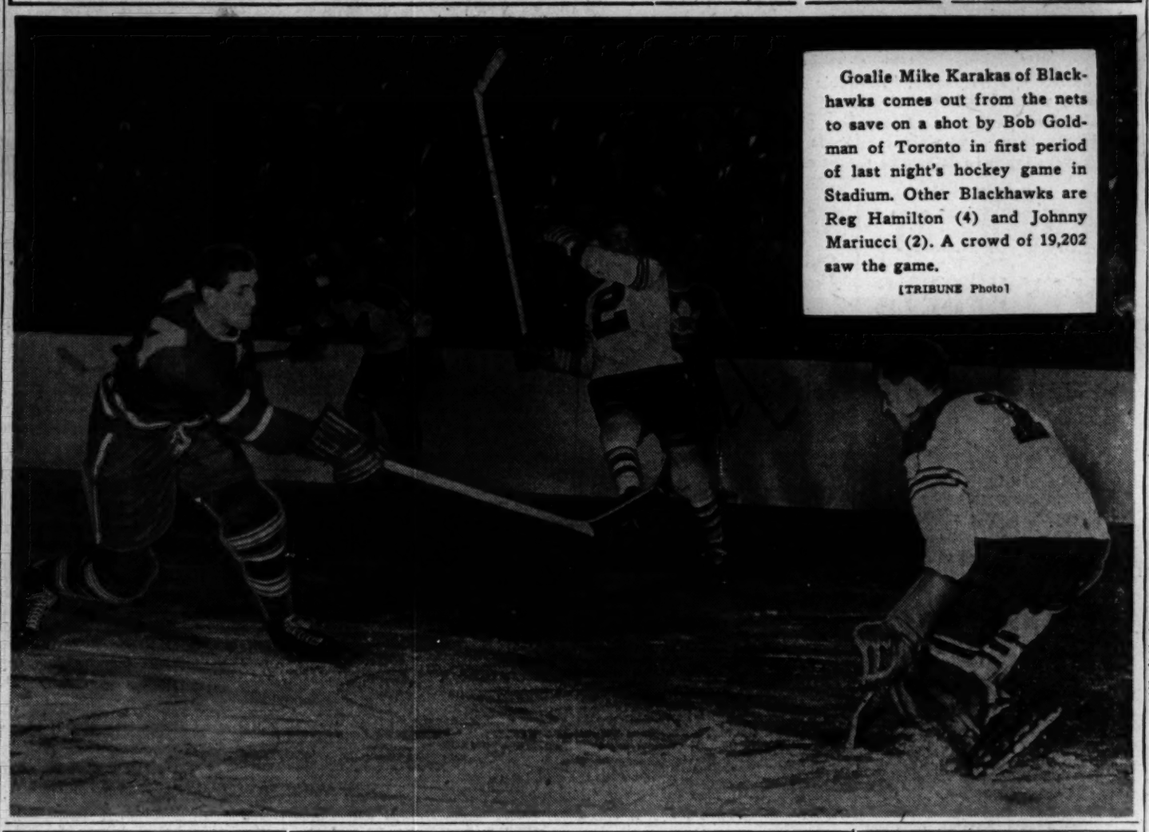
To this point there had not been a penalty, but as the Hawks pressed to resume the lead, Elwin Morris drew the only assessment of the night for holding Doug Bentley. While Morris was serving his time the Hawks went forward furiously. Their zeal was rewarded when Max Bentley, on a pass from Mosienko, frustrated Al Bastien and depressed the Stanley cuppers by scoring the winning goal, in 14:05.

Crowd Record Is 19,558

The Hawks still had almost six minutes to protect that narrow lead and did it to the great delight of the packed-in addicts. Wares scored his second goal of the evening on a long one that seemed to twist its way thru a forest of skates and legs. The time was 16:45, and Mosienko again got an assist for his third point of the game. Then, just for good measure, Kaleta scored his second goal, assisted by Smith, 48 seconds before game's end.

The crowd was a shade under the record of 19,553, which assembled several years ago when Jimmy Orlando and the Detroit Red Wings returned to Chicago a week after Orlando had slugged a spectator into unconsciousness.

CHICAGO'S NET MINDER WORKS AT HIS JOB



Goalie Mike Karakas of Blackhawks comes out from the nets to save on a shot by Bob Goldman of Toronto in first period of last night's hockey game in Stadium. Other Blackhawks are Reg Hamilton (4) and Johnny Mariucci (2). A crowd of 19,202 saw the game.

CHARITY RACING TO OPEN TODAY

Tribune Again Sponsors Meet at Sportsman's

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

This is charity week at Sportsman's Park, the half mile racing establishment in Cicero which, thru various agencies, has been one of the nation's leading contributors to war relief and other worthy organizations. Starting today and continuing thru Saturday, the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will sponsor a nine race program each afternoon, net proceeds of which will be distributed among the corporation's many worthy charities.

Thru the coöperation of the National Jockey club and its president and general manager, John L. Keeshin, The Tribune's charity unit received and disbursed $245,000 after a spectacularly successful six day meeting last fall.

New Event to Climax Meet

To that end, Racing Secretary William R. Dahlstrom has arranged an entertaining schedule of races for the week, a schedule which will be climaxed Saturday by the first running of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., handicap, a $5,000 distance event in which the best older thorobreds at the track will compete. Two $2,500 events, the Rosanav and Arch Ward handicaps, will be run as supporting features.

Today and tomorrow the program calls for $2,000 headline races, while Wednesday's card will be topped by a pair of $2,500 handicaps.

1 O'Clock Post Time

Post time for the first race each day will be 1 o'clock.

Last year the five Chicagoland race tracks, Sportsman's Park, Arlington Park, Washington Park, Hawthorne, and Lincoln Fields, and Fairmount in southern Illinois, contributed $1,170,227.07 to charity, $645,800.04 of which was raised thru the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. In addition to the six day meeting at Sportsman's Park, which netted $245,000, a five day meeting at Washington Park in midsummer netted $400,800.04. All of Chicago's tracks coöperated in this venture by giving up one of their allotted days.

Sanctioned by Racing Board

Sanction for this week's charity program was obtained from Attorney General George F. Barrett by the Illinois Racing board, whose members are Chairman Ednyfed H. Williams, William E. Fay, and Frank E. Mandel.

The regular fall meeting at Sportsman's Park, which closed Saturday, was the most successful in the track's history. Attendance for the 18 days was 189,489 and the parimutuel handle amounted to $14,390,759.

College Football's Fighting Men

Illini's Stan Stasica Jumped from Normandy's Skies, Survived Battle of the Bulge

[This is the first of a series recounting thrilling war experiences of players who have returned to midwestern college gridirons.]

BY EDWARD PRELL

THE 1944 invasion of Europe from D-day until New Year's eve was not one, but a series of dramatic events which will be lifetime memories for Stan Stasica, 26 year old half back on the University of Illinois football team.

Stan Stasica

Excitement and anticipation, coupled with the fear which gripped every man aboard a C-47 carrying Stasica and fellow paratroopers of the 101st Air Borne on their D-day mission stands out in his recollection.

"It was the most dramatic moment of my life—almost the most awful," he says now in sheltered Champaign. "As we neared France the flak was terrific. Everywhere shells were bursting and it was unnerving to see planes all around us being hit.

Stan Sights Mark IV. Tank and Destroys It

"Flames shot out from many and they crashed. Knowing that in those planes were our buddies and knowing just as well that we might be next is a feeling I can't forget."

Stasica and his fellow Screaming Eagles parachuted into Normandy when objectives were reached. Stan was armed with a bazooka and it was D-day plus 4 when Stan's blood pressure got another workout.

Advancing thru the countryside, he came face to face with a Nazi Mark IV. tank. How he did it Stan will never know—but with his bazooka he put the German monster out of action and escaped uninjured.

Next it was Bastogne, tho before that there was a little matter of Stan rescuing some wounded companions under heavy fire, which brought him the bronze star. But he was only warming up for Bastogne—like getting ready for Notre Dame.

The General Translates His Edict for Germans

It was six months after D-day when the Germans broke thru in the Battle of the Bulge last December. The Screaming Eagles were rushed there to plug the gap. They arrived by trucks a day later. Their task was to hold Bastogne, which they did.

"Our position was described as the 'hole in the doughnut,' but that's putting it mildly," Stan recalled. "The Nazis had no luck in their first assaults, so they surrounded the town and went on. But Bastogne became a stumbling block for them and the German commander sent a message calling for surrender. That's when Gen. McAuliffe made his historic answer, 'Nuts!'

"We all got a laugh, despite our desperate position, when the German commander sent back his messenger to learn what the word meant. Gen. McAuliffe made it clear this time—'Go to hell!'"

The situation worsened. The Americans were trapped, short of ammunition. But let Stan continue:

"It was terrifically cold, with blowing snow. Casualties were heavy and we couldn't evacuate the wounded. Food was scarce. It isn't pleasant to wait for certain death or capture."

But the 101st held out, day after day, until Dec. 27 when advance units of the 4th armored and 3d army divisions came to the rescue. The battle wasn't over, tho. For 22 more days the Screaming Eagles held, but as Stasica puts it, "By New Year's Eve, we could hope—and that's important to a soldier."

Devore Predicts Movies Will Show Notre Dame Beat Navy

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4 (AP)—Motion pictures of the dramatic Notre Dame-Navy 6 to 6 tie game here yesterday will prove that Half Back Phil Colella actually scored the winning touchdown in the closing seconds of the battle, predicts Hugh Devore, Notre Dame coach.

"I would be willing to wager everything I have that the camera will prove Colella was over," Devore declared. He contended that the forward motion of the ball crossed the goal line before the stocky halt back was tackled.

Frank Dancewicz threw an 11 yard pass to Colella in the final 30 seconds and Colella, with Tony Minisi of Navy hanging to his neck, appeared suspended on the fringe of the pay-off stripe.

The tug of war between Colella and Minisi lasted until the two sprawled exhausted on the edge of the playing field. Many of the 82,000 fans present, thinking that Field Judge Bill Orwig signaled a touchdown had been scored, unleashed a thunderous volley of cheers.

The officials decided, however, that the forward motion of the ball had stopped on the 1 foot stripe. Dancewicz ran into a stone wall in the first attempt to push the ball across and then failed on a second plunge as the game ended.

The roar of the crowd drowned out the crack of the final gun and the frenzied fans remained immobile as Irish and Navy players swarmed on the field. Both squads huddled around the officials as a coin was tossed to determine which team could keep the ball as a trophy.

After Notre Dame won the toss and the players left the field, the fans were convinced that the game was ended.

SUPERIOR LINE WINS FOR BEARS

Shiners Are Rewards for Shining Play

BY WILFRID SMITH

The Chicago Bears' line played like those of their championship days yesterday against the Green Bay Packers. Perhaps it even played more courageously, for seldom has any victorious team had 24 points scored against it more easily.

The Bears were behind 14 points at the end of the first quarter by virtue of the Packers' long touchdown pass, Irv Comp to Clyde Goodnight, and a second score by interception of Gene Ronzani's pass. They were behind 10 points twice in the second period by addition of a touchdown on Larry Craig's recovery of Hank Margarita's fumble plus a field goal.

The Bears' line scarcely could be blamed for these easy points. It can be praised for outplaying the Packer forwards. The rushing statistics were: Bears, 281 yards; Packers, 31 yards.

Battling Becomes Personal

Lee Artoe, tackle on the Bears' championship elevens, and Center Johnny Schiechl led the Bears' superlative defense and both also were principals in individual battles during the game which saw the Packers' Pete Tinsley and Goodnight sent to the sidelines. Even here, in the final minute, Tinsley got a whack at Schiechl, using his helmet for a weapon.

At various times Comp and Roy McKay, Packer passers, were stretched on the turf and in the fourth period Bernie Crimmins also was dropped. Apparently, this game measured up to requirements for the ancient feud.

Last evening the Bears' Jack Morton visited the Illinois Masonic hospital to have a cut under his eye sewed and Artoe was there also. Lee certainly has a battered eye and an X-ray today will determine whether his jaw is broken.

Big Edge in Number of Plays

The Packers had only 12 plays from scrimmage, including two punts in the first period, when they went to the front, 14 to 0. In the same time the Bears had 23 plays. The Bears' margin in the second quarter, when they scored three touchdowns, was 27 plays from scrimmage to eight for Green Bay, including kicks and penalties. This demonstrated advantage in number of opportunities eventually aided the Bears' production of the winning touchdown in the third quarter. Their four point margin, just sufficient to eliminate a tie by a Green Bay field goal, was vulnerable to a touchdown and kept the crowd of 45,527 until the final gun.

Sid Luckman's record on passing equalled his best work in the heydey of his career. Of the only four passes he failed to complete two were easy shots over center dropped by George Wilson.

While Sid was on target, Comp and McKay were erratic possibly because they were accorded indifferent protection. Moreover, the Bears' secondary stopped Don Hutson with aid of Artoe's rushes to harry the throwers.

Chicago Bears, 28; Green Bay Packers, 24!

Read it again, so there'll be no doubt about it:

Chicago Bears, 28; Green Bay Packers, 24.

There are 45,527 witnesses that this is the truth, and nothing but the truth. They went wild yesterday afternoon when the Bears, beaten in their previous five National Football league games, were the Bears of old, higher than the stratosphere for the annual Wrigley field match against their most bitter rivals.

The Packers, 1944 league champions, reeled off the darkening field with their second defeat in six games, bounced into third place in the west. Now they must whip the Cleveland Rams and the Detroit Lions, too, to get back in the race. They play the Rams next Sunday in Cleveland.

It's a Chicago Habit

This was the fourth straight November that the Bears have slapped down the Northmen on the Cub greens and the second consecutive year they have won in Chicago after losing in Green Bay.

The Bears had to do it the hard way yesterday. They were in arrears, 14 to 0 after five and a half minutes of the first quarter. From then on the Packers took a 28 to 10 beating, and that score is a faithful yardstick of what happened after those sickening first minutes.

The Bears' line, which had held the Lions to 15 yards from scrimmage a week ago, restricted the champions to 31 yards on running plays. And when the Bears had the ball, the forwards gave Sid Luckman his best protection of the year.

Luckman's Biggest Day

The result was the Brooklyn veteran's biggest day of the season. He completed eight of 14 passes for 125 yards. One of the passes was a bullseye under the goal post to Ken Kavanaugh with two seconds of the first half remaining. In the end, this one proved to be the fatal punch, for without it the Bears probably never would have caught up.

There was a running punch, too, to go along with Luckman's air raids. Bob Margarita, who once carried the ball for Brown university and Uncle Sam, slammed thru and around the Packers' veteran line for 128 yards in 16 attempts. Bob scored the first two Bear touchdowns.

The Bears had an over-all gain of 406 yards to the Packers' 182 and 19 first downs to 9. Their slashing ground game netted 269 yards.

Hutson Catches Only 3 Passes

Don Hutson, who made his Chicago pro debut 10 years ago by scoring twice against the Bears, caught only three passes, all thrown by Roy McKay. The great end was completely shut out in the first half.

The Packers had seven points almost before the strains of the Star Spangled Banner had faded away. They were on the Green Bay 18 yard line after the kick-off when Irv Comp threw a second down pass far down the middle. Hugh Gallarneau batted the ball, but it stayed in the air. Clyde Goodnight, Comp's target, took it on the fly and ran the remaining 20 yards. Hutson kicked the first of his three extra points.

After the Green Bay kickoff, the Bears showed their first offensive flash when Jim Fordham broke thru for 17 yards. A penalty put Chicago back in its own territory. Gene Ronzani passed to his right and Comp intercepted the ball. Then he ran 54 yards down the east side line for a touchdown.

Bears Begin to Move

The score still was 14 to 0 when the Bears started out from their 47 late in the first quarter. From there they began to move. On the third play of the second quarter Margarita made a slashing 22 yard run to the Packers' 19. George Wilson caught Luckman's 9 yard pass, and Margarita hit the left side for a first down on the 7. Fordham

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Their early 21 to 0 lead wiped out, Washington's Redskins had to call on Joe Aguirre today to beat the Chicago Cardinals, 24 to 21. Aguirre kicked a field goal from 19 yards out in the last 25 seconds.

Showing amazing fortitude for a team that has won only one National Football league game, the Cardinals fought their way from under a three touchdown deficit by scoring in each of the last three quarters.*

Christman Equals Baugh

Paul Christman of the Cardinals gave a passing exhibition that equalled Washington's Sammy Baugh as the Cardinals tied the score in the last four minutes.

Four of Christman's passes linked together a Cardinal surge that swept to Washington's 4 where Ed Rucinski was forced out of bounds after a catch. Leo Cantor crossed over from the 3 for the touchdown.

A short Cardinal kick-off gave the Redskins a start on their own 42 and Baugh, passed his way to the Cardinal 12, making possible Aguirre's kick.

Christman's passing netted Chicago's first touchdown well along in the second period. Jim Poole, a Mississippian, took a 29 yard pitch with no one around him.

Seno Breaks Away

Two plays after the second-half kickoff, the Cardinals were back in the game on a 68 yard drive by Cantor and Frank Seno, a former Redskin whose spirited running today made the 35,000 fans wish he were back in a Washington uniform. Cantor ran 20 yards and Seno went the rest of the way, 48 yards, before the third period was two minutes old.

The Redskins had jumped off to a 21 to 0 lead in the first two periods on quick touchdowns. Wilbur Moore darted around end 57 yards for the opening score in the first quarter. A minute later Bob Seymour intercepted a deflected pass on the Cardinal 14 and Frank Akins scored from the 5.

JOE SINKE WINS BY 276 PINS IN BOMAR MATCH

Joe Sinke won 17 of 28 games to win by a margin of 276 pins over Buddy Bomar as their challenge test match was concluded at Faetz recreation, 5961 N. Ridge av., yesterday. It was the fourth and final seven game block of a home and home series which had started on Bomar's home alleys, Bowling Lanes, 5221 N. Broadway.

Sinke's aggregate for the series was 5,804. Bomar totalled 5,528.

INJURED BEAR GETS TREATMENT

[TRIBUNE Photo]

Lee Artoe, Bear tackle, in Illinois Masonic hospital last night where he was treated for injuries suffered in game with Packers. The Bears claim that two Green Bay players gave him the works. In addition to swollen right eye Artoe may have a fractured jaw. X-rays were taken to determine extent of jaw injury.

BEARS' GREAT RALLY UPSETS PACKERS, 28-24

cracked the other side to the 2, and Margarita drove over. Pete Gudauskas kicked the goal, as he did on the three succeeding scores.

The Packers moved down into Bear territory, but had to settle for a field goal, an enormous 49 yarder by Ted Fritsch for a 17 to 7 edge.

71 Yards in Eight Plays

Luckman toted the kickoff back to the Chicago 34 and, after a 5 yard offside penalty, the Bears went 71 yards for their next score in eight plays. Gallarneau streaked down the east side line for 31 yards, falling when he was in the clear on Green Bay's 40. The next big bite was Fordham's 18 yard smash to the 15. Margarita smacked for 3 and Fordham for 5. On the next play, the teams became confused but Margarita stepped up, took the ball from Luckman, pushed him out of the way and bolted over the goal.

The Bears next got possession when Al Grygo, who was a topnotch player yesterday, intercepted Comp's pass on the Chicago 19. Margarita fumbled on the first play and Larry Craig ran 18 yards for a touchdown, the first of his National league career. That made it 24 to 14.

From their 12, after the kickoff, the Bears went 88 yards for the third touchdown which just cheated the gun. Gary Famiglietti made 5 and Wilson took a pass from Luckman on the Bears' 43. Wilson lateraled to Margarita, who slammed down to the Green Bay 45. On a quick opener Margarita raced 18 yards and, on third down, Luckman pitched to the same fellow in the flat. He ran 11 yards to the Packers' 15. Luckman was spilled for a 9 yard loss. Then he fired that pass under the goal posts to Kavanaugh, who took it on the 1 and tumbled back for the score.

Take Over Lead—and Hold It

In 11 plays after the third quarter kickoff the Bears had the vital fourth touchdown on a 71 yard trip. Big plays were Luckman's 22 yard pass to Kavanaugh, his 26 yarder to Grygo, and Grygo's 9 yard run to the Green Bay 3. Fordham hit the right side for a first down just inches from the goal. Luckman tried, but was stopped. Then Fordham went over right tackle standing up and Gudauskas' kick brought the score to 28 to 24. Statistics:

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Cleveland Rams, deadlocked for the National Football league's western division lead, had to come from far behind in the late going today to beat the New York Giants, 21 to 17, before a crowd of 46,919 at the Polo Grounds.

Strengthened by the return of hard-driving Bill Paschal, one-time Georgia Tech star, from the army air forces, the Giants took a 17 to 7 half time lead and held on to it grimly thru the early part of the second half, despite a masterful passing performance of Bob Waterfield.

Fred Gehrke Tallies Twice

But the pressure on a Giant club that has won only one game in four previous starts was too much. The Rams clicked for a touchdown in the closing minutes of the third quarter and the opening minutes of the fourth to pull the game out of the fire. Fred Gehrke, a steamroller back from Utah, scored both these final tallies.

The rest of the Rams' scoring was done in the opening minutes of play, when Cleveland smashed 80 yard to score in five plays. Waterfield opened this on the first scrimmage of the game by passing 30 yards to Jim Benton, who ran another 30 to the Giant 20. Four plays later, Waterfield went around his own left end for the final two yards and picked the extra point.

But midway thru the final period, the Giants, too, went 80 yards to touchdown-land taking only two plays to turn the trick. The first of these was a three yard buck. Then Paschal, making his first appearance of the season, went wide around the Ram right end and outran the secondary on o 77-yard touchdown trip, with the aid of a key block halfway down field by End John Weiss which took two Cleveland men out of the play.

All in all, Paschl made a big bow in his debut. He carried the ball 21 times for 143 yards—just under 7 yards a try. Waterfield completed nine of 18 passes for 164 yards.

Strong Kicks Field Goal

Shortly before the first period closed, the Giants pushed from their own 22 to the Cleveland 38. From there, the veteran Ken Strong dropped back to the 45 and booted a field goal to send the Giants out on top. Midway of the second quarter, New York staged a 76 yard touchdown parade. A pass from Marion Pugh to Sam Fox picked up 32 yards on the way down to the Cleveland 15. From there, Pugh tossed to Frank Liebel on the goal line to give the Giants their commanding lead at the intermission.

The third period Cleveland touchdown was set up when Center Mike Scarry intercepted a pass on the Giant 42. Waterfield's passes and two line bucks worked it to the 10, from where Gehrke went over. A futile and apparently foolish Giant attempt to run on fourth down from their own 45 early in the fourth quarter started the Rams on the way to the winning points. Taking over on downs, Waterfield carried it to the 35, from where Gehrke sliced between end and tackle to score.

Lions Block Lio's Kick to Defeat Yanks, 10 to 9

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Detroit Lions' 226 pound line drove thru snow and mud to smear Augie Lio's fourth period extra point placement and gain a hard-won 10 to 9 victory over the Boston Yanks today in their National Football league game in Fenway park.

Despite the conditions, Lio gave the Yanks a 3 to 0 lead about 30 seconds before the first half ended by kicking a 26 yard placement field goal, after his forces' running attack had been grounded deep in the mud on the Lions' 20. Ned Mathews had set the stage for that three point play by intercepting one of Dave Ryan's passes on the Lions' 45 and returning to the 30, from where Bob Davis made 10.

Bobby Nelson Ties Score

Late in the third quarter, after a Boston punt dropped in a bog at midfield, Ryan managed to complete two passes, to Jack Matheson and to Bob Westfall, that moved the Lions to the Yanks' 23. After Westfall splashed to the 19, Bobby Nelson tied the score at three all by matching Lio's 26 yard kick.

Charley De Shane refused to play safe on Scotty Gudmundson's punt into the lake that surrounded the Lions' 19 yard territory in the fourth period by letting it drop. He waded for the ball and stunned the slim 15,000 crowd by cutting to the right sideline and, aided by good blocking, racing 81 yards for a touchdown.

Callahan's Kick Decides Game

Bill Callihan then added the extra point, in flawless fashion, the big point that decided the game.

The Yanks' wet and chilled supporters apparently broke up the snowstorm with their cheers a few minutes later when, after a Detroit punt traveled only 26 yards to its 35, Ace Parker came in for the Yanks and tossed to Don Currivan on the 3 yard line. The Yanks lost 3 before Bob Davis fed Currivan a touchdown pass. Lio had two chances at the tying point, for the Lions were offside the first time his ball holder was rushed. On his second attempt Detroit's linesmen broke thru and Lio was checked before he could get his toe on the ball. Statistics:

MOONLIT HOUR REACHES FINAL OF $10,000 STAKE

BY JAMES SEGRETI

Moonlit Hour, which cost her owner, Miss Jean McLean of Portsmouth, Va., $12,500 last year, won the $2,000 mare division of the big prize event, defeating the Dodge Stables' Sweet Rhythm. Mrs. R. L. Wheelock's Corsica Miss took third place and Lady Babette entered by the Valley View farm, Barrington, was judged fourth.

Qualify for Sunday Finals

Moonlit Hour and the three other horses which placed qualified for the grand championship finals which will be held next Sunday night. Trial stake events will be held for stallions and geldings during the week.

Six thousand witnessed the mare division trial and nine other events on the evening's program. An additional 4,000 watched the matinee performance. The show will continue nightly with afternoon shows scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday.

Seventh First for Hawthorn

John F. Cuneo's Hawthorn farm in Libertyville registered its seventh first place victory when Hawthorn Challenger and Stonehedge Rushworth triumphed in the pony tandem class. Hawthorn farms' closest rivals in the Blue ribbon race now are the H. Leslie Atlass stables, Wheaton, and the Dodge stables, Rochester, Mich.

G. I. Joe, a pony owned by E. W. [Shorty] Beghtol of Industry, Ill., appearing in a major show ring for the first time, won the event for harness ponies and shetlands, defeating Atlass' Cadet and Hawthorn farms' Hawthorn spots. Sunkist, owned by Joseph Allhoff of St. Louis, Mo., was fourth.

BRUINS, COWLEY DEAL CANADIENS FIRST LOSS, 6-5

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4 (AP)—Bill Cowley, veteran hockey star, scored three goals tonight to lead the Boston Bruins to their first victory of the National Hockey league season as they beat the Montreal Canadiens, defending champions, 6 to 5, before a capacity crowd of 13,500 in the Boston Garden. It was the Canadiens' first defeat.

While the Bruins were collecting their first victory in four starts, they had such keymen as Pat Egan and Bobby Bauer on the sidelines with injuries.

RED WINGS, 4; RANGERS, 1

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings defeated the New York Rangers, 4 to 1, tonight in their first meeting of the National Hockey league season.

Detroit's victory, second of the season, maintained the Red Wing jinx over the Rangers, who haven't won a game here since Christmas night, 1942.

ST. GEORGE TIES FENWICK HIGH IN 7-7 BATTLE

St. Ignatius Wins, 33-0, Over St. Patrick

Fenwick and St. George, each a winner of four straight Catholic league football games, yesterday met in Hanson park, in an attempt to break their deadlock for the south section lead, but the best they could do was a 7 to 7 tie. Each eleven has one more game to play.

In the north section, St. Ignatius routed St. Patrick, 33 to 0, in Key Branch stadium, to bolster its hold on first place with five victories and one tie. Weber, closely trailing St. Ignatius with four triumphs and two ties, defeated Loyola academy, 24 to 12, on the latter's field.

Brown Intercepts Pass

Fenwick scored in the third period when Roger Brown intercepted a pass in midfield and raced to the Dragons' 23 yard stripe before he was brought down. On the next play Bill Crowley smashed off left tackle and sprinted 23 yards for the score. Frank Consago kicked the extra point.

St. George evened matters in the last period when Larry Coutre pitched a 23 yard pass to Jim Conley in Fenwick's end zone for the tying touchdown. Coutre made the extra point.

One of the longest touchdown runs in the St. Ignatius-St. Patrick contest was W. E. Keefe's 70 yard dash in the final period on an intercepted pass. The St. Ignatius backs scored in every quarter against the ineffective St. Patrick's defense.

St. Philip Beats St. Mel

In other league games, St. Philip beat St. Mel, 19 to 12, Mount Carmel shut out De La Salle, 33 to 0, and De Paul swamped Holy Trinity, 40 to 0. Lineups:

Leo Defeats Rita, 6-0, in Charity Game

Leo High school stayed in the running for the south section title of the Catholic Prep Football league yesterday by scoring in the last 20 seconds of play to defeat St. Rita, 6 to 0, in the annual Sisters of Mercy charity game in Comiskey park.

An estimated 20,000 fans who sat thru almost four scoreless periods were given a thrill just before the final gun when Frank McGuire of Leo sped across the goal line on a short end run.

The touchdown was scored when Leo took the ball on its own 35 yard line. Dan Ryan, who went in for Bill Smith at right half, threw a 40 yard pass to Frank Johnston, and he ran 5 to the Rita 20.

Dick Madden, who replaced Johnston, then carried the ball three times and picked up 15 yards. Dan Ryan's pass failed, and on the next play McGuire, on a reverse from Dan Henry, crossed the goal. With 20 seconds to play Smith's attempted kick for the extra point went wide.

SEIZE SUSPECT IN KILLING OF OFFICER'S WIFE

Offers Alibi for Day of Pontiac Slaying

New York, Nov. 4 [Special]—Lawrence [Larry] Theis, 29, seized by New York police here today as a fugitive from a Michigan murder charge, told police tonight he was "on a binge" in this city last Wednesday when Mrs. Alberta Rose Young, 34, was slain near Pontiac, Mich.

Theis, described as a tall, dark, and slick 4-F, is accused of murdering Mrs. Young in a warrant issued Saturday by Oakland county, Mich., authorities. Mrs. Young was shot thru the head and her body was found floating in the Clinton river, two miles from Pontiac, about noon Wednesday. Officers said she had died shortly after midnight the same day.

Denies Killing Knowledge

Detective Maxmillian Sprauer, who arrested Theis at a home in Forest Hills, L. I., on a telephone tip, quoted Theis as denying all knowledge of the slaying.

Asked to account for his movements on the night of the shooting, Theis said he quit work at 5:30 p. m. in Rigo park, Queens, where he was employed as a loader for a cigaret vending company. He told his boss, he said, that he wouldn't be in the following day and then went on a "binge" which lasted thru Wednesday.

Theis admitted an acquaintanceship with Mrs. Young, police said, but insisted he had not seen her since last June. Asked about reports from Detroit that Mrs. Young accused him in June of swindling her out of $4,500, he said he borrowed some money from her to buy a car. He said he signed a note for the money and kept the car.

Charges She Spent Money

During the time he knew her, he said, she spent large sums on a fur coat, hotel bills and having a good time. Police said Theis has agreed to waive extradition and will be arraigned tomorrow in Queens Felony court. Two Detroit detectives have left for New York to return him to Michigan, they said.

In Detroit, it was said Mrs. Young accused Theis of obtaining $4,500 from her in a scheme which involved the purchase and resale of used automobiles. He was arrested on her complaint in June but released when he promised to make restitution, it was said.

Mrs. Young was the wife of Maj. Franklin L. Young, who served in Europe with the 322d bomber squadron. She told police the money she gave Theis was from her husband's bank account and that she wanted to replace it before his return from the army.

USE OF MASONIC TEMPLE DENIED TO EVANGELIST

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 4 (AP)—Masonic lodge officials here said today they had denied the use of their temple to Dr. John R. Rice, Wheaton, Ill., evangelist, because he was the author of a pamphlet which attacked such organizations as the Masons as "against God's law."

The temple's assistant secretary, Ralph E. Barker, said the pamphlet had been discovered in material shipped to the temple by Dr. Rice.

The tract "was a vicious attack on all secret organizations, using us as a horrible example," Barker told a reporter. Dr. Rice denied that his pamphlet held Masons as "against God's law."

The meeting, sponsored by the Seattle Evangelical Ministers' association, was transferred to a church.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—A 15 ton white marble monument has been erected at the grave of the late President Roosevelt in the rose garden at Hyde Park, Basil O'Connor announced today.

O'Connor, co-executor of the Roosevelt estate, said in a statement that the tombstone was in accordance with instructions of the late President. It is 8 feet long, 4 feet wide, and 3 feet high.

O'Connor said the tombstone will be dedicated next spring.

Threatens to Shoot Self; Drowns When Hold Fails

Police searched the Des Plaines river near Jackson st. bridge in Joliet last night for the body of Earl Dalton, 26, of 504 N. Bluff st., Joliet. Some time after Dalton had told his sister, Mrs. Jessie Phillips, 370 N. Bluff st., that he intended to shoot himself, he was heard calling for help in the river beneath the bridge. Lowell Dill, 1151 Morgan st., ran to the bank and lowered his overcoat to Dalton who held on until the garment ripped. Dalton sank.

OVERSEAS VET HELD IN 10 YEAR OLD SLAYING

Akron, O., Nov. 4 (AP)—An honorably discharged veteran of the 37th [Buckeye] division today was identified by Agent Harry T. O'Conner of the federal bureau of investigation as Clinton Harrison Daniels, 32, sought since Christmas day of 1935 for the hold-up slaying of an East Liverpool, O., milkman.

He had served in the Southwest Pacific as Albert Jones, but admitted yesterday when he was taken into custody here that he was Daniels, said O'Conner, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office.

Daniels, Dudley Adams and Beryl Rogers, all of East Liverpool, were indicted for murder by the Columbiana county grand jury. They were charged with killing Clarence Dickey and wounding his younger brother, Frank, during a holdup as the Dickey brothers were making their Christmas morning milk deliveries. Adams and Rogers were apprehended, convicted and now are serving life sentences.

O'Conner gave the following account of the search for Daniels. After the holdup Daniels disappeared without a trace. The FBI later noted that an Albert Jones, then serving with the 37th division, had given false information concerning his early life. The FBI obtained his photograph and when the soldier came here a month ago, following his discharge, agents began showing the picture to former acquaintances of Daniels. They noted a resemblance, and when the veteran was arrested he admitted the identity.

STATE TO SHOW NEW EVIDENCE IN TWO RAPE CASES

Asst. State's Atty. Patrick Egan said yesterday that the state will have additional evidence to present against Howard G. Stiles Jr., 16, of 2326 Brown av., Evanston, when a hearing on two sex charges is resumed tomorrow.

Stiles, who is accused of raping an 8 year old girl and the attempted rape of a 10 year old girl in the suburb last Sept. 16 and Aug. 24, has presented alibis which Lt. L. W. Calderwood of the Evanston police has said are not valid.

Judge Frank H. Bicek, who is hearing the case in Juvenile court, has announced his intention of releasing Stiles unless the state presents new evidence. Stiles is free on $1,000 bond.

SPECIAL SHOWS TO MARK RADIO'S SILVER JUBILEE

This is radio's "silver anniversary" week. Stations and networks are marking the occasion with special programs and recalling early events of radio on regular shows. The Radio Manufacturers association is presenting a statue symbolic of radio's service, created by Sculptor Charles Bradley Warren of Pittsburgh, Pa., to the National Association of Broadcasters. It will be placed in N. A. B. headquarters in Washington, D. C. Replicas will be presented to all broadcasting stations.

A 25th anniversary special for tonight is a Norman Corwin production titled, "Seems Radio Is Here to Stay." He calls it in "animated essay." WBBM will be the outlet at 11:05 p. m.

Fred Waring and company will devote their entire shows at 10 to 10:30 a. m. today thru Friday on WMAQ-NBC to observance of this radio milestone. Vox Pop at 7 p. m. over WBBM-CBS begins its 14th season on the air by recalling its own early days as well as those still earlier in the radio era.

A special television show over WBKB at 1 p. m. tomorrow will recall the pioneer broadcast of the Harding-Cox election of Nov. 2, 1920, by KDKA, Pittsburgh. The telecast will have scenes showing some of the earliest efforts to use radio in education. Pupils at the Goudy and Lake View High schools, where television receivers are installed, will view the show.

One hundred war veterans, ambulatory patients from Fort Sheridan, Great Lakes, Vaughan, and Gardiner hospitals, will be guests of the American Federation of Radio Artists at their annual A. F. R. A. Antics Saturday night in the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Proceeds of the party, which is open to the public, will go to the sick and benefit fund of the radio performers' union.

HALT CIO FEUD AT HARVESTER, MURRAY URGES

Let's Not Wash Our Linen in Public, Rivals Told

With a jurisdictional election between the United Auto Workers and the United Farm Equipment Workers, both CIO unions, at the McCormick works here of the International Harvester company scheduled for tomorrow, Philip Murray, CIO president, yesterday called on the two unions to mend the dispute at a conference.

Murray asked the unions to settle their differences "without resort to the washing of our CIO linen in public," Grant W. Oakes, president of the UFEW, disclosed. Oakes said the request was made in letters to himself and R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW in Detroit.

First Test of Strength

Months ago the national CIO jurisdictional committee recommended that the auto workers absorb the farm equipment workers. The UFEW, led by Oakes, refused to consider the proposition, and tomorrow's bargaining agent election by about 5,800 employes had been regarded as the first test of strength between the unions.

CIO leaders here asserted that they did not understand Murray's intervention just before the election, which it has been assumed the auto workers will win.

Oakes said the UAW seeks to assume jurisdiction over all farm equipment workers and in defiance of Murray's orders is conducting a raid on International Harvester company employes who are members of his union.

Denies It is a Raid

Joseph Mattson, regional director of the UAW-CIO, said the election was a direct result of the desire of thousands of the Harvester employes to leave Oakes' union.

"In view of the fact that Oakes has up to now failed to recognize the authority of CIO President Murray and the recommendation of the CIO jurisdictional committee he is rather late in his cry of 'raid.'" Mattson said. "This isn't a raid, it's a rescue."

NORMAL TAX APPLIES

Will repeal of the excess profits tax save corporations all of the amounts that they would have had to pay in such taxes, assuming that earnings hold the same?—S. T.

Repeal of the excess profits tax after Jan. 1, as voted by congress, of course does not mean that the portion of income previously subject to it will now be tax free. Such income will be taxed at the regular corporate normal and surtax rates instead of the excess profits levy. The saving is more than half of what the excess profits tax would have been at the net rate of 85.5 per cent.

The combined normal tax and surtax for corporations with net earnings of more than $50,000 will be 38 per cent, beginning next year, compared with 40 at present. Thus that portion of earnings that previously would have been taxed 85.5 per cent will be taxed 38 per cent.

Under the old law only the income below the excess profits bracket is subject to normal and surtax.

COURT TO HEAR 4 BIDS TODAY IN PULLMAN CASE

Sleeper Business Goes on Block

BY CHARLES GOTTHART
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4—Four groups competing for ownership of the Pullman company and operation of the world's biggest sleeping car business will appear before a three judge federal court, at hearings beginning here tomorrow, to press their bids for the 75 million dollar property.

Thurman Arnold

The case, which may have an important bearing on the future of railroading and the carriers' ability to compete for passenger business against the private automobile, motor bus, and airplane, is before the court as one of the final phases of protracted litigation that led to a determination that Pullman, Inc., the parent company, operated a monopoly in violation of anti-trust laws.

"Trust Buster" Represents Otis

The court will decide whether any or all of the four bids will carry out the terms of its decree, in which Pullman, Inc., operating from Chicago, agreed to dispose of the sleeping car subsidiary and retain the manufacturing subsidiary, Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company. With the court's permission, the parent company is expected to accept the most attractive bid.

One of the key figures in the case and one of the most vocal is Thurman Arnold, the former New Deal "trust buster" who initiated the monopoly case but who now is on the other side of the fence representing one of the contestants.

Arnold, who prosecuted 230 monopoly cases as head of the justice department's anti-trust division, and who retired in 1943 as associate justice of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, has been retained by the Otis & Co.-Robert P. Young interests of Cleveland, O. Young is the former Wall Streeter who wrested control of Van Sweringen railroads from J. P. Morgan & Co.

All Promise Better Service

The opposing interests are a group of railroads that handle more than 80 per cent of the country's sleeping car business, a financial group headed by Glore, Forgan & Co. of Chicago, and an industrial group headed by Willard F. Rockwell of Pittsburgh, Pa.

To varying degrees, the four groups have agreed to accept the Pullman offer to dispose of the sleeping car facilities at investment cost less depreciation, or about 75 million dollars as of Dec. 31, 1945. All promised better car service.

Railroad spokesmen, who believe they have an inside track in the acquisition by virtue of long-standing Pullman contracts and "know how," have indicated they will concentrate their court fire on Arnold, because of his peculiar position first as government prosecutor then as spokesman for one of the litigants.

Other interests in the case among those not competing to purchase the property are California and Colorado, which contend their future growth will be retarded unless Pullman business is handled by "independent and aggressive" management.

Baruch Urges Inventory of Assets, Debts

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch suggests that congress call for a national financial stock-taking as the first step toward solving the country's economic problems.

The veteran adviser of Presidents urged the nation-wide inventory of finances in a letter made public today by Rep. Gore [D., Tenn.]

Baruch said that the inventory would give "an over-all picture of the balance sheet of the country." Such a report is needed, he said, not only to help prevent inflation, but to deal with "all other economic problems, domestic and foreign."

Asks Debt Inventory

He asserted the inventory should answer:

"What are our present debts? What does the public hold in bonds, and what is owed to others? Also, how much further do we have to go in debt to pay for war contracts? How much will we have to raise for Bretton Woods [the international monetary fund], UNRRA [the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration], and foreign loans of every type?"

Once these facts are learned, Baruch continued, "we ought to examine our productive capacity and determine how to divide that production, first to see that enough of what is produced remains in the United States to avoid disastrous inflation, and then how much to allocate for the rehabilitation of Europe, China, and the Philippines."

Warns Against Too Much Aid

He added that "unless this dividing is done wisely, we will sink and the whole world will go down with us." He cautioned that "we must be careful, when we give aid to other countries, that this aid is not used to nationalize their industries against us, to destroy our competitive system."

Baruch criticized hasty tax reduction. He said "reducing taxes too much now, and with no indication of future plans is unwise, and may be seriously inflationary."

Congress completed action last week on legislation cutting taxes in 1946 by an estimated 5 billion 960 million dollars.

RFC TAKES OVER CONSUMER ITEM SURPLUS SALES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation will be open for business tomorrow in 42 offices to give information to prospective purchasers of nearly 28 billion dollars of surplus war goods.

RFC is taking over the office of surplus property from the department of commerce, as ordered Oct. 19 by President Truman. The transfer adds the responsibility of selling consumer goods to RFC's present task of disposing of surplus factories and their equipment.

British Stocks Firm Despite Labor's Plans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 4—The Labor government's announcement of plans to nationalize Cable and Wireless, Ltd., empire-wide communications network, and take over Britain's civil aviation system failed to upset the London stock market.

Under the heaviest program of state socialism yet attempted by the government, markets generally remained steady. Cable Wireless shares, however, were in lively demand. Altho the government's purchase terms have not been disclosed, Cable Wireless 5½ per cent preferred bounded $36 to $468, and common shares rose from $384 to $392. The upswing reflected a market belief that the transfer to state ownership may be accomplished on a basis similar to the nationalization of the Bank of England. Bank shareholders will be issued sufficient government stock to stabilize dividends on a 12 per cent basis.

Predict Reith Will Be Head

Financial interets suggested John C. W. Reith, former minister of works and British Broadcasting corporation chief, will be the first chairman of the government corporation which will take over Cable Wireless. Reith resigned from the board of Cable Wireless early this year to tour the dominions and discuss communications problems as head of a government mission.

The Labor proposals to nationalize civil aviation will involve setting up three corporations, which will own virtually all airplanes and air fields. Municipal airports will not be permitted. The state will have to purchase an estimated 70 to 80 air fields before the full plan is in operation. No private money will be invested in the corporations, under the Laborite program.

Fiscal Policies Draw Attacks

Meanwhile a more critical view of the finances of the Socialist policy by Conservatives was indicated. Churchill, in Commons, demanded an early debate on empire communications and aviation proposals, and in resumed debate on the budget Chancellor of the Exchequer Dalton promised critics he would modify arrangements to compensate Bank of England stockholders if the committee examining the plan makes the necessary recommendations.

Stewart-Warner Profit for Nine Months Declines

Stewart-Warner corporation, Chicago manufacturer of automotive products, radios, and other items, yesterday reported net income of $1,028,711, or 81 cents a share, in the first nine months of 1945, compared with $1,524,170, or $1.20 a share, in the corresponding 1944 period. Profit was computed after setting aside contingency provisions of $500,000 and $750,000 in the respective 1945 and 1944 periods.

BIG BOND ISSUE FILED WITH SEC BY PAPER FIRM

Kimberly-Clark corporation, Neenah, Wis., manufacturer of paper and cellulose products, has registered with the securities and exchange commission 20 million dollars of bonds to finance post-war expansion and refunding, the company said yesterday. It also has arranged a 10 million line of credit with a group of banks.

The expansion program of 10 million dollars includes a new technical laboratory in Neenah, modernization and additions at the company's mill at Niagara, Wis., and other undisclosed projects.

Will Retire 10 Million in Bonds

With the other bond proceeds the company will retire 2 million dollars of 3½ per cent first mortgage bonds, 3 million dollars of 3½ per cent bonds, and 5 million dollars of 3¼ per cent serial notes.

Ten million dollars of the new bonds will carry a 2 per cent interest rate and will be retired at intervals until final maturity Dec. 15, 1957. The other 10 million will be 2⅞ per cent bonds and will mature between 1958 and 1965. This issue has been sold to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee.

The loan agreement has been arranged with the First National Bank of Chicago, Chase National Bank of New York, and the First Wisconsin National Bank of Milwaukee.

Utility Offering Planned

Kidder, Peabody & Co. and associated underwriters today will offer $5,600,000 of 3 per cent first mortgage bonds of the Lake Superior District Power company at 102½ and accrued interest. The bonds are due Oct. 1, 1975. Proceeds will be applied to the redemption of $5,600,000 of 3 per cent first mortgage bonds due Oct. 1, 1966.

The Birmingham [Ala.] Electric company has registered 10 million dollars of 3 per cent first mortgage bonds due 1974.

Strike Threat, Price Boost Prospect Curb Steel Buying

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4 (AP)—Current unsettlement caused by the possibility of a steel strike and expected increase in steel prices has restricted steel buying, the trade publication Steel said today.

"This is especially noticeable in the building field where close timing on material delivery is important and where labor charges must be appraised over relatively long periods," Steel said. "Nevertheless steel order backlogs are steadily extending.

Sellers Tend to Be Selective

"In light flat products in particular, most sellers are operating on a quota basis and some are making no commitments beyond first quarter of next year, which in effect means they are out of the market. In virtually all cases where sellers accept business they are doing so on an increasingly selective basis.

"Actually, as the situation stands, it is virtually impossible for mills to make definite promises. It is a matter of interest how many buyers are willing to place tonnage without assurance as to when they will get delivery, if only they can get tonnage on mill books."

Production Rate Gains

Recovery from effects of the soft coal strike caused the estimated national steelmaking rate to rise 8 points last week to 73 per cent of capacity.

Largest gain was at Pittsburgh where production increased 23 points to 72½ per cent of capacity, and at Youngstown 9 points to 54. Chicago rose 1½ to 73½, Wheeling 6 to 86½, Cleveland 2 to 83, Eastern Pennsylvania 3 to 74, and Buffalo 12 to 81½.

PREDICTS VICTORY LOAN MAY CUT SHORT TERM DEBT OF U. S.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—The National City Bank of New York in its November bank letter said today it is expected the current Victory loan "will not only make unnecessary any additional open market financing until well after the end of fiscal year 1946, but might also—depending upon the total amount subscribed—permit some temporary reduction of short term debt."

In urging people to buy war bonds to help prevent inflation, the letter said, moral obligation of the bondholders to do the other things necessary to prevent inflation must not be forgotten.

"There must be adequate taxes and reduction of government spending," it said. "There must be production. . . . There must be attention to costs. . . .

"How can we with logic, candor, or justice tell people they must buy war bonds because too much purchasing power is threatening inflation, and at the same time call for injection of more purchasing power thru government spending and wage increases on the theory that it is needed to avert deflation?"

SOAP DELIVERIES DECREASE AGAIN IN 3D QUARTER

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—A decline in soap sales which began the first of this year continued thru the third quarter, the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers reported today.

Deliveries of soaps other than liquid dropped 12.8 per cent under the second quarter. Liquid soap deliveries increased 26.4 per cent.

BOWLES ARGUES HIGHER PAY WILL REDUCE PRICES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—Price Administrator Bowles indorsed proposed increases in the legal minimum pay today with the argument that the long range effect would be to cut prices.

Bowles took his position in a statement for a senate labor subcommittee. It is considering a bill to raise the legal hourly minimum wage for workers whose employers operate in interstate commerce, from 40 cents an hour to 65 cents now and to 75 cents after two years.

"Judging by our history, I should say that the long range effects of this legislation would be to reduce prices rather than to raise them," Bowles said. "This is because higher wages increase productivity. I am satisfied that even the immediate effects in the direction of raising prices will be few in number and small in magnitude."

LOUISVILLE

AT the start of the war we converted to the production of hardwood plywood stock for aircraft, trainer planes and The Signal Corps. In 1942 we started producing waterproof plywood for Liberty and Victory ships. From this time until V-J Day approximately 90% of our production was for these items for our armed forces. We were extremely proud of the recognition accorded us by the Rice Leaders of The World Association. In January, 1945, they presented us their Award of Merit.

We are reconverting as rapidly as possible to our normal production of custom made hardwood plywood for furniture, radios, desks and architectural lines. During the war it was necessary for us to increase our floor space and add some machinery. As soon as critical materials are available and we get into full production, we will use all of our expanded facilities. Our employment fell off somewhat during the war due to the manpower shortage. Before the war we employed more than 300 people. Our post-war needs will exceed this.

We are looking forward to a great future. Developments during the war of waterproof plywood have created many more uses for hardwood plywood. With our added facilities we are in position to increase our production above any prewar level.

Office-Clerical
To men who are seeking a position with a future, no matter what phase of office position you are looking for. If I don't have "your" job on file, I would like the chance to give to you the finest service available which will get that job for you. Will you gamble 30 minutes of your time in my office and let me prove what I say. The above service is extended to every man that really wants a position, not just a job. No, we do not list a few positions and salaries to attract attention. So gentlemen it is up to you. Make your own decision, but not until you have seen JOHN COX.

TECHNICAL DEPT.
We are not interested in men who are looking for a job until they can get $2 more per week somewhere else. If you are interested in really establishing your career, and have technical training, experience, or inclination, come in and see John Wilson or phone for an appointment. We can place at your disposal an unlimited contact with industry to locate the right position for you.

SALES AND ADVERTISING
Larry Johnson says:
If you are really serious about wanting a job, see me. If not serious, I have openings for 500 sales trainees with two years of mechanical, electrical, or chemical engineering. These positions offer a curriculum in the sales field. I can use 100 sales engineers; men who are experienced in steel sales, electrical engineering, or with a variety of other jobs that you may be able to qualify for. Come in and discuss your employment problem with me, Larry Johnson. I have helped others. I can help you.

LET US LOOK THE FACTS IN THE FACE REGARDING PROGRESSIVE
Our chief counsellor began his career as an ordinary placement clerk in 1919. His Personnel education and training thru the years has been very intensive. For a number of years he has counselled with and placed a great, great number of top flight Executives and Technical men thruout the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Take M. J. for example: he came to us a number of years ago and we have followed his career thru the years. He placed his future in our hands. We placed him several times, each position being better than the last one. Today he is General Manager of one of the largest machinery manufacturing firms in the world and earns a very attractive salary.

PROGRESSIVE SERVICE
OUR OUTSTANDING BECAUSE we do not wait for prospective clients to advise us of available positions. We bulletin the qualifications of our applicants to the employers of the United States, Canada, and Mexico.
After you are placed we watch your progress and counsel with you on any problems you may encounter or facts of which you may not be aware.
WHEN YOU USE PROGRESSIVE SERVICE YOU USE THE FINEST.
